On motion by Mr. Chapman,
 The House proceeded to the election of Speaker,
 Messrs. Bird and Coburn acting as tellers.
 On counting the votes, it appeared that

Ebenezer Dumont, having received a majority of all the votes given, was declared duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives for and during the present session, and was conducted to the Chair by Messrs. Chapman and Pratt, and delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I shall not go into rhapsodies upon the present occasion, but would still express the sense of gratitude I feel, did words fully indicate the impulses of the heart. As they do not, I will not do a vain thing by attempting to make them perform that office. In the progress of our deliberations, I hope to make my gratitude seen and felt in a faithful discharge of duty. He who would not be stimulated by the honor which you have just conferred upon me, to a patriotic and faithful discharge of duty, would prove himself possessed of neither a sound head nor a good heart—that is to say, wanting in both principle and brains. I will say, without intending to be vain, that my poor abilities shall be wholly devoted to your service, and that of the people, our common constituents, during the present session. He who doubts it, knows me not. To bring a less, would be to bring an unworthy offering. I enter upon the discharge of my duties cheerfully, gratefully, gladly; confidently believing that the aid and assistance, indulgence and lenity that will be extended to me by you, gentlemen, will atone for my inexperience, lessen the difficulties in my pathway, and enable me to "outride the storm."

A prompt dispatch of the business for which we have assembled is, doubtless, the wish of us all. A short session is certainly the wish of the people, and all experience proves that nothing tends so much to intelligent, harmonious, and speedy action, as a rigid adherence to those rules that have stood the test of time, and that have been established by the wisdom and experience of the past. It is the interest of every member upon this floor that these rules should be observed. Their non-observance, in a deliberative body, engenders strife and discord, and has ever been wrought and fraught with evil. These rules protect the weak against the strong. They are a more potent defense to the minority, against oppression, than either prayers or tears. Besides, prayer is not the language of one free-man to another—it is due to God alone. They lead to method, prevent confusion, dispatch business, economize time and money, cherish harmony and good feeling among the members, conciliate and harmonize conflicting elements, and prevent those disgraceful scenes which transform a temple into an arena for the gladiator, and a legislative assembly into a mob.

In the preservation of these rules, permit me to invoke your aid and assistance at the beginning. Let us enforce the rules. Let us not fear to do right—there is no cowardice so cowardly; it never yet found its way to a manly heart. In mine it shall have neither a habitation nor a home; and by all this I only mean that I will do right as far as I know how, suffering the consequences to work out their own salvation; that I will do right without fear, favor, or affection, reward or hope thereof, regardless alike of smiles upon the one hand or frowns upon the other, with an abiding faith that you will cover with the mantle of charity the errors I may unwittingly commit.

This is an important session. Mutation would seem to be the order of the day. The old is yielding to the new dispensation. The organic law of the land is undergoing a change; old things are passing away, and happy will it be for the people, (a happiness that I verily believe they will realize,) if the sons now engaged in forming the new Constitution proves himself as wise and patriotic as the fathers who framed the old.

It will be for us to provide for taking the sense of the people touching the new Constitution; it will be for us to provide for organizing the State government under it; it will be for us, I presume, to apportion the State, to lay off judicial districts and form judicial circuits, and to provide for the general welfare of our people. We find them prosperous and happy, may we do nothing to stay their onward march. Our State now occupies a proud and commanding position, and with a hardy, enterprising, brave, and patriotic population, with a rich and fertile soil and healthy climate, her progress, unless the wicked rule, must be upward and onward. The interest and honor of Indiana has been in part committed to our charge. As Christian men and statesmen, may we duly appreciate the responsibility, to the end that we prove ourselves worthy of the sacred trust. If your labors tend to this, gentlemen, if your motto is union, concession, harmony, every thing for truth, justice, and country, the plaudits of a grateful people will be yours. In conclusion, let me invoke upon our beloved State the choicest blessings of Heaven.

On motion by Mr. Brown of Shelby,
The House proceeded to the election of Principal Clerk,
Messrs. Usher and Willard acting as tellers.

|                           |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |           |

William R. Bowes, having received a majority of all the votes given, was declared duly elected Principal Clerk of the House of Representatives, to serve as such during the present session, and was sworn into office, and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

On motion of Mr. Johnston,
The House proceeded to the election of Assistant Clerk,
Messrs. Armstrong and Patterson acting as tellers.
On counting the votes, it appeared that

|                           |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |           |

| Charles N. Shook received | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | 81 votes. |
| Scattering,               | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | 14 "      |

Charles N. Shook, having received a majority of all the votes given, was declared duly elected Assistant Clerk of the House of Representatives, to serve as such during the present session, was sworn into office, and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

On motion of Mr. Brown of Shelby,
The House proceeded to the election of Door-keeper,
Messrs. Mercer and Ross acting as tellers.
On counting the votes, it appeared that

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

The following and annexed statement is respectfully submitted, in conformity with the sixty-fifth section of the charter of the State Bank of Indiana, as the condition of its Branch at Vincennes on Saturday the 16th of November, 1850.

WM. BURTCH, Pres't.

BRANCH BANK, BEDFORD, }
Saturday, November 16, 1850. }

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

DEAR SIR — The following are the officers of this Branch :

JOHN VESTAL, President ;

Isaac Rector, Cashier, salary $800 ;

James D. Farmer, Clerk, salary $400.

The house used for banking purposes is worth what it is charged in the within report ; the other real estate owned by the Branch has been offered, annually, at public sale, and is worth the amount as charged in the within report. The other items of information required by the charter you will find in the within report.

Respectfully,

ISAAC RECTOR, Cashier.

BRANCH BANK, TERRE HAUTE, }
December, 28, 1850. }

Hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR — In compliance with the eleventh section of the act establishing a State Bank, (approved January 28, 1834,) I forward you, on behalf of the Board of Directors of this Branch, the inclosed report of the state of the Branch on the third Saturday of November last, at two o'clock in the afternoon. In addition to the particulars therein stated, I add what the act requires; that the officers of the Branch are three, and their names and compensation are as follows, viz:

CURTIS GILBERT, President, $700 per annum;

W. R. McKeen, Teller, $600 per annum;

Jos. S. Jenckes, Cashier, $1000.

All which is respectfully submitted.

JOS. S. JENCKES, Cashier.

The Speaker laid before the House a report of the Branch Bank at South Bend of the State Bank of Indiana.

Also, a report of the Branch Bank at New Albany of the State Bank of Indiana.

Which reports and communications,

On motion of Mr. Chapman,

Were laid on the table.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication:

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 30, 1850.

HON. E. DUMONT,

Speaker of House:

SIR — To enable members to address their papers to their constituents, and to secure their prompt transmission through the medium of the Post Office, permit me to suggest the propriety of procuring a sack for each paper subscribed for, and when the papers are addressed and placed in their respective bags, to send them to the office of publication, so that they may be sent from thence; by which means they will be forwarded without the pre-payment of postage.

Yours, &c.,

JNO. D. DEFREES.

Mr. McClelland offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Door-keeper of this House be authorized to contract with the proprietors of the Tri-weekly Sentinel, the Daily Journal, and the Volks Blatt, to furnish for the use of the members of said House, three copies of said newspapers during the present session of the Legislature.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Watt,

Was laid on the table.

Mr. Humphreys offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Door-keeper be instructed to make no contract with the several editors of different newspapers of this city until further orders from this House.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Hicks,

Was referred to a committee of seven, consisting of Messrs. Ross, Millikan, Hosbrook, Watts, Edwards, Bird and Brown of Shelby.

Mr. McClelland offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Principal Clerk of this House be authorized to employ such assistants as he may deem necessary, at a compensation not exceeding three dollars per day.

Mr. Patterson moved to amend by adding, "for the first six weeks, and after that, one dollar and fifty cents per day."

Which amendment was accepted by the mover.

On motion by Mr. Williamson,

The resolution and pending amendment were laid on the table.

Mr. McClelland moved to take the resolution and pending amendment from the table.

Which motion did not prevail.

A message from the Governor, by William M. Noel, Esq., Executive messenger :

MR. SPEAKER :

I am directed by his Excellency the Governor, to communicate to the House of Representatives the accompanying bills, Nos. 330 and 366, which originated in that body, and which were passed at the last session of the General Assembly, together with his messages in relation to the same.

MESSAGE.

To the House of Representatives :

GENTLEMEN — The accompanying bill, entitled, "an act for the relief of Ann Blythestone, of Allen county, No. 330," was passed at the last session of the General Assembly, but not having been presented to me for approval until within the last few days before the final adjournment, the same is now returned, as provided by the Constitution, with my reasons briefly stated for withholding my signature.

The principle involved in this bill is, that of referring claims upon the treasury to the final adjustment of persons wholly irresponsible to tribunals specially constituted, thereby involving additional expenses, &c.

The Legislature itself possesses the power to decide all such claims. It has the right to send for persons and papers — to appoint the appropriate committees to investigate the claims of our citizens against the State. If such claims are just, they should be allowed and paid. It is far better to appropriate the money direct, than in this indirect manner to cripple the treasury, by subjecting it to demands uncertain in amount, and frequently unjust in their character. If this principle of referring claims upon the treasury to self-constituted and wholly irresponsible tribunals, for adjustment, is adhered to, we shall lose sight of the doctrine of responsibility of Representatives to their constituents, in the appropriation of the public money. The correct rule is, that the members of each session are and should be responsible for their own acts, and that no money or claims should be appropriated or allowed, either directly or indirectly, without making, at the same time, provision for their payment by taxation or otherwise. Do not refer a matter of dollars and cents against the State to any tribunal for investigation. It is your province to decide it yourselves.

The people have a clear right to ask their Representatives to vote directly upon all appropriations of money from the public treasury.

The State has suffered greatly when the Legislature has been persuaded to create special tribunals to settle long standing or rejected claims. This claim may be a meritorious one.

If you should believe it is just and proper, appropriate the amount directly, and I am sure you will hear no objection from me. It is the principle involved which induces me, in accordance with the rule that I have laid down for my government in my first address to the Legislature, to return this bill, and to ask reconsideration of the same.

JOS. A. WRIGHT.

December 31, 1850.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Bird,
Was laid on the table.

MESSAGE.

To the House of Representatives, of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

Gentlemen—The accompanying bill, No. 366, An act to amend an act entitled ‘an act supplementary to an act to provide for the Funded Debt of the State of Indiana, and for the completion of the Wabash and Erie Canal to Evansville, approved January 19, 1846, approved January 27, 1847,’ was passed at the last session of the General Assembly, but not having been presented to me until within five days, (indeed within less than two days) of the final adjournment of that session, and the intermediate time not being sufficient for such a consideration of the bill, as some of its provisions seemed clearly to demand, it was held over, as authorised by the Constitution and it is now respectfully returned to the House in which it originated, with the objections which have constrained me to withhold my approval of the same.

This bill purports to be an “An act to amend an act entitled an act supplementary to an act to provide for the Funded Debt of the State of Indiana, and for the completion of the Wabash and Erie Canal to Evansville, approved January 19, 1846, approved January 27, 1847,”—in an important particular.

To carry into effect the important and vital objects of the Public Debt Act, a trust was created for the two fold purpose of providing for the payment of one half of the public indebtedness of the State, and securing the completion of the Wabash and Erie Canal to the Ohio river—both objects of vital importance to the prosperity and honor of Indiana.

In order to establish and secure the confidence of bondholders in the security thus provided, and induce them to accept the provisions of the act of 1847, it is, among other things, expressly declared, in section 14 of said act, as follows:

“Now to demonstrate the good faith of the State of Indiana, and for the removal of all such doubts as aforesaid, and with a view to create general confidence in the arrangement made in the said recited act by the State for the liquidation of its debt:

“Be it enacted, That the tolls, revenues, and profits of the said canal, and its appurtenances present and future, and the moneys to arise and be collected by and from the sales of the lands and premises contiguous thereto, and in the said act more particularly mentioned and described, and the personal taxes to be levied towards the payment of the said debt, as in the said act also recited, and the receipts and application thereof for that purpose, as in the same

"act is also provided, shall remain and be INVOLATE and in full force; and the payment of the principal moneys and interest on the certificates and stock intended to be created pursuant to the said act, and this act, and all the certificates and evidences of the title thereof respectively, shall be and continue effectual and INVOLATE by the means aforesaid, until the objects and purposes of the said act, and this present act, shall be fully accomplished."

And for the reasons and with the view to induce such confidence as aforesaid :

"Be it further enacted, That all stock, to be created, and all certificates and other instruments of title to be issued in pursuance of the said act, and all principal moneys and interest thereby respectively secured, shall not be molested or impaired, arrested or attached, by the State of Indiana."

In the 22d section of the act referred to, it is declared :—"The debt which it is the object of the trust created by the said recited act, (as amended by this act) to liquidate, as in the said acts is mentioned, having been contracted under the authority of the State of Indiana, and for the services of the people of the State, and it being desirable, as well for the credit of the State, as also, in order to establish confidence in the public in general, and the subscribers in particular, to secure the utmost punctuality, in the fulfilment of the objects of the said Trust, it is hereby declared, that the tolls and revenues of the said canal, present and future, and the lands and lots so conveyed, as hereinbefore mentioned, and the proceeds thereof, when sold, shall be, and the same are hereby specially pledged, to form a distinct and particular fund for the redemption of the stock and certificates to be issued in pursuance of the said recited act, and of this act; and the said State shall NOT DIRECT OR PERMIT any appropriation to be made of such tolls and revenues, lands and proceeds, or any of them, for the general purposes of the State, or otherwise HOWSOEVER, other than and except for the purposes of the said Trust, as directed by the said act."

It would be difficult to use any language so little liable to misconception, as that employed above. Apart from the nature of the arrangement with our creditors, which is in the form of a compact, the two acts of January, 1846, and January, 1847, are their own interpreters. The Legislature reserved to itself no power or right to alter, repeal or amend them, or any part of them. A proposition to retain this right was voted down by a decided majority of the Legislature, as the record of their proceedings shows; for the reason, unquestionably, that any such reserved power would prevent the acceptance of the act by the Bondholders, and defeat the very object the Legislature had in view.

The acts referred to were in the form and spirit of a contract, in which the creditors of the State divided their claim between the State herself and certain securities which she tendered. These securities were taken by the Bondholders for fully one half of the State's indebtedness, under certain guaranties, some of which I have recited. Perhaps no measure was ever more fully discussed before the people of Indiana; and the Legislature of 1846-47 embodied in the act of that session the strongest pledges and covenants, as we have seen, against any such interference, at any time thereafter, "with a view" (as expressly stated,) "to create general confidence in the arrangement made in the said recited act, by the State, for the liquidation of its debt."

If the Legislature can pass any law for the amendment of the acts providing for the Funded Debt in the manner provided in the bill herewith returned, they can in any other respect, and thus the business and property of the Trust would only find defence in the co-ordinate branches of the State Government.

That the bill herewith returned conflicts with the guaranties and pledges of the acts of 1846 and 1847, is obvious on the face of it; for it expressly directs the Trustees to do certain things, and inhibits them from collecting a portion of the debts due to the Trust, the collection of which is indispensable to enable them to meet their payments for canal work, and finish the canal according to the terms of the act. These Trustees, it should be remembered, are charged with the completion of the canal to Evansville, and have been, for more than three years, energetically applying all the means at their disposal to that object. These means, (after expending the $800,000 advanced by the Bondholders,) are derived principally from the sales of canal lands. They have entered into large contracts for the completion of the entire line, requiring payments to be made in cash as the work progresses. To prevent the collection of their debts would be unjust; to do it in the mode proposed, would be illegal, in my opinion, and justly bring upon the Legislature a charge of bad faith. While the Trustees are carrying out the law confided to their execution, and exerting every effort to complete the work to Evansville, the Legislature cannot be too cautious in the passage of bills of the character of the one now under consideration. Above all things, the General Assembly should see that none are entertained which come in direct conflict with the law itself.

If the Trustees fail to execute their duties under the act, the State has the power of enforcing them through her own courts of law, and this affords ample protection to all parties, as, before such a tribunal, the legal powers and duties of the Trustees would be properly defined. This is, indeed, the only mode of redress, for no law which might be passed contravening the rights of the parties under the Trust, would be of any legal force. I need not argue this question to any greater extent. The sound sense of every man must comprehend the fact.

The prosperity of the State is deeply involved in the prosecution and speedy completion of this great canal; and the honor and good faith of Indiana are so solemnly pledged to uphold and protect the Trust for that end, that any act of the Legislature calculated to embarrass the Trustees in their efforts, could not fail to be injurious to every interest of the State, and conflict with the express provisions of the acts referred to. While the work is in a course of construction particularly, great forbearance ought to be manifested, for the burdens are already weighty, and will increase till the final completion of the canal.

Doubtless there may be existing cases of peculiar hardship arising under this view of the subject. There was a time fixed in the contract for the completion of the re-appraisement of these lands. The Trustees deny that the fault, (if existing) was theirs. On the other hand, it is contended that no fault could attach to the State authorities. To decide in the premises is impossible for me to do. It seems to me that there can be no doubt, however, if the time has passed, and it was the neglect of the Trustees that the work was not completed, that there is ample remedy in the Courts of the country to compel the performance of the same.

The State being represented on the Board of Trustees, I cannot for a moment believe that that body will refuse relief in all applications that come within the spirit and meaning of the laws. Should they refuse, the remedy is elsewhere. Your attention is respectfully called to this subject; and the same will be found worthy of your re-consideration.

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

December 30, 1850.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Ross,

Was laid on the table and one hundred copies ordered to be printed.

John M. Cowan, the member elect from the counties of Benton, Jasper and Pulaski, came forward, produced his credentials, and took the oath of office as Representative.

On motion by Mr. Usher,

The resolution of Mr. McClelland relative to the pay of assistant clerks was taken from the table.

Mr. Chapman moved to amend by striking out so much of said resolution as refers to a compensation of one dollar and fifty cents after six weeks.

Which motion prevailed.

The question then recurring on the adoption of the resolution, Was decided in the affirmative.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

Resolved, That a select committee of five be appointed to take into consideration the present condition of the Representative Hall, and to make such suggestions in relation to its improvement as they may think proper.

Messrs. Hosbrook, Watts, Pratt, Edwards and Shook were appointed said committee.

On motion by Mr. Johnston,

Resolved, That the Clerk and Door-keeper be respectfully requested to report to this House, at as early a day as possible, the number of assistants they have each appointed.

Mr. Bradley introduced

No. 1. A bill to enable Thomas G. Alward to file his bill in the Laporte circuit court.

Was read a first time.

Mr. Bradley moved to suspend the rule.

Which motion did not prevail.

Mr. Pratt introduced

No. 2. A bill changing the time of holding courts in the Eighth Judicial Circuit.

Which was read a first, second and third times, the rule being suspended therefor, and passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

Mr. Bird introduced

No. 3. A bill for the relief of John Henry Gerke and Frederick Myers.

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

On motion by Mr. Hicks,

The House adjourned, till 2 o'clock, P. M.

2 o'clock, P. M

House met.

On motion by Mr. Ross,

Resolved, That the Senate be invited to attend in the Hall of Representatives instantly, to hear the message of his Excellency the Governor, and that seats be provided for them on the right of the Speaker's chair.

The senate then came in and took their seats on the right of the Speaker's chair, when his Excellency the Governor came in and delivered the following message in presence of both Houses:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and House of Representatives :

You have again assembled, according to the provisions of our Constitution, to deliberate upon the interests of our people. Connected with you, to some extent, by the Constitution, in your duties and labors, I promise you my hearty co-operation in all that is calculated to advance the welfare of our beloved State.

During the past year, the nation has been called to mourn the decease of its Chief Magistrate. Zachary Taylor was a brave and sturdy soldier—a true patriot. Death suddenly ended his eventful career, in the midst of the convulsions of Congress, consequent upon the agitation and settlement of subjects, the complexity and importance of which, are unparalleled in our history. His official mantle fell quietly upon another. The majesty of the Constitution and Laws, and the wisdom thereof, were sublimely manifested. They supplied the place which death had made vacant. The Executive functions of twenty millions of freemen, passed in a single day, into new hands; yet the change, great as it was, only served to chasten agitation, instead of adding to the public commotion. Emotions of general sorrow, in view of the national bereavement, were predominant; and the result exhibited alike the patriotic sympathies of the people; the strength and grandeur of our form of government, and its efficiency to meet every emergency and crisis which can arise.

During the last year we have enjoyed within our borders, the blessings of general health. In some parts of the State, we were visited with that terrible disease, the Cholera, which, in other portions of the country, has carried off thousands. Yet through the mercies of an overruling Providence, but few among us fell victims to the destroyer. With this exception, the past year has been one of health, happiness and general prosperity.

Nothing has transpired since your adjournment, to interrupt the regular action of all the departments of government. The laws have been faithfully administered, respected and obeyed.

I am gratified in being able to say, that the necessary means to meet our January interest, has been promptly advanced by our fellow citizens, through the energy of our county collectors, without borrowing of the banks.

For the promptness with which our collectors have responded to the call of the State Treasurer, it is right that you authorise the Auditor and Treasurer to make them some compensation.

The financial condition of the State is still improving.

The ordinary expenses of the State Government, for the fiscal year ending the 31st day of October, 1850, were $83,615 10.

The expenditures for the ensuing year, (exclusive of the expenses of the Convention,) are estimated, by the Auditor of State, at $80,000.

The whole amount of revenue paid into the State Treasury, during the past year, on all accounts, was $450,481 76, which exceeds the amount of the previous year, $18,197 98.

The total value of taxable property, as returned for 1850, is $137,443,565, which is an increase over the previous year of $4,014,504.

The number of polls returned for 1850, is 149,986, being an increase over last year, of 6,266.

I concur fully with the Auditor of State, in most earnestly calling your attention to the subject of an improvement in the revenue system.

While the property of the man of moderate means, the farmer, the mechanic, and the day laborer, is, from its very character, exposed to the eye of the Assessor, and is such as to enable him to estimate its value with accuracy, it cannot be doubted that a large amount of invisible property, consisting of corporation stocks, moneys and credits, entirely escapes taxation.

The whole amount of corporation stock assessed in the State for the current year, is $286,516; when, taking into consideration our numerous Plank Roads, Rail Roads, River improvements, Insurance companies, and Manufactories, it is safe to estimate the value of this description of property, at not less than three millions of dollars.

In many cases, the same property when assessed for municipal purposes, is returned at a much higher rate of valuation, than when listed by the county Assessor.

In New Albany, the city assessment exceeds the county assessment in the sum of $300,000; in Madison, by the sum of $565,407; and in Indianapolis, $657,990; making a total excess, in these three cities alone, of more than one and a half millions of dollars.

Individual instances of erroneous assessment, are familiar to all. A case has been brought to the attention of the Executive, where the property of a citizen was valued by the county Assessor at the sum of $75,525; and upon his death, the same property was valued, in the settlement of his estate, at $256,917.

There is also a great inequality in the assessment of lands in contiguous counties; to rectify which, can only be accurately done by a State Board of equalization, or by Boards in the several Congressional districts.

The true remedy for this state of things, is, the adoption of a system to assess, at its cash value, every species of real and personal estate; such a one as in a single year, in our sister State, Ohio, increased the aggregate amount of the taxables of that State, from one hundred and fifty millions, to four hundred and ten millions of dollars. Let the Assessor furnish each tax-payer a blank form, to be filled up by himself, with an enumeration of his property, to be verified by oath or affirmation; and on refusal, authorise the Assessor to add to the valuation such per centum as may be deemed necessary. Under such a system, we shall not only equalize the burdens of the people of the State, but swell our total of taxables to at least two hundred millions of dollars, thereby enabling us to reduce the present rate of taxation. Property and wealth are the true bases of taxation, and the public burdens should rest upon them.

Owing to the construction of various works of Internal Improvement, and other causes, the value of real estate is constantly changing, and frequent assessments, under any system, will be necessary. The last valuation of real estate was made in 1846, and to secure an equalization of the burdens of the State, a re-appraisement is imperatively required.

As the Assessors have a right to commence making assessments the first of January, if it is designed to change the present system, it is suggested that steps be immediately taken to postpone such assessment until the first of March ensuing.

Through the politeness of Mr. Meredith, U. S. Marshal, I am this moment advised, though the returns are not complete, that our entire population is about 988,000, being an increase, since 1840, of upwards of three hundred thousand. The total valuation of Real Estate, farming implements, and live stock, exclusive of other personal property, as returned by the Marshal, is about two hundred millions of dollars, being sixty-three millions over the entire assessment for taxation. If to this were added other descriptions of personal property, our entire valuation could not be less than two hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

I know of no higher duty that a citizen owes to the institutions of his country, than that of being just, not only to his neighbors, but to the government that shields and protects him. No good man will refuse to pay for the support of his government. When he pays, he should pay in proportion to what he has—according to his wealth; and he will on no occasion refuse to declare or affirm what that wealth is.

I trust, before you return to your constituents, you will pass an efficient and practical system for the assessment and collection of your revenue, by which you will obtain the just proportion levied upon the entire wealth of the State.

There is no subject that our people take more interest in than that of the reduction and final payment of our State debt. They desire some practical system that will annually reduce their debt.

It will be time enough to provide a sinking fund when we have some means to appropriate in that way; and when we shall have fully assessed and collected the revenue levied upon the entire wealth and property of the State, we shall have something to set apart for that purpose.

As it will, however, require time to perfect a system, it is proper that you enter upon the consideration of this subject. My own opinion is, that no intricate or perplexed plan of reducing our public debt can be beneficial. Simple taxation is the only remedy; and as near as can be, direct application of the money, when collected, to discharge the debt.

In the establishment of a board to manage the funds, your officers of State, with the aid of one commissioner elected by the people, would be entirely sufficient. The power given should be discretionary as to the investment of surplus funds, for obvious reasons.

The financial ability of the State may be seen in what we have accomplished in the last nine years, commencing with the suspension of our internal improvement system. In that period, with no other resource but taxation, we have liquidated, of our domestic debt, in principal and interest, the sum of $2,529,156, and have paid of interest on our foreign debt, including the January interest, 1851, the sum of $739,269; making a total of $3,268,425, or over $360,000 per year, in addition to the ordinary expenses of the State, a sum equivalent to one half our present State indebtedness.

By the year 1853, with the improvements proposed in our revenue system, the saving effected by biennial sessions of the Legislature, and the revenue to be derived from the Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, it is estimated that we shall be able within that year to appropriate the sum of $100,000 to the payment of the principal of the foreign debt. A table has been prepared with great care, and is appended to this message, assuming the revenue of 1853 to be $500,000, that the annual increase of revenue will be three per centum, that the sum of $100,000 may be appropriated the first year for the payment of principal; and that this sum may be increased every year thereafter by the three per centum of increase, and the amount saved in the interest account. Under such an estimate,—and I believe it entirely practicable, the public debt will be liquidated in seventeen years from the first payment. To show still further the practicability of wiping out the debt of the State at an early day, a table has been prepared by the Auditor of State, on a different basis, for which you are referred to his report.

We are progressing rapidly with works of public improvement. In the past season, we have completed Four Hundred miles of Plank roads, which have cost from twelve to twenty-five hundred dollars per mile. There are some twelve hundred miles additional surveyed and in progress. We have two hundred and twelve miles of railroad in successful operation; of which, one hundred and twenty-four were completed the past year. There are more than one thousand miles of Railroad surveyed, and in a state of progress.

There is no evil to be apprehended from this expenditure of money and labor upon Plank roads. They are built by our own labor and capital. The profits go to our own people, and consequently no surplus for the payment of interest on loans, goes out of the country.

So long as we confine our operations and expenditures upon Railroads and works of a similar character, to individual enterprise and capital, we have the surest guaranty that the investment will be made upon works of such a character as will pay liberally for the cost of their construction. While it is not the province of the Executive to dictate to his fellow citizens to what particular works private capital and enterprise should be directed, still it may not be improper to say, at this time, when the mind of the public is so strongly directed to railroad enterprises, that the danger to be apprehended, is, that works so entirely local in their character as to disappoint the expectations of the stockholders and the public, when constructed, will absorb the capital and energy of the country; and that the same might be appropriated to greater advantage in works of a more general character. And it is to be feared that there is too great a disposition to carry on these works by subscriptions of corporate cities and counties. From the evidence before me, there is now one million of dollars of corporate stock taken, in the State, in railroads, by cities and counties; and from the present excitement in different parts of the State, the amount will be largely increased the coming season.

Sound policy dictates that no municipal department, however wealthy, should become associated with private companies for any purpose whatever. The appropriation of the revenues of cities and counties to such purposes, is wholly foreign to the objects for which municipal corporations are organized, and for which the power of taxation is granted to them; and will lead to local embarrassments and difficulties similar to those in which the State became involved a few years ago.

If we shall hold a firm and steady hand; confine investments in our public improvements to individual capital and enterprise; show the capitalist at home and abroad, by our actions and words, that we are determined to keep faithfully all past engagements; that we regard State and county credit, not as mere empty sound and promise, but that which is real and substantial and worth preserving;—if we shall do this, Indiana will steadily move forward with increased energy; her resources will be developed at the proper and right time; and she will be enabled to present the greatest chain of improvements of any State in the Union. But if in this hour, the turning point in her second history of improvements, we overleap the proper bounds, and in the moment of excitement, when individual capital is marking the whole map of the State with railroad lines, we add millions of the corporate stocks of counties, cities and townships, through a laudable but mistaken zeal to advance this or that work, we shall repent for years to come that we had part or lot in the matter. We have had such a lesson on this subject, that we should be justly chargeable with a lack of prudence if we again fall into a like difficulty, without having made some exertion to avoid such a disaster.

I recommend to your consideration, the propriety of making efficient provisions by law, for taking an annual statistical account of the Agricultural and other industrial products of the State, in their great material features. Hardly any subject of domestic policy can be more important, whether we regard its effect upon our internal policy, or upon the just weight and character of the State as a member of the confederacy. The attention of wise men has long been directed to this subject. Not only has one or more of our sister States taken some action; but the General Government is proposing to lend its aid in accomplishing the object. But while I approve the spirit which we must suppose actuates and influences the General Government, I doubt the expediency of relying solely upon its action. Why should we be continually looking to the Capital of the Nation for information as to our own wealth, resources and means? This is a subject of economy in its largest sense; involving the certain knowledge of our material interest and ability. Such knowledge is of the first importance to the successful prosecution of individual and subordinate business affairs; but it is of vastly greater consequence to the just regulation of the collective interest of the State. It should therefore be acquired by the State, under its own laws, and through its own officers.

Important as this measure undoubtedly is, it is easy to accomplish it, at trifling expense. A bureau of statistics can be engrafted upon the office of Secretary of State, or some other State office, and the proper blanks may be prepared by such bureau, and transmitted thence to the county assessors, or some other county officer, to be by them filled, as prescribed by law, and returned to the Central Office, to be compiled for the information of the General Assembly. Thus could be ascertained the number of acres of land under cultivation; the quantity of cereal grain, and other crops produced; the number of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, &c.; the number of mills and manufacturing; the amount of capital and value of machinery employed therein; and the aggregate annual products, especially in breadstuffs; statistics of the more important branches of mechanical labor; of the extent and progress of railroads, plank roads, canals, &c.; with their cost and income per mile, together with any other items of great and essential value. In this way we may receive annual information on the subject of our schools, number of teachers, number of pupils in attendance, the number not in attendance, the amount of the pay of teachers, the kinds of books used at schools, the condition of the School Fund, and full details of the operation of your entire school system. Thus can be established a system of practical statistical information, relative to the resources and capital of the State, highly interesting in a moral and social aspect, and very important in its bearing upon our domestic policy, and upon the character and credit of the State generally. It would afford me great pleasure if Indiana would lead off in the organization of such a system as a permanent part of our domestic policy.

The State University, and the other institutions of learning, are in a flourishing condition. More than twelve hundred young men have been in regular attendance at the different colleges of the State during the past year. It is gratifying to know that at every submission of the school question to the ballot box, there has been manifested by the people an increasing interest for the permanent establishment of an uniform system of common schools.

The history of the past speaks to us in strong language,—that where man's moral cultivation is neglected, there, life, liberty and property are unsafe. It is the obvious and plain duty of government to provide for the education of the whole people; and to secure general intelligence among men, they should begin to learn while they are children. It is therefore becoming in us, as representatives of the people, to concentrate all our efforts for the establishment of common schools in every neighborhood, for the improvement of every child in the school district, in which should be adopted a uniform system, for every class of our youth, while we leave the county institutions and colleges to individual or associate enterprise. By such a system it is believed the object will be best promoted. One thing is certain: If we pay not for the education of the boy, we shall surely pay double for the ignorance of the man.

Your attention is called to the many valuable suggestions contained in the reports of the Trustees and Superintendents of our benevolent institutions. Indiana according to her population, this day educates, free of all expense, a greater number of mutes by thirty-three per cent., than any other State in the Union.

It is gratifying to know, that of the entire number, who have been placed in the Insane Asylum within six months after the attack, ninety per cent. have been cured; and of those who enter the Institution within one year after becoming insane, eighty per cent. are restored to their friends clothed, and in their right mind.

The economy and prudence with which the Blind Asylum is managed, are worthy of all praise.

The policy adopted by Indiana, in admitting into her benevolent institutions, all classes and conditions of her unfortunate fellow beings, without regard to property, has been followed by other States in the West. Those that have not, are now making efforts to occupy the same ground.

These institutions are the monuments of Indiana's benevolence, and it is your duty, as no doubt it will be your pleasure, to sustain them by liberal appropriations. No part of the burdens imposed on our people is paid with more cheerfulness. It is, however, indispensable, that you provide suitable checks in the expenditure of the public money thus appropriated. It may be worthy of your examination, whether the adoption of some such provisions as follow, would not be beneficial:

1st. That the Superintendents and other officers should give bond, with approved security, to cover any amount of public money that may come into their hands.

2d. That there should be adopted a uniform rule for the election of Trustees for all the institutions, and that no Board of Trustees should have the power to fill vacancies in their own body.

3d. That no Superintendent or officer of these institutions should hold the office of Trustee.

4th. That in the disbursement of funds to sustain these institutions, the money should be paid out upon warrants, drawn by the Auditor upon the Treasurer, to the person entitled to receive the same; following the rule, as far as practicable, by which payments are now made to the officers of State.

The propriety of insuring these valuable buildings is worthy of your consideration.

The cultivation and improvement of our soil is that upon which the other branches of business rely for support, and is the true source of all wealth. The system that adds to the stock of information in Agriculture will promote the welfare of the State, and deserves to be encouraged by the Legislative Department.

The establishment of a State Board of Agriculture, to consist, say, of nine members, for the express purpose of organizing a State Agricultural Society, would be calculated to bring into existence, in the several counties of the State, County Societies, that would be auxiliaries to the State association.

We are an agricultural people. Our climate, soil, and situation, make us so; and the adoption of a system that will bring our people together annually at some point in the State, where we can present the most valuable specimens of science and art, especially the useful inventions of labor-saving implements of husbandry; endorsing the character of the improvements; awarding premiums, either of money, diplomas or medals; exhibiting the stock, grains, and productions of our State, would no doubt create a spirit of emulation in our people, and be well adapted to further the interests of our growing State.

We are not aware of the amount annually expended by our people for stock, implements and productions of other States, that can be saved in a few years by the proper organization of such County and State Agricultural Societies.

To aid in this enterprise, it is suggested, that the tax collected upon travelling circuses, menageries, and public shows, in this State, be paid to the County Treasurers, thence into the State Treasury, to be set apart expressly as a fund at the disposal of the State Board of Agriculture, to pay premiums at the annual fairs.

It is believed that you can safely appropriate one thousand dollars to this purpose in anticipation of the receipts from this source the coming year.

I mention with pleasure, on this occasion, the fact that a few of the enterprising citizens of Indiana are preparing to attend the great industrial exhibition of all nations, at London, in May next, and to carry with them specimens of their skill and labor, and samples of the productions of our soil. The propriety of expressing, in some proper manner, your approbation of such an enterprise is worthy of your consideration.

Your attention is again earnestly invited to the importance of providing for a thorough geological and topographical survey of the State. The interests of agriculture, manufactures and commerce, alike demand it. That Indiana is rich in mineral wealth is a fact that each succeeding year more and more demonstrates. We have vast beds of coal and iron, and recent developments indicate that we have many of the more precious metals. When we shall send out men of high scientific attainments to explore our hills and our prairies, to analyse our ores and our soils, and lay bare the now concealed riches of our mines, we shall have taken the first and most important step in that great race of industrial progress which will place Indiana in her true attitude. Her position on the map of this great valley is commanding; and if, under a kind Providence, we escape the perils that threaten to separate us from the great sisterhood of States, whose interests are so blended by geological, geographical and commercial affinities, the next ten years will place her, as an agricultural and a manufacturing State, by the side of Pennsylvania.

Our policy is to rely upon our own resources rather than upon any aid from the General Government. While we do this, our interests are undisturbed by the shocks and struggles of political parties. Our strength and our independence lie in our great agricultural and manufacturing resources. We want more knowledge—we want a map which not only defines our boundaries—our area—our corporate subdivisions, and the course of our rivers;—but we want a map which will tell us the depth of our coal seams—the best localities for our iron furnaces—the extent and value of our marble and stone quarries—the worth of our exhaustless quantities of timber, and the true character of our soils. We are now groping in comparative darkness; and while other States, by the aid of science, are unfolding new and hitherto unknown elements of wealth, we are trusting these interests to chance and individual enterprise.

I submit to you, whether, if we regard the measure in the light of mere revenue alone, it is not worthy of your deliberate and favorable consideration. And while looking at the cost of the work, you will not fail to see, that in a few years it would bring such an increase of population and capital as would reduce the general burthens of the people four-fold the amount of the expenditure. I shall lay before you a printed circular letter addressed to me on this subject, and signed by a very large number of the most intelligent and enterprising citizens of the State. The views expressed in this letter will attract your attention, and, I doubt not, command your favor.

Some of the evils of local legislation have developed themselves in the practical effects of the Act giving exclusive jurisdiction of certain criminal offences defined by the general laws of the State, to justices of the peace, in several of the counties. Among these offences is that of assault and battery. Under the act concerning crimes and punishment, in the Revised Code, an assault and battery may be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisonment for any term of time not exceeding six months. By the Act conferring exclusive jurisdiction on justices of the peace, in the counties alluded to, no fine can be imposed higher than twenty-five dollars; and thus in those counties, an assault and battery, no matter how aggravated, cannot be punished by a fine exceeding that amount. Another bad effect of this Act is, that upon the trial of an indictment in a Circuit Court for an assault and battery with intent to commit a felony, if the intent to commit a felony is not, in the opinion of the jury, proved, the Court has no jurisdiction to indict a punishment for the simple assault and battery. But when the case is dismissed for that cause and comes to be re-tried before a justice of the peace, the justice may think the intent to commit a felony sufficiently proved, and in that case, he, also, would be divested of jurisdiction. Thus in bandying the case to and fro, the offender may escape punishment altogether, and that, too, when his offence is of the most aggravated character. This subject requires your immediate attention.

The subject of a small appropriation annually to the State Library, sufficient to pay for one or more of the newspapers published in each of the counties of this State, to be regularly filed and bound, is worthy of your attention. In this way, we shall, for an inconsiderable sum, obtain a history of our State, that will be of great advantage in after times. You will then have in detail the general and local policy of counties, in connection with the opinions of men; the history of individuals and families; addresses; notices of all kinds; marriages, deaths, &c., besides important local statistics not easily obtained from other sources. How highly would we prize full files of papers, which have been published in our State since the year 1804—since 1820? They would be more sought after than any work found in the State Library. By this means, you would preserve the religious, moral and political history of our State, from year to year; and although you would have a vast variety, much, of but little value; yet, it is from this alone, in after times, that our history is to be written. To this, the historian must go, to do justice to the men and the age of which he writes.

The work on the Wabash and Erie Canal, under the judicious management of the Trustees, has been prosecuted steadily towards completion, according to their plan as submitted in their first report to the General Assembly. By the contracts which they have made, the canal will be finished to Evansville within the time, after making just allowance as provided for in the act, for the delays which have been occasioned by Providential causes not within the control of the Trustees.

Beginning the work at Coal Creek, where the State left it, they have finished and brought into use seventy-nine miles from that place, to Point Commerce.

The Newberry and Maysville division, extending from Point Commerce to Maysville, forty-nine miles, is nearly finished; and but for the interruptions occasioned by cholera among the laborers on the line during the last two seasons, would have been finished in time for the navigation of next spring.

By the report of the Trustees, it appears that one hundred and fifty of the laborers on the line died of cholera during the last summer.

The entire balance of the line from Maysville to Evansville is under contract, and the work in progress, to be completed by the first day of November, 1852.

The length of the line now under work from Point Commerce to Evansville, is one hundred and eleven and a half miles; upon which there has been employed, during the past season, an efficient force of near two thousand men.

It is gratifying to find from the reports of the Trustees, that notwithstanding the great advance in the price of labor which has taken place since they commenced the work, the actual cost of the completion will not materially exceed the estimates which were made in 1845, prior to the transfer.

The cost, according to contract prices, from Coal Creek to Evansville,—one hundred and ninety and a half miles, (exclusive of damages for the right of way,) will not vary much from $2,012,000. The actual sum cannot be known, until the contracts are closed and the work paid for.

The certain and speedy completion of this canal, the longest in the United States, through the territory of Indiana to the Ohio river;—a work which has ever been regarded with such interest by our citizens, and the partial completion of which has already conferred such direct benefits upon so large a portion of those living along and near to it, and upon the whole State in the addition which it has been the means of making to its population and taxable property;—is a subject of sincere congratulation. And when we consider that this result has been attained by the agency of the holders of our bonds, and by means advanced by them at a time of great embarrassment, it would seem to add to the obligation resting upon us, if any thing can add to the sacredness of State faith and State honor, an additional reason for maintaining with scrupulous fidelity the arrangements with them, and throwing around them every possible security,—as their only reliance for protection and indemnity rest upon it.

The revenues of the finished portion of the canal show a gratifying increase in its traffic and usefulness.

The tolls received for the year ending November 1, 1850, are reported at $157,158 38; being an increase of $22,499 35 over the tolls of the previous year.

The Trustees report the sale of 25,468 22-100 acres of land in the Vincennes district; and 33,986 22-100 acres in the Logansport office, during the year; exhibiting an increasing demand of canal lands for settlement.

It cannot be expected that a work of the magnitude of this, involving so many interests, can be prosecuted and completed without causes of complaint on the part of some of our citizens. These complaints are made to the Executive department, frequently accompanied with the request that suits be brought.

It is suggested that you adopt some rules to be observed in all applications for relief by suits. The views of my predecessor on this subject, are worthy of your careful consideration.

On the twenty-eighth day of September, 1850, Congress passed a law granting to each State, for a specified purpose, the swamp or overflowed lands within their several borders, then belonging to the General Government. On receipt of the law, a correspondence was opened with the General Land Office at Washington. A reply was communicated to me on the 28th day of October; and on the 30th day of the same month, a circular was issued to each of the County Surveyors throughout the State. Additional instructions having been received on the 29th day of November; they were embodied in another circular, and on the succeeding day were also issued as above. Under these instructions and circulars, the surveyors are at this time engaged in making the necessary examination of the tracts of land that we shall be entitled to under this law. A portion of them have discharged their duties, and made their reports; but it is probable that the entire work will not be completed before March or April, 1851. From the best information I have received, the State will obtain, under this act, about One Million acres of land, for the purposes named therein. It will be your province, at the present session, to provide by law for the compensation of the surveyors and others engaged in selecting these lands, and to take such steps as will preserve them from waste, until such time as the patents shall be made to the State, and the Legislature shall have determined the manner in which they shall be disposed of. I have not sufficiently matured any system for bringing these lands into market, or otherwise disposing of them. This, with other matters relating thereto, may be made the subject of a special communication. It would accord with my views, after the objects for which these lands were granted are accomplished, if the proceeds and residue were set apart to aid the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the State debt.

By the determination of the Commissioner of the General Land Office, the sales, by the several Land Offices, of the swamp and overflowed lands thus granted to us, will not be stopped or interfered with, until they are ascertained and marked off as "State Lands" upon their office plats. But that if any such lands shall have been, or shall hereafter be, sold by such Land officers, the money received therefor shall be held for, and be paid to the State. I have already received information of some such sales; and as there will doubtless be more, I suggest that you provide by law, the method of applying for and receiving the money arising therefrom.

The State is under many obligations to Hons. R. W. Thompson and John H. Bradley, for services rendered at Washington City in the adoption of the rules for the selection of these lands.

We were visited in the State Prison, the past season, with the cholera. Twenty-six of the convicts died. The Warden, Col. Lemuel Ford, and his wife, fell victims to the disease. He was at his post of duty, actively engaged, day and night, in administering to the comforts and wants of the sick and dying. He was a useful man, eminently qualified to discharge the duties of his office. His place will be difficult to fill.

I am gratified in being able to say that the prison was in an excellent condition ; entirely cleansed ; and the physician and all others connected with the prison, nobly did their duty during the prevalence of this disease.

By the kindness of Miss Dix, that devoted friend of prisoners, prison discipline, and suffering humanity, I had selected and purchased at the East, for the use of the prisoners, two hundred volumes of Religious, Historical, Agricultural and Biographical works, which cost the sum of one hundred and thirty-eight dollars and eighty-eight cents, which are kept neatly in a book case ; let out to the convicts regularly, who are charged with them ; and when returned, another is taken in its place. It is with pleasure I learn that a large portion of the convicts read with interest this excellent selection.

Wisdom and humanity demand that an appropriation of Fifty Dollars be made annually for the purpose of keeping up the Library. It is right and proper that men thus confined should be furnished with books, that they may employ their time in reading when not engaged in labor ; I doubt not that the above expenditure, although unauthorized by law, will be approved by this enlightened body.

The greater part of the work on the new buildings has been completed, and we can now dispense with the duties of the Commissioner to superintend the Public Buildings, so far, at least, as to give the same in charge to the Warden, who resides inside of the walls, and who should be able to superintend all the improvements we have to make. By pursuing this course, we shall save four hundred dollars a year, and be able to pay your Warden one thousand dollars a year for his services in discharging the duties that have heretofore been in the hands of the two.

There is some doubt under the present law, how the Physician to the prison should be selected. My own opinion is, that he should be appointed by the State, and be independent of the lessee. I therefore recommend that you provide for his appointment in the future.

Your attention is called to the very able report made by the Visitor to the prison.

The highest number in the prison during the past year was one hundred and fifty-four. Of this number, sixteen have been pardoned ;—three of them on account of insanity ; five for good conduct, (the pardons being granted within a few weeks of the expiration of their sentences,) and the remaining eight were pardoned upon the application of the Courts, Juries, and citizens, who were presumed to be well acquainted with each case recommended to the Executive.

There is no duty devolving upon your Executive that is more embarrassing, and surrounded with greater difficulties than the pardoning power. With whatever care he may watch and guard its exercise, he is liable to great impositions. In view of my brief experience on this subject, I have adopted the following rules to be observed as far as practicable in all applications.

They are presented in this communication with the view of submitting them to you, and through you to our fellow citizens, believing, that they may be worthy of being made the subject of Legislation, at least of an advisory character.

1st. That in all applications for a pardon, notice should be given of the time when the same would be made.

2d. That those who represent the State upon the trial, should furnish at least the substance of the evidence.

By adopting this course, the Executive will be relieved from deciding applications on ex parte petitions, letters, &c., and will have before him the evidence on the trial. This course has been pursued in the State of New York, and the Executive, after one year's experience, speaks in the highest terms of the wisdom of the law.

It is respectfully suggested that power be given in the trial of cases of larceny, to imprison in the County Jails or State Prison at the discretion of the Jury, without regard to the value of property; or, at least, increase the limit prescribed by law for the division between grand and petit larceny. Intimately connected with this change in our criminal law, is the improvement in the regulations of our county prisons. By a very slight change in many counties, we may have the prisoners engaged in useful occupation. Each county should be prepared with buildings for the reception of juvenile offenders, so constructed and furnished as to provide for the regular occupation of all the inmates. It is idle to talk of reforming the young man, who, for his first offence, has been convicted for stealing property of the value of five dollars, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the State Prison, thus placing him by the side of the murderer. We must place the young and juvenile offender where his associations and intercourse are with those who will exercise an influence for good, and not with the old and hardened in crime. Our county prisons should be converted into workshops—into houses of industry—wearing the appearance of decency and order. Active employment should be required of all its occupants; for idleness itself often proves to be the school of vice. In this way we may not only reform the prisoners, but we should compel them to contribute to their own support, and to pay, by the sweat of the brow, the penalty of the violated law, and cost of conviction, thus directly relieving the counties from a heavy burden which they now pay to sustain those imprisoned. The convict can as well be made to perform labor for his own support in your counties as in your State Prison. The individual convicted for the first offence; the youth; the juvenile offender; or where the circumstances of the case seem to require at the hands of the jury of the county, that the imprisonment should be in the county jail;—your prisoner thus situated will find, daily or weekly, kind parental advice, and the watchful care of those who take an interest in his welfare; and our prisons will become what they should be,—places not only for punishment but for reformation.

The State has an interest is what is called the Georgia Lands, situated in the counties of Laurens, Montgomery, Telfair and Pulaski, in the State of Georgia; about three hundred thousand acres; which cost the State in an arrangement with one of the Banks east, in settling an outstanding debt due us, the sum of Two Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars. They lie principally upon the waters of the Ocmulgee and Altamaha.

By virtue of a joint resolution passed on the 16th day of February, 1849, a contract was made with my immediate predecessor, by which a sale of these lands, without notice, was made to Martin R. Green, and a conveyance executed, for the sum of one thousand dollars. It is to be regretted that any sale was made of such a large body of lands by the Agent of the State, without reserving the right to the Legislature to confirm or reject the same. It is difficult to determine what is the value of these lands; but from information received the past season, I have reason to believe that a large portion are worth from fifty cents to one dollar per acre.

Your officers of State, in view of the quantity of land and their cost, from the evidence before us, not necessary to be here mentioned, desiring to preserve them from passing into the hands of innocent purchasers, from Mr. Green, without notice, after mature examination, were induced to offer the interest of the State in these lands, for sale. Due notice has been given, and several propositions have been made, some in the way of inquiring as to the title; others as to the value. No sale can be effected so long as the outstanding contract and deed remain as they are. It would require more space than is allotted for this communication, to give the full history of this transaction, and the evidence upon which your Executive acted in offering these lands again for sale; all of which, will, with pleasure, be communicated to your body, or to any committee to whom the subject may be referred.

It is alike due to Mr. Green—to all concerned—that you should thoroughly investigate this subject. You should, upon that investigation, either confirm said sale, and direct the surrendering of all the title papers, or you should authorize a suit to be brought to set aside the conveyance. I have no hesitation in recommending the bringing of the suit, believing that the State had better receive nothing than to take the one thousand dollars.

The widow and Executrix of the late Edward J. Black, of Georgia, has presented a claim for a thousand dollars against the State, by virtue of a contract made by your Agent of State and her deceased husband, relative to these lands, which requires your investigation.

On the 13th day of October, 1849, arbitrators appointed by my predecessor by virtue of a special act of the Legislature, entitled "An act for the relief of Patrick McGinley," passed February 11, 1848, made an award in favor of said McGinley, against the State of Indiana, for the sum of $21,143 00; which said award, together with the papers in the cause, as well as the proceedings, were filed in the Clerk's office of the Floyd Circuit Court. On the 13th day of November, 1849, two warrants were drawn by the Auditor of State upon the Treasurer,—one for the sum of $11,000 dollars; the other for $5,000,—both payable on the 1st day of March, 1850; which warrants were drawn upon the duly authenticated copy of said award, from the Clerk of said court; the papers on file in said office showing that said McGinley agreed to release the sum of $5,143 00, that portion of said award over the sum of $16,000,00, upon the condition that no appeal was taken in the cause, and which sum of $5,143 00 so released, was to be appropriated to the payment of costs, expenses, &c.

On the 5th day of December, 1849, my duties as Executive commenced. The 6th day of February, 1850, being on a visit to the State Prison at Jeffersonville, I called on the Clerk of the Floyd Circuit Court, and requested him to furnish me the papers in the case of McGinley. For the first time, I became acquainted with the fact, that at the time of the rendition of the award, Mr. Bullett, the attorney for the State, and the only person that was authorized by the act aforesaid to appear for the State, had prayed an appeal to the Supreme Court in the cause, and that the same was granted. A copy of the record in the cause was obtained, and legal gentlemen consulted, who made an affidavit of the facts of the case, giving the dates, &c. Upon the application to the Supreme Court, they directed the clerk to docket the cause as an appeal. The cause is now pending in the Supreme Court. The warrants are yet outstanding and unpaid. They are unknown to our law, and issued contrary to the uniform practice, being payable at a future time, thus giving notice to all of their character.

The course adopted in this cause, has been with the concurrent action of your officers of State; and I sincerely hope, that if the highest judicial tribunal in the State; the one that decides the rights of our citizens, has not jurisdiction of this cause, so as to decide the same upon its merits, that you will adopt such measures as will give that Court ample power. If the Supreme Court of the State shall decide that this claim of McGinley is correct and just, we should pay not only the sixteen thousand dollars, but the last dollar, with interest, that is adjudged to him. If it should be the pleasure of your body to pay these outstanding warrants, you will remember that no payments can be made, unless the tax is levied and the money collected. We have solemnly pledged four-fifths of our State revenue to pay our interest; and the remaining one-fifth is set apart to pay the ordinary expenses of the State. This being an extraordinary demand upon the Treasury, it can be met only by increased taxes, or by virtue of a loan.

From information received from our Senators at Washington, we shall not receive any portion of the three per cent. fund due us, until some action of Congress is had upon the subject.

Your attention is called to the report of the Quarter Master General; particularly, as to the propriety of providing a building for the safe keeping of the public arms.

The report of the Agent of State, exhibits the wisdom of the act of the Legislature at its last session, in the great reduction of expenditures in that department. The suggestions contained in the report are worthy of your consideration.

A citation has been served upon me in the suit of the Vincennes University against the State of Indiana, on a writ of error to the Supreme Court of the United States, from the Supreme Court of this State. It devolves upon you to provide in what manner the rights of the State shall be represented in this cause.

In pursuance of the discretionary power given to the Auditor of State and myself, settlements and compromises have been made with the lessees upon the Central Canal, by which about $4,400 will be realized; the repairs and incidental expenses the past year, have been about $1,250. A suit that was brought, is yet pending in the Supreme Court.

Due notice was given and a sale effected of that portion of the canal lying north of Morgan county. The sale was made to George G. Shoup, John S. Newman and James Rariden, for the sum of $2,425. That portion of the Canal lying in Morgan county was sold to Aaron Alldredge for the sum of six hundred dollars. These sales are subject to be confirmed or rejected by you. I have no doubt that it is to the interest of the State to confirm the sales, and recommend that you take that course. The sooner the State is entirely disconnected from all public works, the better.

The Convention elected by the people to form a new Constitution for the State is still in session, and will probably not close their labors for some weeks.

The appropriation for the payment of the Convention is already exhausted. It will devolve upon you to make further appropriations for this object.

As the amount collected by the tax levied the past year will not be sufficient to pay the additional expenses of the Convention, I suggest that you anticipate the revenue of the coming year, (the same rate of taxation being continued;) by a loan for this purpose, as also for the payment of the July interest on our public debt. I have no doubt but that the succeeding January interest will be promptly met by the people through their collectors.

It is your duty at this session to apportion the State into Senatorial and Representative districts. Public opinion seems to demand a reduction of the number in both houses. As to the character of our legislation, quite as much may depend upon the capacity of legislators, as upon their number. Able men will devote themselves to the public service for two reasons chiefly; honor and compensation. Taking into view the condition of our State, the character of our people, and the vast interests which they have at stake in the establishment of a correct system of domestic policy, it would seem that there is too great a difference between the honors and emoluments of the State and National governments. The public business may undoubtedly be disposed of with more system and order, and every interest of the State may be fairly represented and properly protected, by a House of Representatives of seventy-five, and a Senate of thirty members; provided their election shall be made under a system liberal enough to secure to the State the services of her best and ablest citizens.

The subject of the colonization of the free blacks is now beginning to receive that attention which its importance demands. The circumstances which surround us, are pressing our people to look into this subject in the right light, and in a proper spirit.

Our southern brethren are making rapid movements towards abridging the privileges of this class, even to banishment. We in the north are adopting extraordinary means for removing them, by prohibiting them from holding property, excluding them from the protection of the laws, and denying them any rights whatever.

While all this is going on, our better nature, the common sympathies of all men, are beginning to ask these important questions: What is to be the end of all this? Is there no remedy? Is there no cure for this evil?

In the midst of all this excitement and confusion, the light breaks in upon us, which points conclusively to colonization as the only remedy. The infant colony of Liberia, recognized as one among the nations of the earth, begins now to attract the renewed attention of all men, who desire to see an entire separation of the two races. In this great struggle for the separation of the black man from the white, let Indiana take her stand; put her agent into the field. Her citizens are ready. Yea, they are willing to contribute of their surplus, something for the removal of this people from among us and to locate them in the native land of their forefathers. Other States in this Union have their own settlements in Liberia. Let Indiana have hers. Let us sustain the movement made by Mr. Bryant of Alabama, for the employment of government vessels, to found an Empire in Africa. Let the National, as well as the State governments, strike at this hour for a permanent and effectual remedy for the agitations and excitement of the day, on this difficult question.

In pursuance of a Joint Resolution of the last session of the Legislature, a block of marble, native of the State, was procured and forwarded to Washington, to be placed in the monument now in progress of erection there, to the memory of the father of his country.

The General Assembly did not authorize any sentiment to be placed on the block. I took the liberty of having inscribed the following:

"Indiana knows no North, no South, nothing but the Union."

I did so, because I believed, as I still believe, that the sentiment thus engraved on enduring marble, was written also on the hearts of our people, that it was the sentiment of the great mass of my fellow-citizens of Indiana, on the most agitating question of the day.

Complete unanimity is rarely the incident of human councils. In a Confederacy like ours, differing as its members do, in soil, climate and productions; in habits, manners and social relations; in local and sectional interests, it could not be expected now, any more than at the birth of our Federal Constitution, that any compromise, based upon mutual concessions, should be satisfactory to all.

It is not a practical question whether those measures of peace, recently framed by great and good men, in the same spirit which actuated our fathers in days gone by, are, in every respect, such as meet our unqualified approval. It has been well said, that the lives of the best of us are spent in choosing between evils; and it is often a bounden duty to endure a temporary and incidental evil for a permanent and inherent good. A domestic institution, forced upon our forefathers in colonial days, rather than voluntarily adopted by them, is, for the present, the necessary policy of our Southern brethren. Any sudden abandonment of that policy, is impossible. Even its gradual relinquishment is beset with difficulty, and embarrassment. The patriots of the revolution, convened to frame a government that has endured for three quarters of a century, has spread over half a hemisphere, the blessings of peace, of political and religious freedom, and of national prosperity;—assented to the great principle that each State of the Union is sovereign, as to her internal government, and her social relations. Without this recognition, absolute and unconditional, the thirteen original States would never have concurred in the federal compact. That was the great conservative element which bound hearts though it could not reconcile opinions. Without that element the Union would not have been created then. Without it, the Union cannot be preserved now.

Indiana, a central State, has always maintained a high, conservative position, especially on that exciting question of the day, which has threatened, more seriously than any other, the integrity of our confederacy of States. She is, indeed, convinced, that she has wisely selected her own domestic policy. She is satisfied with the degree of prosperity, which under that free policy, she has attained. Our State was the nineteenth admitted into the Union. In wealth in agricultural and commercial importance she is now the fifth, if indeed she be not the fourth. Of the eighteen States which composed the Union when we were admitted, four, at most, are now in our advance: and not one of those since admitted has come within sight of us. Maintaining her position ahead of all her younger sisters, Indiana has walked quietly in advance of fourteen of the older States. In our onward progress we have uniformly acted toward each, equal to equal. Our compacts with the Great confederacy to which we belong and every member of it, have been faithfully kept in letter and in spirit. Neither by legislative act nor otherwise have we withheld from any citizen of the Union the rights which, under the federal compact, are assured to him. To this day no cause of complaint has been given; nor, so far as I know, has complaint been made, against Indiana, by any State in the Union.

Above all, Indiana recognizes the imperative duty, by every good citizen, of obedience to the laws of the land.

Whatever difference of opinion may exist as to the late compromise measures enacted by Congress, however ultra men in the North or in the South may oppose or denounce them, there is but one course of action for the true patriot to pursue; and that is, unhesitatingly and in good faith to carry out their enactments.

There is no safety for property, for liberty, nor for life, except in the absolute supremacy of the law. There is no higher duty of the citizen than to maintain, by word and deed, that supremacy. As we value the heritage, rich beyond all price, purchased not with silver or gold, but with the life's blood of the good and brave—that heritage bequeathed to us by our fathers, and which we, in turn, must bequeath inviolate to our descendants—let us bear in mind, this great truth that the first public act of disobedience to law, is the first fatal step on the downward road to anarchy.

The Constitution of this great Confederacy, written on parchment, may be rent asunder, if it be not written also on the hearts and affections of the people. It is written on ours. We love, we respect it, we give it our highest sanction, alike for the sake of the sacred principles, guardian of human liberty, embodied in its provisions, for the unnumbered blessings we have enjoyed under its rule; and in memory also of that band of great and good men, who conceived and established it. This truth should be understood by our people, that this Union cannot be preserved by force. If it could, it would not be worth preserving. The bonds and ligaments that bind us together, are moral and not physical. Our glorious Union is one of consent and not of force. It is a Union of confidence, of trust, of love, and of affection. When these are gone, the Union loses all its attraction and value.

At no hour of our history have we required, more than at the present, an infusion into our councils of that spirit in which the articles of our confederacy were first conceived. As Representatives, as citizens of Indiana, as citizens of the United States, we have difficult, delicate, important duties to perform. Foremost among these is the obligation to oppose, by every lawful means, that spirit of factious fanaticism alike suicidal wherever it has birth, which insidiously assumes the garb, in one section, of philanthropy, in another, of State rights. By speech, by action, by concession, by forbearance, by compromise, by the influence of moral suasion and the strong power of kindness, by each and all of these means, let us seek to allay the spirit of lawless misrule, that spirit which installs each man's opinion the arbiter of constitutional rights, or which coolly estimates the value of this Union, and looks with steady eye on a separation of these States, the certain herald of bloodshed and a thousand horrors, a separation to be surely and speedily followed by war, in its most odious form, servile, perhaps, as well as civil,—war among those of the same race, the same name, the same blood,—war that shall bring together in hostile array, neighbor against neighbor, brother against brother, son against sire.

To avert calamities so direful, Indiana will cast, even to the last, the entire weight of her influence. She will be just to each and every member of the confederacy—just to the Constitution—just to the laws. She will abide by that Constitution—abide by the laws; and above all, she will abide by the compromises made by our fathers—the compromises made by the great and good men of this day. She will hope, she will pray, that the same kind and overruling Providence which watched over our Fathers at the adoption of the Constitution, and has sustained in every crisis and cheered in every hour of darkness since, will direct their sons also in the paths of wisdom and of peace, and enable us to transmit to posterity that sacred instrument, a guide and a blessing in the Future, as it has ever been in the Past.

Indiana takes her stand in the ranks, not of Southern destiny, nor yet of NORTHERN DESTINY. She plants herself on the basis of the Constitution; and takes her stand in the ranks of AMERICAN DESTINY.

Resolved, That the Senate, be invited to attend instantly, in the Hall of the House of Representatives, to proceed to the election of a President Judge of the Third Judicial Circuit.

The Senate came into the Hall, when both branches of the General Assembly proceeded, by joint ballot, to the election of President Judge of the 3d Judicial Circuit to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. Cortland Cushing, Messrs. Ellis and Winstandley acting as tellers on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Humphreys and Clark on the part of the House of Representatives.

On counting the votes it appeared that,

Alexander. C. Downey received	-	-	-	-	138	votes
Blank	-	-	-	-	6	"

Alexander C. Downey having received a majority of all the votes given, was declared duly elected President Judge of the 3d Judicial Circuit, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. Cortland Cushing, to serve as such from the date of his election until the close of said unexpired term.

The Senate then retired to their chamber.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the Door-keeper:

HALL OF THE HOUSE, }
JANUARY 2, 1851. }

MR. SPEAKER:

In compliance with a resolution of the body over which you have the honor to preside, instructing me to furnish each member with the acts of 1848, I called on the Librarian of State for the requisite number of said acts. The Librarian refuses to furnish them except to the individual members themselves.

Yours, truly,

JEPHTHA GARIGUS,

Door-keeper of the House.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the Auditor of State:

OFFICE OF AUDITOR OF STATE, }
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 3d, 1851. }

HON. E. DUMONT—Sir:

Please lay before the House over which you have the honor to preside, the annual report from this office, and oblige,

Very respectfully,

Your ob't serv't,

Which was read a first and second times, the rules being suspended therefor, and ordered to be engrossed.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. Essex offered the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Hon. Colin McKinney, representative elect from the county of Bartholomew, departed this life before taking his seat as a member of this body; therefore,

Be it resolved, That the House of Representatives, deeply mourn the loss by death of one of their number, and while they submit with reverence to this afflicting dispensation of Divine Providence, they will long cherish the sterling virtues of their departed friend.

Be it further resolved, That the members of this General Assembly deeply condole with the widow and relatives of the deceased in their irreparable loss, and direct the clerk of this house to forward to the widow of the deceased a copy of these resolutions.

Be it further resolved, That the members of this General Assembly will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Which were unanimously adopted.

On motion by Mr. Lank,

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary are hereby instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by General Laws for the incorporation of companies, with liberal provisions for the encouragement of associations of industrial enterprise, for the purpose of constructing rail and plank roads, turnpikes, and other improvements, with such guards and restrictions as will protect the public, and so as thereby to prevent so much local and special legislation on said subject, and to report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Thorn offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on Ways and Means be instructed to inquire into the expediency of making an additional appropriation to defray the expenditures of the Constitutional Convention now in session in this city and of reducing the pay of each member thereof to the sum of one dollar and fifty cents per day, from and after the passage of said act, making said appropriation with leave to report by bill or otherwise.

Which was not adopted.

On motion by Mr. Bird,

Resolved, That the committee of Ways and Means be authorized to employ a clerk to assist in doing the business of said committee.

On motion by Mr. Moore,

Resolved, That a select committee, consisting of one from each Congressional District, be appointed to inquire into the expediency of making an appropriation to the Convention, now convened for the purpose of revising and amending the constitution, and report the probable amount necessary to enable them to complete the object for which they were convened.

Mr. Stone offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Door-keeper be instructed to ascertain from members of this House, the number of counties which voted in favor of the new school law at the August election in the year 1849, and also at the August election in 1850.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Humphreys,

Was laid upon the table.

On motion by Mr. Moore,

Resolved, That the committee on Swamp Lands be instructed to report a bill fixing the compensation of the County Surveyors engaged in making the necessary examination of the tracts of land we shall be entitled to under an act of Congress, passed on the 28th day of September, 1850.

On motion by Mr. Pratt,

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire whether an act entitled "an act for the relief of widows whose husbands die intestate, without any heirs lineally descended from them," approved January 19, 1850, is not contradictory and absurd; and whether further legislation upon the subject matter is not necessary to secure the relief contemplated by that law, with leave to report by bill or otherwise.

On motion by Mr. Jordan,

Resolved, That a select committee of one member from each Congressional District be appointed, to whom may be referred all papers on the subject of temperance.

Messrs. Jordan, Walls, Schwartz, Shook, Conner, Hammond, Usher, Thompson of Carroll, Patterson of Marshall, and Shull, were appointed said committee.

On motion by Mr. Pratt,

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to bring in a bill making the modes in which writs of summons in actions of law and subpcenas in chancery are served upon the defendant or defendants, uniform; and that said committee be also instructed to inquire whether the present law, allowing the service of summons upon the defendant by leaving a copy thereof at his usual or last place of residence, does not require some modification to protect the rights of absent defendants.

Which was read a first time.

On motion,

The rules were suspended, the bill read a second time and referred to the committee on Roads.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the State Librarian:

I have this moment learned that the Door-keeper of the House of Representatives reported to the house that the State Librarian refused to send the acts of Indiana of 1848, to the house, unless the members called in person for them. If the Door-keeper made such report, he made a very great error. He asked for 100 copies of the laws of 1848, to place on the members' desks. I informed him that there was not half that number in the Library, and that if I sent them all up to the house without any member being individually responsible for their return, the laws would be liable to be lost or destroyed; and I further told him that whenever a member sent for an act of 1848, by the Door-keeper, it would be furnished as long as one remained in the Library.

Very respectfully,

JOHN B. DILLON.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Emerson their Secretary:

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By Mr. Pratt;

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the affairs of the State Prison, to whom was referred several recommendations of the Governor, in his annual message delivered on the 31st of December last, have had the same under consideration, so far as the subject matter of the accompanying bills are concerned, and direct me to report:

That by the provisions of an act entitled an act authorizing the Governor to contract for the completion of the State Prison, and for other purposes, approved January 27th, 1847, power is given to the Governor to appoint a superintendent of said work on the part of the State, removable at his pleasure, at a compensation of $2 per day while employed. The committee knew of no officer connected with that institution whose style is a "commissioner," and suppose the Executive in his recommendation to the Legislature to dispense with the duties of the commissioner to superintend the public buildings, refers to the above named officer. The committee perceive no strict necessity for any legislative act dispensing with the further services of that officer, inasmuch as he is removable by the terms of the law at the pleasure of the Executive. But to obviate any doubt on that point, and to devolve the duties upon the Warden of the State prison, and to enlarge the compensation of the latter officer for his increase of duty, the committee instruct me to report the accompanying bill, No. —, and to recommend its passage.

The committee further direct me to report that by the provisions of an act entitled an act to lease the Indiana State prison, and for other purposes, approved January 16, 1846, the lessee of that institution is required, at his own expense, and under the direction of the Chaplain, to procure a Sunday school library for the use of the convicts.

To what extent this requirement has been fulfilled the committee are not apprised, but viewing with much approbation every measure calculated to reclaim that unfortunate class of fellow-beings whose crimes require their seclusion from society, they cordially concur in the plan of the Executive, establishing a permanent library, of suitable books, for the use of the convicts, and approve of the purchase made by him for that purpose.

The committee, therefore, as well to legalize the purchase as to authorize a still further one, and place the library under suitable protection, instruct me to report to the House the following bills, and to recommend their passage:

No. 62. A bill to abolish the office of superintendent of the work on the State prison, and for other purposes, also,

No. 63. A bill relative to the purchase of books, made by the Governor for the use of the convicts in the State prison, and for other purposes.

Which were each read a first time and passed to a second reading.

A message from the Governor, by Mr. Noel, Executive Messenger:

MR. SPEAKER:

I am directed by the Governor to inform the House of Representatives that he has approved and signed the following bills:

No. 1. An act to enable Thomas G. Alvord to file his bill in chancery in the Laporte Circuit Court.

No. 10. An act to authorize the appointment of a guardian of the person and estate of the person therein named, and for other purposes.

REPORTS FROM SELECT COMMITTEES.

By Mr. Bradley;

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee, to whom was referred the petition of Aquilla W. Rogers and others, praying the passage of a law authorizing them to levy and collect a tax for the purpose of building a school house in a certain school district therein named, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report, and respectfully recommend the passage of the following bill:

No. 64. A bill to enable the inhabitants of school district No. 8, in Congressional township No. 36, north of range No. 3 west, in Laporte county, to levy a tax sufficient to build a school house;

Was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

By Mr. Armstrong;

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee to whom was referred Senate bill No. 14, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report the same back without amendment and recommend its passage:

No. 14. A bill to abolish the office of Auditor in the county of Ohio.

Which was read a second and third times, the rule being suspended therefor, and passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

A message from the Governor, by Mr. Noel, Executive Messenger:

MR. SPEAKER:

I am directed by the Governor to return to the House of Representatives bill No. 4, which originated in that body, with his message in relation thereto.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE HOUSE.

On motion by Mr. Thorn;

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the expediency of revising and simplifying the Probate Laws, and if deemed advisable, to dispense with complete records where estates are insolvent, and where there is no real estate belonging to the same; and also to reduce the fees of Clerk of the Probate Courts, and as far as practicable, reduce the expenses of administering upon estates.

On motion by Mr. Phillips,

Resolved, That the Judiciary committee be instructed to inquire into the expediency of so changing the appraisement and stay of execution laws, that creditors may be enabled to collect their debts without the precautionary stipulations now required in each promissory note; and that the general credit of our people abroad be placed on an equal footing with citizens of sister States.

On motion by Mr. Wittenmeyer,

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the expediency of so amending the existing laws defining the duties of Justices of the Peace and Constables so as to make it the duty of Constables to return executions in sixty days from the date of their issue.

On motion by Mr. Schwartz,

Resolved, That the House will, the Senate concurring therein, go into the election of Warden of the State Prison on Thursday next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

On motion by Mr. Dumont,

Resolved, That the committee on the State Bank be instructed to inquire whether the State Bank of Indiana, through any of its branches, has violated its charter by the taking of usurious interest under the name of exchange, and that said committee inquire, if they should find out such to be the fact, what steps ought to be taken, and what law ought to be passed preventing her from receiving usury under the pretence of purchasing bills of exchange, and that said committee have power to send for persons and papers, which they are hereby directed to do, if they find that there is good ground for believing that the bank is taking an undue advantage of the clause in her charter giving her the power to purchase bills of exchange.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The vote on the adoption of the following resolution was reconsidered :

Resolved, That the House will, the Senate concurring therein, go into the election of Warden of the State Prison on Thursday next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

Mr. Chapman moved to strike out Thursday and insert Tuesday next.

Which motion prevailed.

The question then being on the adoption of the resolution as amended,

Was decided in the affirmative.

On motion by Mr. Bradley,

The following resolution contained in the message from the Senate on yesterday, was taken up :

Resolved, That the Senate will, the House of Representatives concurring, proceed to elect a State Bank Director in the place of William Daily, whose term of service is about to expire, on Wednesday the 15th instant, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

Which was concurred in.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Emerson, their Secretary :

MR. SPEAKER :

I am directed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate have concurred in the amendment of the House to the resolution of the Senate providing for the election of President Judge of the 7th Judicial Circuit.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE HOUSE.

On motion by Mr. Humphreys,

The order of business was suspended.

Mr. Humphreys introduced the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Senate be invited to attend in the Hall of the House of Representatives, instantler, for the purpose of electing a President Judge for the 7th Judicial Circuit.

Mr. Marquess offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That this House do hereby instruct the committee on Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of furnishing this Hall with a sufficient carpet for said Hall.

Mr. Willard moved to amend by striking out the "committee on Ways and Means," and insert the select committee on the "Repairs of the State House."

Which amendment was accepted by the mover.

On motion by Mr. Dumont,

Resolved, That the Hon. George H. Dunn, president of the Lawrenceburg and Upper Mississippi Railroad Company, be requested at as early a day as convenient, to report to this House the condition of said company, and the progress of said road and such other matters and things connected therewith as he may deem proper.

The Senate came into the Hall, when both branches of the General Assembly proceeded, in joint convention, by ballot, to the election of President Judge of the seventh Judicial Circuit, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the expiration of the term of service of Hon. John Law.

Messrs. Dunn and Sleeth acting as tellers on the part of the Senate, and Messrs. Rice and Pratt on the part of the House of Representatives.

On counting the votes it appeared that,

Delana R. Eckles received,	- - - - -	80 votes,
Samuel B. Gookins received,	- - - - -	60 votes.
Blank,	- - - - -	3 votes.

Delana R. Eckles having received a majority of all the votes given, was declared duly elected President Judge of the 7th Judicial Circuit to serve as such for and during the term of seven years from and after the 25th day of January, A. D. 1851.

The Senate then retired to their chamber.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the Secretary of State:

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE, }
INDIANAPOLIS, January 7, 1851. }

HON. EBENEZER DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR:—Requesting that you will lay the annual report of the Secretary of State before the honorable body over which you preside,
I am very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES H. TEST.

On motion by Mr. Ross,

The annual report of the Secretary of State was laid upon the table, and 1000 copies ordered to be printed.

A message from the Governor by Mr. Noel, Executive messenger:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }

HON. E. DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR:—You will please lay before the House of Representatives the enclosed resolutions of the States of Texas, Maryland, Virginia and Connecticut, on the subject of the late compromise measures adopted by Congress.

JOS. A. WRIGHT.

Mr. Watt moved to suspend the further reading of the resolutions accompanying the foregoing message.

Which motion did not prevail.

On motion by Mr. Graff,

The resolutions accompanying the foregoing communication, were referred to the select committee on the Perpetuity of the Union.

The Speaker laid before House the following communication from the Auditor of State:

OFFICE OF AUDITOR OF STATE,
INDIANAPOLIS, January 8, 1851.

HON. E. DUMONT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR:—Please lay before the House of Representatives, in compliance with their resolution of yesterday, the enclosed report of the Superintendent of the New Albany and Vincennes Turnpike Road.

Very respectfully, &c.,

E. W. H. ELLIS,
Auditor of State.

On motion by Mr. Rice,

One hundred copies of the report named in the above communication were ordered to be printed for the use of this House.

Mr. Goodwin moved to reconsider the vote.

By Mr. Thompson of Carroll,

Resolved, That the committee on Roads be instructed to inquire into the expediency of revising and compiling the road laws.

Mr. Buckles offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committee on Elections be instructed to inquire into the expediency of so changing the law confining voters to their respective townships as to allow them to vote at any poll in the county where they reside, and report by bill or otherwise.

Which was not adopted.

Which was adopted.

On motion by Mr. Davis of Scott,
The House adjourned to meet at 2 o'clock, P. M.

2 o'clock, P. M.

House met.

The following message from his Excellency, the Governor, was taken up and considered:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I herewith return you the bill of your House, No. 4, being an act authorizing the Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad Company to issue bonds, &c., with my reasons for withholding my signature.

This bill authorizes the company to issue bonds, to sell the same within or without this State, to bear any rate of interest per annum, and to sell the same at such rates, and for such prices, as may be agreed upon, and that such sales, though made at a discount, shall be as valid as if sold at par.

There is in this company county stock. There is not a railroad in progress in this State in which there is not either county or city stock. This work is an important one; it is a part of one of the great through-fares of the State. It is managed by the most prudent men of the country, who have embarked a large amount of their capital in the enterprise, and who deserve to receive the aid of the Legislature, and nothing but a sense of duty compels me to return this bill for your reconsideration. During the last session, a short time after the commencement of my duties, the same question was presented to me. I took occasion then, in a special message, to offer some suggestions. Time has only served to convince me of the correctness of the opinions then advanced, and I take this opportunity, in the investigation of this subject, to refer you to a portion of the views I then offered, with such additional arguments as my time will allow me to lay before you. Irrespective of the question as to the propriety of counties and cities in their corporate capacity subscribing to the stock of such works, it is clear that when such subscriptions are made, the interest which the counties and cities hold should be surrounded by safe guards of the most unquestionable security. From this consideration alone it is submitted that it would be improper to invest the directory of any company with unlimited power to sell bonds at any rate of interest however exorbitant. Is it not the duty of the law making power to protect the tax payers of the subscribing counties from encroachment, especially when the irrevocable character of such bonds is considered?

But this objection to the unlimited rate of interest and discount is greatly strengthened by a consideration of the vast number of enterprises of this character in this and the adjoining States, and the probable effect of their prosecution upon our financial condition. Facts of recent occurrence are full of instruction on this subject. The lesson that a similar state of things taught the people of the old world I trust are not forgotten. There these enterprises have already received a severe check, and it would seem that the spirit of speculation has been transferred from that field of operation, in a great measure to this country. Here, similar scenes are now being enacted, not to the same extent, it may be, but unless a prudent foresight interpose its salutary check, there is ground for the apprehension that results equally disastrous will here ensue. We are advised that one of the first moneyed houses of the old world has lately established a branch in our great commercial metropolis, thus preparing for action, regarding this as the peculiar field for such operation, and from the very fact that it becomes necessary now, in view of the interest of certain companies in the prosecution of these works, to ask leave to pay a higher rate of interest than usual, and to sell their bonds at whatever amount they may agree to receive is evidence of a strong pressure, or otherwise of an overaction in this branch of enterprise. Indiana has had such a lesson on the subject of the prosecution of works of a similar character, that we shall be justly chargeable with a want of prudence if we fall again into a like difficulty without having made some exertion to avoid the disaster. If the moneyed operations of these companies are confined to the ordinary and safe methods of conducting business; if large debts are not contracted at heavy rates of interest, or at a ruinous discount, then in case of a general pressure, the worst that could happen would be a suspension of the work. But consider what would be the effect, if by a general monetary revulsion such a work should be arrested, which in the midst of its active operation, if burdened with the obligation to pay heavy rates of interest, and at the same time, with no part of the work so far finished as to be susceptible of producing revenue. Extend this example over the whole State, and what would we see but the materials of these works brought under the hammer, the lands pledged to them disposed of at forced sales, to the consternation of the too confiding occupants, and the tax payers of a subscribing county groaning under a burdensome imposition for the purpose of paying the interest on a stock which pays no dividends.

It is said, if a limit is prescribed as to the sale of these bonds, or the interest that they shall bear, that no sale can be made at any better rates or limits. This is not true. It was not so in the sale of the State bonds during the progress of our system of internal improvements. There was invariably a limit prescribed as to the interest the bonds should bear, and, according to the reports of the Fund Commissioners, sales were made for less than the rates prescribed, and in many instances a premium. But with all the restrictions that could be thrown around the sale of our bonds, the State suffered greatly, and she will not soon again lend her credit or become interested in any works of internal improvement.

We are now in the midst of the second history of internal improvements in Indiana, in which are involved a large amount of corporation stock of counties and cities.

It is a matter of but little difference, whether the State, counties or individuals are carrying on an enterprise; if the same fails or turns out badly, it will equally affect the whole community. All are alike interested in the welfare and prosperity of the State. The adoption of a principle that is liable to be abused, and will work to the injury of the one, will inevitably affect the other.

We have more than a million of county and city stock in the various railroads of the State, and the prospect is, that the amount will be largely increased the coming season. Whenever it shall become necessary, to carry on these works, that you have to place the credit of the companies in the hands of the money lenders, and the individual intrusted with the work without limit or restriction, that moment you will prostrate the credit of the country. What will be the character of our State abroad, when counties and cities shall be driven, in effect, to repudiate their obligations and contracts?

When this shall take place, you will find the dues of the State placed in the same situation.

When a rate of interest is established by law, and when, as with us, the rate is high compared with commercial rates, it is policy not to permit exceptions to the rule, except in extreme cases, and then there should be a limit.

In the case under consideration, it seems to me, that public policy points plainly to the enforcement of the rule within a given limit. It might be safe, and even desirable, to permit the sale of bonds at somewhat less than the par of State bonds of the same rate of interest, but the experience of the State admonishes us that the discretion, in such cases, should have its limits defined.

It is a remarkable fact, that in every instance that has come under my observation, where the power is sought to be given to the directors of companies to borrow money or make sales of bonds, without limit or restriction, that in the first instance, acts of incorporation have been passed by the Legislature in which no such power is given, and that counties in good faith have taken stock in said companies; that subsequently, amendments have been made from time to time, until now this unlimited power is asked. It is suggested, with great deference, whether the adding of this power would not be a violation of the faith upon which the people of the several counties in their corporate name have heretofore taken stock in the various companies of the State.

It is said that the bill referred to does not authorize the selling of the bonds of the counties, or the hypothecating of them, at any rate of interest that may be agreed upon. While this is, perhaps, true, it is difficult for me to perceive the difference between giving the power expressly, in relation to the bonds of the counties, or making the same unlimited power applicable alone to the stock of the company or the bonds of the counties; or making the same unlimited power applicable alone to the stock of the company or the borrowing of money. If you affect the stock by exorbitant interest, or sell the bonds of the company at a ruinous sacrifice, it must affect the county stock as well as that of the citizen. All are connected together for the welfare of the work, and the adoption of a principle that is calculated to injure the one will injure the other. The objection to this want of limit, in the rate of interest to be paid for money borrowed, and in the sale of stocks is, that it gives a power which is liable to great abuse, and may involve the most ruinous consequences. And I cannot but think that the Legislature, in conferring such a power, have failed to consider with the requisite maturity all the abuses to which it is liable. We know not who are to hold the places of directors of these corporations, with the right thus to offer in market the stock of the companies, and to borrow money. Prudence requires that we should guard against every possible state of things that may arise.

The internal improvement system was undertaken with the too confident expectation that the works to be constructed, when finished, would be productive, and yield ample revenue to pay the interest on the debt incurred in their construction; that it would impose no burden of taxation. On the contrary, the system would confer great benefits upon the State, and relieve the people from the pressure of existing burdens. With such expectations, the obligations of the State were issued and scattered broad-cast in the market. Our experience of the disastrous consequences is too recent and costly to be forgotten. After the suspension of our public works in 1840, and when the delusions had been dispelled by the unmistakeable fact that there was no way to resuscitate the credit and vindicate the faith of the State than by a resort to taxation; it was then that the mode in which the obligations of the State had been sold was scrutinized. And there was no sentiment more common than this, that we should not pay anything on our bonds for which we had not received the money; and that we should only pay on the bonds sold the amount of which had been received. The transition from this sentiment is rapid to the following language in the bill before us: "all sales at a discount, the same shall remain as valid and binding, in every respect, as if sold at par value."

It is proper, it seems to me, that we bring the question to this test, and to assume that the people of the counties may be called upon to provide for the payment of both principal and interest of their bonds, by taxation.

From the excitement on the subject of railroads, and the unlimited power that is now sought by the companies of the State, it would appear that private credit is almost exhausted; and it is now asked to exhaust public credit as far as possible, by offering, in our public and deliberate acts of legislation, to pay any rate of interest, however large, and to sell in market our credit, for any price, to raise money.

Whatever difference of opinion may exist as to limiting the rate of discount on bonds sold in the market, it seems to me that there should be but one sentiment in regard to the limitation of the rate of interest.

Is it not possible that, in the over anxiety to secure the means for the construction of a favorite work, the directors or agent might be induced to agree to such a rate of interest as, not only to be suicidal to the work itself, but by the destruction of public credit, to involve all others in its ruins?

It is confidently believed that no such policy has been projected or fostered in any State of the Union. And I trust Indiana will not be the first to set the example.

In addition to the above considerations, I cannot but regard the passage of a bill involving such important principles, on the same day of its introduction, by repeated suspensions of the rules, and without reference to a committee, as an instance of hasty legislation, which alone would justify executive interference.

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

January 8th, 1851.

Mr. Edwards moved a call of the House.

Which motion prevailed.

On motion by Mr. Rice,

Leave of absence was granted Mr. Houghman.

On motion by Mr. Patterson of Tippecanoe,

Leave of absence was granted Mr. O'Neal.

On motion by Mr. Græff,

Leave of absence was granted Mr. Lewis.

On motion by Mr. Benson,

Leave of absence was granted to Messrs. Gentry and Hutchinson.

The Clerk proceeded to the call, when eighty-five members answered to their names.

On motion by Mr. Edwards,

The absentees were sent for, viz: Messrs. Goodwin, Hubbard, Isom, Jackson, Jordan, Shull, Stone, and Usher.

The Speaker laid before the House the annual report of the Treasurer of State.

Which,

On motion by Mr. Brown of Shelby,

Was laid on the table, and one thousand copies of said report were ordered to be printed for the use of this House.

The question then being on the passage of the enrolled bill of the House,

No. 4. A bill to authorize the Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad Company to issue bonds for the sole purpose of borrowing money to complete said road and to secure their repayment by mortgaging the property of said company,

The objections of his Excellency, the Governor, to the contrary notwithstanding,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Benson, Bird, Blue, Bradley, Brown of Pike, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Campbell, Carr, Caylor, Chapman, Clark, Coburn, Conner, Cowan, Cox, Crawford, Crim, Davis of Dubois, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Edwards, Elkins, Essex, Fleece, Franklin, Goodman, Goodwin, Graff, Hall, Hammond, Harris, Harrison, Haywood, Hicks, Hosbrook, Hubbard, Humphreys, Hutchinson, Isom, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, Jordan, Lank, Lawrence, Lindsey, Marshall, McCarty, McKim, McMakin, Millikan, Moore, Morgan, Morrow, Painter, Pancake, Patterson of Marshall, Peckenpaugh, Phillips, Pratt, Reynolds, Rice, Riley, Robbins, Ross, Shull, Simler, Stone, Schwartz, Swihart of Huntington, Swihart of Wabash, Thompson of Carroll, Thompson of Delaware, Thorn, Usher, Walls, Watson, Watt, Watts, Willard, Williamson, Wilson, Withers, Wittenmeyer, and Mr. Speaker—87.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Gentry, Hamilton, Marquess, Marvin, McClelland, Mercer, Nelson, Patterson of Tippecanoe, Shook, and Stayner—10.

So the bill passed, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Ordered that the Clerk carry the same, with the objections of the Governor, to the Senate for its consideration.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Emerson, their Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER:

I am directed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has passed the following engrossed bill of the Senate, to-wit:

No. 12. An act for the benefit of the New Albany and Salem Railroad Company,

The objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding. Which, together with the Governor's objections, I am directed to bring to the House of Representatives for their consideration.

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I herewith return the bill of the Senate No. 12, being an act for the benefit of the New Albany and Salem Railroad Company, with my reasons for withholding my signature.

This bill authorizes the company to issue bonds, to sell the same within or out of this State, to bear any rate of interest per annum, and to sell the same at such rates and for such prices as may be agreed upon, and that such rates, though made at a discount, shall be as valid, as though the same was sold at par.

There is in this company county and city stock subscribed, and so far as I am advised, there is not a railroad in progress in the State in which there is not either city or county stock.

This work is one of the connecting links North and South through the State, it is progressing rapidly, is managed with prudence, and it is with great diffidence that I return you this bill, and ask at your hands, a reconsideration of the same.

During the last session, a short time after the commencement of my duties, this same question was presented to me. I took occasion then, in a special message, to offer some suggestions. Time has only served to convince me of the correctness of the opinions then advanced, and I take this opportunity, in the investigation of this subject, to refer you to a portion of the views I then offered, with such additional arguments as my time will allow me to lay before you.

Irrespective of the question as to the propriety of counties and cities in their corporate capacity subscribing to the stock of such works, it is clear that when such subscriptions are made, the interest which the counties and cities hold, should be surrounded by safeguards of the most unquestionable security. From this consideration alone, it is submitted that it would be improper to invest the directory of any company with unlimited power to sell bonds at any rate of discount they may please to make, and to cause them to bear any rate of interest however exorbitant. Is it not the duty of the law making power to protect the tax payers of the subscribing counties from encroachment especially when the irrevocable character of such bonds is considered?

But this objection to the unlimited rate of interest and discount, is greatly strengthened by a consideration of the vast number of enterprises of this character in this and the adjoining States; and the probable effect of their prosecution upon our financial condition. Facts of recent occurrence are full of instruction on this subject.

The lesson that a similar state of things taught the people of the old world, I trust are not forgotten. Here similar scenes are now being enacted, not to the same extent, it may be, but unless a prudent foresight interpose its salutary check, there is ground for the apprehension that results equally disastrous will here ensue.

We are advised that one of the first moneyed houses of the old world, has lately established a branch in our great commercial metropolis, thus preparing for action, regarding this as the peculiar field for such operations; and from the very fact that it becomes necessary now, in the prosecution of these works, to ask leave to pay a higher rate of interest than usual, and to sell their bonds at whatever amount they may agree to receive, is evidence of a strong pressure, or, otherwise, of an over action in this branch of enterprise.

Indiana has had such a lesson on the subject of the prosecution of works of a similar character, that we shall be justly chargeable with a want of prudence, if we fall again into a like difficulty, without having made some exertion to avoid the disaster. If the moneyed operations of these companies are confined to the ordinary and safe methods of conducting business; if large debts are not contracted, at heavy rates of interest, or at a ruinous discount, then in case of a general pressure, the worst that could happen would be a suspension of the work.

But consider what would be the effect, if by a general monetary revulsion, such a work should be arrested, while in the midst of its active operations, if burthened with the obligation to pay heavy rates of interest, and at the same time, with no part of the work so far finished, as to be susceptible of producing revenue.

In the case under consideration, it seems to me that public policy points plainly to the enforcement of the rule within a given limit.

It might be safe, and even desirable to permit the sale of bonds at somewhat less than the par of State bonds of the same rate of interest; but the experience of the State admonishes us that the discretion in such cases should have its limit defined.

It is a remarkable fact, that in every instance that has come under my observation, where this power is sought to be given to the directors of companies to borrow money or make sales of bonds, without limit or restriction, that in the first instance acts of incorporation have been passed by the Legislature in which no such power is given, and that counties, in good faith, have taken stock in said companies; that subsequently amendments have been made from time to time, until now this unlimited power is asked.

If you affect the stock by exorbitant interest, or sell the bonds of the company at a ruinous sacrifice, it must affect the county stock as well as that of the citizen. All are connected together for the welfare of the work, and the adoption of a principle that is calculated to injure the one, will the others.

The objection to this want of limit in the rate of interest to be paid for money borrowed, and in the sale of stocks is, that it gives a power which is liable to great abuse, and may involve the most ruinous consequences; and I cannot but think that the Legislature, in conferring such a power, have failed to consider, with the requisite maturity, all the abuses to which it is liable. We know not who are to hold the places of directors of these corporations, with the right thus to offer in market the stock of the companies, and to borrow money. Prudence requires that we should guard against every possible state of things that may arise.

The internal improvement system was undertaken with the too confident expectation that the works to be constructed, when finished, would be productive, and yield ample revenue to pay the interest on the debt incurred in their construction; that it would impose no burden of taxation. On the contrary, the system would confer great benefits upon the State, and relieve the people from the pressure of existing burdens. With such expectations the obligations of the State were issued and scattered broad-cast in the market. Our experience of the disastrous consequences is too recent and costly to be forgotten. After the suspension of our public works in 1840, and when the delusions had been dispelled by the unmistakable fact that there was no way to resuscitate the credit and vindicate the faith of the State than by a resort to taxation, it was then that the mode in which the obligations of the State had been sold, was scrutinized, and there was no sentiment more common than this: that we should not pay any thing on our bonds for which we had not received the money, and that we should only pay on the bonds sold the amount of which had been received.

The transition from this sentiment is rapid to the following language in the bill before us: "All sales at a discount, the same shall remain as valid and binding in every respect as if sold at par value."

It is proper, it seems to me, that we bring the question to this test, and to assume that the people of the counties may be called upon to provide for the payment of both principal and interest of their bonds by taxation.

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

January 8th, 1851.

On motion by Mr. Usher,

The House reconsidered the vote on the passage of the enrolled bill of the Senate,

No. 12. An act for the benefit of the New Albany and Salem Railroad Company, Contained in the foregoing mesage, and referred to in the objections of his Excellency the Governor.

The question then being, shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. No. 3. A bill to repeal section 1 of an act approved January 19, 1850, of an act entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the city of Indianapolis, approved May 27, 1848;

No. 4. A bill to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the Richmond and Miami Railroad Company, approved January 19, 1846;

Were each read a second time and ordered to be engrossed.

The following message from his Excellency the Governor, was taken up:

To the Senate of Indiana:

GENTLEMEN—The accompanying bill, No. 212, an act for the relief of certain persons therein named, in Warren county, was passed at the last session of the General Assembly, but not having been presented to me until the last two days before the final adjournment, the same is now returned as provided by the Constitution, with a mere statement of the reasons why I withhold my signature.

1st. The School Fund that is attempted to be released by this bill, (the sum of about $2500, as I am informed,) belongs to the people of Warren county; and the people of said county, or their agents, have the sole right to release or discharge the same.

2d. That the principle of saying by an act of the Legislature that no court in this State shall take jurisdiction of such a case, or such a suit therein named, is a violation of a clear vested right, according to the letter and spirit of the decision of the cause of Gautly's lessee v. Ewing, U. S. Supreme Court Reports, 3d Howard, p. 717.

According to the doctrine held in this cause, the Legislature has no power, "under the disguise of regulating the remedy, to defeat an obligation or contract."

In the case under consideration, not only is the remedy attempted to be regulated, but it is entirely swept away; the debt not only released and discharged, but all the courts of the county are prohibited from taking jurisdiction of the cause. The only wonder is, that there is not also provided a penalty upon the judge or court who would dare to enforce the rights of the children of Warren county to this their own necessary fund given them by the munificence of the General Government.

3d. If this system is once adopted, we shall have numerous ex parte applications to take away the jurisdiction of courts in actions against the securities of Sheriffs, Treasurers, &c., the practical of which will be

4th. To make the Legislature a Court of Appeals to try and determine what actions shall be brought, against whom, who shall pay security debts, and who shall not.

5th. The tendency of such legislation is well calculated to make unsafe and insecure the rights of the citizen. In this way their rights are decided in their absence, and, consequently, the man who is involved in the greatest amount of security debts will devote his time in the lobbies of our Legislature, which by this course will become the place of management, deciding, in this ex parte manner, past rights and duties, in the place of making laws for the government of the people.

For these reasons merely stated, your attention is again invited to a reconsideration of this bill.

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

December 30, 1850.

The enrolled bill of the Senate accompanying the foregoing message, passed by the Legislature at its last session, and returned with the Governor's objections thereto, to the Senate at its present session, was reconsidered by the House.

No. 212. An act for the relief of certain persons therein named, in Warren county.

The question being, shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. Marvin moved that the House adjourn.

Which motion did not prevail.

The question was then put on the passage of the bill, and,

Those who voted in the affirmative, were,

Messrs. Benson, Blue, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Campbell, Caylor, Chapman, Clark, Conner, Cowan, Crim, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Elkins, Fleece, Goodman, Goodwin, Graff, Hamilton, Hammond, Harris, Haywood, Hubbard, Humphreys, Hutchinson, Isom, Jordan, Lank, Lawrence, Marquess, Marshall, McClelland, McKim, Mercer, Millikan, Morrow, Pancake, Peckenpaugh, Phillips, Pratt, Reynolds, Robbins, Simler, Stone, Swihart of Huntington, Thompson of Carroll, Thompson of Delaware, Usher, Watt, Willard, Wilson, and Mr. Speaker—52.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Bird, Bradley, Brown of Pike, Carr, Coburn, Cox, Crawford, Davis of Dubois, Edwards, Essex, Franklin, Gentry, Hall, Hicks, Hosbrook, Jackson, Johnston, Lewis, Lindsey, Marvin, McKim, Moore, Morgan, Nelson, Painter, Patterson of Marshall, Patterson of Tippecanoe, Rice, Riley, Ross, Shook, Shull, Stayner, Schwartz, Swihart of Wabash, Thorn, Walls, Watson, Watts, Williamson, Withers, and Wittenmeyer—44.

So the bill passed, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof, and return the bill to the Senate where it originated.

On motion by Mr. Johnston,

Leave was granted to withdraw from the files of the House, bill of the Senate, No. 136, laid on the table at last session.

On motion by Mr. McClelland,

HON. E. DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

You will please lay before the body over which you have the honor to preside, the enclosed communication from J. A. Underwood, of New York city, on the subject of some lost coupons.

JOS. A. WRIGHT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4, 1851.

To his Excellency,

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT,

Governor, &c.,

SIR—I beg leave to transmit to your Excellency, at the instance of Col. May, the resident agent of your State, a memorial for an act relative to some lost coupons of the bonds of your State.

For my character and standing here I beg leave to refer you to the agent here, or the honorable Charles Butler, now in your city, who I trust will give you any information you may require. I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your ob't serv't,

J. A. UNDERWOOD.

To the honorable, the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

The undersigned begs most respectfully to represent to your honorably body that he was the owner of eight Indiana State bonds, known as 902, 2271, 2286, 2618, and 2274, of the Internal Improvement Indiana Sterling Bonds, which said bonds your memorialist heretofore rendered to the agent of the State of Indiana, in the city of New York, in exchange for stocks agreeable to the act of the General Assembly of said State, providing for the funded debt and the completion of the Wabash and Erie Canal, and subscribed and paid thereupon ten per cent. toward said completion.

And your memorialists further represent that one of the coupons of each of said bonds has been lost, and cannot be surrendered to said State or the Commissary thereof, the said coupons being for twenty dollars each, and the coupons so lost amounting to the sum of two hundred dollars.

The undersigned most respectfully asks of your honorable body that an act may be passed authorizing the agent of said State to fund or pay the said coupons, so lost, upon the execution of a bond of indemnity of the said State, to save them harmless against all claims, by any other person or persons, on account of said coupons so lost, or either of them, and also against all costs and expenses by reason of such claim, said bond to be made satisfactory to the said agent of said State, now residing in the city of New York. As in duty bound will ever pray.

H. HOLLIS HUNNEWELL,

By J. A. UNDERWOOD, Attorney.

NEW YORK, January 4, 1851.

On motion by Mr. Davis of Scott,

The foregoing communication and memorial were referred to the committee on Claims.

On motion by Mr. Edwards,

Enrolled bill of the House of Representatives,

No. 330. A bill for the relief of Ann Blythestone, of Allen county;

Was taken from the table and reconsidered.

Accompanying said bill was the following message from his Excellency the Governor:

To the House of Representatives :

GENTLEMEN—The accompanying bill, entitled an act for the relief of Ann Blythestone of Allen county, No. 330, was passed at the last session of the General Assembly, but not having been presented to me until within the last two days before the final adjournment, the same is now returned as provided by the Constitution, with my reasons briefly stated for withholding my signature.

The principle involved in this bill is, that of referring claims upon the Treasury to the final adjustment of persons wholly irresponsible, to tribunals specially constituted, thereby involving additional expenses, &c.

The Legislature itself possesses the power to decide all such claims. It has the right to send for persons and papers; to appoint the appropriate committees to investigate the claims of our citizens against the State. If such claims are just, they should be allowed and paid. It is far better to appropriate the money direct, than in this indirect manner to cripple the treasury, by subjecting it to demands uncertain in amount, and frequently unjust in their character.

If this principle of referring claims upon the treasury to self-constituted and wholly irresponsible tribunals for adjustment is adhered to, we shall lose sight of the doctrine of responsibility of representatives to their constituents in the appropriations of the public money.

The correct rule is, that the members of each session are, and should be, responsible for their own acts, and that no money or claims should be appropriated or allowed, either directly or indirectly, without making, at the same time, provision for their payment by taxation or otherwise. Do not refer a matter of dollars and cents against the State to any tribunal for investigation. It is your province to decide it yourselves.

The people have a clear right to ask their representatives to vote directly upon all appropriations of money from the public treasury. The State has suffered greatly when the Legislature has been persuaded to create special tribunals to settle long standing or rejected claims.

This claim may be a meritorious one. If you should believe it just and proper, appropriate the amount directly, and I am sure you will hear no objections from me. It is the principle involved that induces me, in accordance with the rule that I have laid down for my government in my first address to the Legislature, to return this bill and to ask at your hands a reconsideration of the same.

JOSEPH A. WRIGHT.

December 31, 1850.

Whereupon the Speaker signed the same.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

Mr. Clark, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee, to whom was referred bill of the Senate No. 52, entitled an act to incorporate the Sparta and Napoleon Turnpike Company, have had the same under consideration and instructed me to report the same back without amendment, and recommend its passage.

On motion by Mr. Clark,

The rule was suspended and the bill read a third time and passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

Mr. Moore, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee to whom was referred a resolution of the House, directing them to inquire into the expediency of making an appropriation for the payment of the expenses of the Convention now in session, for the purpose of revising and amending the Constitution of this State, and to report the probable amount necessary to enable said Convention to complete the object for which they were assembled, have had the subject under consideration and directed me to report,

That the Convention was called into existence by the qualified voters of this State, with a view to correct certain acknowledged defects in the existing Constitution, and to deliberate on the propriety of other reforms suggested, about which a diversity of opinion prevailed.

Among the amendments about which there was little, if any, difference of opinion, the following are believed to be the principal:

1st. The election by the people of all judges and other chief officers of State, now elected by the Legislature.

2d. Biennial sessions of the Legislature.

3d. The appropriation of all fines and forfeitures to the support of common schools.

4th. Limitation of the legislative power in the creation of a public debt.

5th. Suitable restrictions against the passage of laws of a local character.

6th. A reconstruction of our Judiciary establishment, and some provisions for the simplifying of our laws and the mode of procedure in our courts.

Other amendments were advocated in some quarters, such as a modification of our Grand Jury system, to prevent the immigration to our State of free blacks; to open to competition the business of banking. But it is believed the foregoing embraces the principal, if not all the subjects in reference to which amendments, revision, and reform in the existing Constitution were demanded.

In the canvass of 1849, immediately preceding the time when the people were called upon to vote whether or not a convention should be called, the reforms desired were extensively discussed from the candidate for Governor down, and the committee feel a very confident assurance that none others beyond those above specified were submitted to the people.

It was in reference to these reforms, and none others, that the people voted for the call of the Convention. The committee dare not say that the Convention is strictly limited to the consideration of these reforms and none other; yet, doubtless, it should be an argument of great weight to that body, that the people had neither felt nor fancied any evils in the present system beyond those above indicated, until the Convention, in the spirit of demolition, had demonstrated its sense of the rickety structure under which the people had lived so long.

The act providing for the call of the Convention, approved January 18, 1850, does not, in direct terms, limit the session of that body, yet, in the opinion of the committee, the inference is strong and the evidence abundant, that the Legislature which passed the act never contemplated a session beyond three months. The provisions of the act appropriating $40,000 for the payment of the expenses of the Convention, postponing the usual period of the meeting of the General Assembly to the fifth Monday in December, and requiring the Governor to lay before that body, at its present session, a certified copy of the amended Constitution, all establish, beyond a doubt, the purpose of the Legislature to limit the action of the Convention within the period of three months.

The committee are of opinion, that a strict economy of time would have enabled the Convention to have fully and satisfactorily fulfilled its trust, and to have made all needful amendments to the Constitution within that period. While they would not disparage the value of the labors of that body, or impugn the motives of any of its members, much less make any invidious references, they desire to express in distinct terms their opinion that much time has been uselessly consumed in the consideration of reforms neither called for nor desirable. In the opinion of this committee, the organic law of the State should be simple in structure, brief and perspicuous. These qualities are important to insure its being read and comprehended by the people of all classes and conditions, now and hereafter. It should be a vade mecum in the hands of every citizen, as familiar to him as his Bible. The distribution of the powers of government, and the precise limitation of each department, with a specific enumeration of those rights excepted out of the powers of government and inviolable under all circumstances, are susceptible of being reduced within a very brief compass, scarcely as long as the charter of a modern railroad company. The best evidence of this truth is found in that beautiful model, worthy of all imitation, the Constitution of the United States, and in that excellent Constitution now in process of amendment. Under this latter instrument we have flourished as a State beyond all former precedent. From a population of 60,000 souls, we have increased to one of a million, and in the third part of a century, have risen to the dignity of the fifth State in this great confederacy.

That Constitution was framed by our fathers in the period of twenty-one days. A convention of their sons has been occupied near four months with its session, and yet gives no indication of an early adjournment. The committee do not wish to disguise the fact, that the people are restless and dissatisfied with this state of things. Their murmurs are becoming deep and loud.

By the first of February, the earliest period at which the Convention will probably adjourn, its expenses will amount to very near the sum of $80,000, a sum adequate to defray the whole ordinary expenses of the State government for a year. At a period when our people are staggering under the burden of the State debt, when many counties have become deeply involved in the erection of public buildings, and in subscriptions to railroad enterprises; when our taxation has been pressed seemingly to the furthest endurable point, it is with deep reluctance the committee feel constrained to recommend a further appropriation of $37,311, involving still further taxation. This appropriation is designed to cover all the expenses of the Convention, not met by the appropriation of last year, up to the 1st day of February next. The committee feel that they would outrage public opinion were they to recommend an appropriation that would allow the Convention to continue its session beyond the period above named, at the expense of the State. Should the members of that body not be able to complete their work in that time, it is not doubted but a sense of patriotism will induce them to cheerfully devote the remaining time required without charge.

The committee submit the following estimate of expenses up to the first day of February next:

Per diem pay of the members, - - - - -	$54,450
Mileage of members, - - - - -	3,750
Expenses of Clerks, - - - - -	2,880
Expenses of Door-keepers, Sergeant-at-Arms, &c., - - -	3,238
Stationery and fuel, - - - - -	1,630
Expenses of Stenographer to report debates, - - - - -	5,243
Expenses of room and rent of Masonic Hall, - - - - -	520
Expenses of printing, - - - - -	5,600

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred House bill No. 88, entitled "an act to amend sections 302, 303, and 304, of article 13, chapter 47, Revised Statutes 1843," have had the same under consideration, and directed me to report the same back with sundry amendments, and to recommend its passage.

Amend the title of the bill so as to read,

An act to amend sections 302, 303, and 304, of article 13, chapter 47, Revised Statutes of 1843; also, section 2, of chapter 61, on pages 1030, 1031, and 1032, of Revised Statutes of 1843, and for other purposes.

Amend in the 2d line of the 1st section by substituting "are" for "is."

Amend the 3d line of the 1st section by inserting after "constable" "or other officer."

Amend by styling the 2d section the 3d section, and by inserting the following as the 2d section:

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That the provisions of the foregoing section are hereby extended to all warrants issued by any Justice of the Peace for the apprehension of any person charged with being the father of a bastard child born or expected to be born. If the person so charged escapes from the county wherein the charge is made, it is hereby made lawful for the officer holding the warrant for his apprehension, or from whose custody such person may have escaped, to follow any such person into any county of this State and arrest or recapture him, as the case may be, and take him to the county from which he may have fled or made his escape.

Amend the body of the 3d section by inserting "sections" for "section."

Mr. Chapman called a division of the question, so as to vote on the amendments separately.

The amendments as reported by the committee, were severally adopted, and the bill ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee, to whom was referred House bill No. 143, have had the same under consideration, and directed me to report the same back to the House and recommend its indefinite postponement.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee, to whom was referred the petition of John Heiney and other citizens of Huntington county, praying for a grant to the said John Heiney and his assigns, of the privilege of erecting and keeping a dam across the Salamoniam river at or near the saw mill now in process of erection, and on the lands of the said John Heiney, not exceeding six feet in height, have had the subject under consideration, and have directed me to report the accompanying bill, and recommend its passage.

No. 175. A bill authorizing John Heiney to build a mill-dam across the Salamoniam river.

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

Mr. Williamson, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred House bill No. 107, entitled "a bill in relation to the election of Prosecuting Attorneys," have had the same under consideration, and instructed me to report the same back with the following amendments, and when so amended, recommend its passage.

Amend by striking out of the 2d section the following words where they consecutively occur: "From and after the passage of this act," and insert the following:

And that an election for Prosecuting Attorney shall be held in each Judicial Circuit in this State at the next general election, under the provisions of the act in this section specified; but nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent any Prosecuting Attorney elected in any county of said circuits from holding his office until said general election, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. And it shall not be required of the Prosecuting Attorney herein provided to be elected, to appear before Justices of the Peace and prosecute offences against the State.

Amend by adding at the end of the 3d section the following words:

All laws or parts of laws coming in conflict with the provisions of this act, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

Provided, The provisions of this act shall not interfere with the present Prosecutor of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, for the term for which he was elected.

Which report was concurred in.

Mr. Humphreys moved to exempt the county of Greene.

Which was decided in the negative.

Mr. Humphreys moved to exempt the 10th Judicial Circuit;

Which was concurred in, and the bill ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Graff, from a select committee, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The select committee to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to a "geological and topographical survey of the State," have had the same under consideration, and have endeavored to give it that attention which the importance of the subject demands.

Upon investigation the committee find that in obedience to an act "approved 6th February, 1837," a geological survey of the State was made during the years 1837 and 1838, under the superintendence of David Dale Owen, M. D.

Imperfect as any survey restricted to two years must necessarily be, yet the able report of that gentleman fully demonstrates the fact that Indiana is hardly second to any State of the Union in her mineral wealth and resources.

From the facts adduced in the report alluded to, your committee would present the necessity of a further more complete and minute survey of the whole State.

The object to be effected thereby would be in the language of Dr. Owen :

"1st. To lay down on the map accurately the boundary of the coal formation in all its meanders.

2d. To examine thoroughly the saliferous rocks, and determine their exact thickness, extent, inclination and superposition.

3d. To discover if possible new deposits of Iron ore, which seem to be so frequent in this region.

4th. To ascertain the extent of the freestones of this district which might be suitable for building.

5th. To observe the number, thickness and quality of the most valuable eastern out-croppings of coal.

6th. To make observation in the exact dip of the coal measures, a discovery of which, would indicate the depth at which any particular seam might be reached by shafts sunk in any part of the coal measures.

7th. To endeavor to discover the most valuable beds of fire clays, potter's clays, grits, and alum slates, which happen to be common in these localities.

8th. To endeavor to ascertain the most remarkable fossils, or other characteristic symptoms, which might lead to the detection of these valuable deposits elsewhere.

9th. To determine in what this formation agrees, and in what it differs from equivalent formations in other counties."

Did the proposed survey make known only the locality and extent of our deposits of coal, your committee are of opinion that the complete development of our resources in that particular would amply repay the amount proposed to be expended; for history fully proves that the commercial prosperity no less than the numerical strength of a nation may be mainly dependent on the local distribution of fuel.

It is true, at present our forests supply the place of coal, but the axe of the woodman is ever busy, and at no far distant day it must prove our main dependence for fuel.

The fact is established likewise that deposits of iron ore of a good quality occur in various sections of the State; this with the convenient and inexhaustible supply of coal will tend no less to the increase of the fortunes of individuals, than the resources of the State.

In conclusion your committee would say that the citizens of Indiana, engaged almost alone in the development of her agricultural resources, have seen her take her stand as the fifth State of the Union.

To benefit those who look to the cultivation of the soil for their support, to encourage emigration from abroad, and to invite the investment of capital in manufactures in our own State, thus adding to our own prosperity and happiness, they respectfully ask leave to introduce the following bill and recommend its passage:

No. 178. A bill to provide for a geological and topographical survey of the State.

Which was read a first time.

Mr. Graff moved to suspend the rule and read the bill a second time;

Which motion did not prevail.

Mr. McKim from a select committee made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee to whom was referred bill of the House No. 104, a bill to amend an act entitled an act changing the mode of doing business in the county of Crawford, approved January the 18th, 1850, and for other purposes, have had the same under consideration.

and directed me to report the same back to the House with two amendments and recommend its passage.

Amend the first section as follows:

Strike out all after the word "amended" and add the following:

That the voters of each Commissioner's district in said county shall at any August election, subsequent to the one named in the second section of the act specified in this act, elect one Commissioner for such district alone, to fill any vacancy that may hereafter occur by the expiration of the term of service or otherwise. And it shall not be lawful for any voter to vote for said Commissioner that is living out of said district.

Strike out the second section and insert the following:

SEC. 2. The provisions of this act and the act to which this is an amendment so far as the same relates to the election of Commissioners, be and the same are hereby extended to the counties of Crawford, Dubois and Perry, and all laws and parts of laws coming in conflict with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

The report and foregoing amendments were concurred in,
And the bill as amended ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. McKim offered the following amendment:

Add after the word "August," "or the annual election;"

Which was adopted.

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

Mr. Hamilton from a select committee made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The select committee, to whom was referred the petition of citizens of Jackson county, praying to be annexed to the county of Lawrence, have had that subject under consideration, and have directed me to report against the prayer of the petitioners, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Bradley, chairman of a select committee, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The select committee on the apportionment of the Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly, to whom was referred a resolution of the House instructing said committee to inquire into the expediency of reducing the number of Representatives to eighty and the number of Senators to forty, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report that they deem it inexpedient to reduce the number of Representatives as now fixed by law.

The question being on concurring in the report of the committee, The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Benson, Bird, Blue, Bradley, Caylor, Chapman, Coburn, Cowan, Crawford, Davis of Dubois, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Elkins, Goodman, Harris, Hicks, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Isom, Jones, Jordan, Lewis, Marquess, McClelland, McKim, McMakin, Mercer, Millikan, Moore, Painter, Pancake, Patterson of Marshall, Phillips, Pratt, Ross, Simler, Thompson of Carroll, Thorn, Walls, Watt, Willard, Williamson, and Withers—43.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Indianapolis, January 16, 1851

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The report and accompanying papers were referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Coburn introduced bill,

No. 212. A bill to provide for the surrender of all contracts of lease given by the State, on the Northern Division of the Central Canal within the county of Marion, and the final disposal of the interest of the State in such part of the Canal;

Which was read a first time, and

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The rule was suspended and the bill read a second time.

On motion by Mr. Coburn,

The bill was referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication:

INDIANAPOLIS, January 22, 1851.

HON. EBENEZER DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a certified copy of a resolution of the House, over which you have the honor to preside, adopted on the 21st inst., requesting the Trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal, to report the items which compose and make up the amount of $21,337 46, in their annual report, made at this session, under the head of General Expenses, including salaries of Trustees and Clerks, traveling and office expenses, printing, advertising, &c.

The Trustees are required by law, to report, semi-annually, to the Auditor of State, all the "items" embraced in the "General" and other expenses, and have so reported up to the first of October, 1850, with the proper vouchers for every payment made by the Board; and that officer is, therefore, in possession of the information required by the House, up to the end of the last fiscal year.

As the "items" can be readily ascertained from the Auditor of State, to whom the Trustees are directed to report, and to whom they have faithfully reported, the House is respectfully referred to that source for the information they desire.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

THOMAS DOWLING,

Resident Trustee.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. McKim offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Auditor of State be requested to furnish this House, forthwith, with the most correct distance from each county seat, in the State of Indiana, to Indianapolis and Jeffersonville, and also, the distances from each county seat in the State, to Indianapolis and Jeffersonville, on the usually traveled route. And that he report to this House what rule is established in computing the mileage due to Sheriffs for conveying convicts to the State Prison, as to distance, and what rule as to distance, has been established in computing mileage, and to county Treasurers.

On motion by Mr. Willard,

The resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. Nelson offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That this House will adjourn sine die, on February the 10th, the Senate concurring therein.

Mr. Chapman moved to strike out the "10th" and insert the "1st" of February.

Mr. Hutchinson moved to amend by adding "if the business of the House be completed."

Mr. Bird called the previous question ;

Which was seconded by the House.

The question being,

"Shall the main question be now put?"

Was decided in the affirmative.

The question then being on the adoption of the resolution,

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Benson, Bird, Blue, Brown of Pike, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Campbell, Carr, Clark, Conner, Cowan, Crawford, Crim, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Edwards, Elkins, Essex, Fleece, Gentry, Goodwin, of Daviess, Hall, Hamilton, Hammond, Harris, Haywood, Humphreys, Isom, Jackson, Johnston, Jones, Jordan, Lank, Lawrence, Lewis, Lindsey, Marquess, Marshall, Marvin, McCarty, McMakin, Morgan, Morrow, Nelson, Painter, Pancake, Pratt, Rice, Riley, Robbins, Ross, Shook, Shull, Simler, Stayner, Stone, Schwartz, Swihart of Huntington, Swihart of Wabash, Thorn, Walls, Watson, Watts of Jefferson, Withers, Wittenmeyer, and Mr. Speaker—67.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. McClelland, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee, to whom was referred House bill, No. 46, have had the same under consideration and have directed me to make the following report:

WHEREAS, The evils arising from the extensive circulation of injurious and spurious compounds under the name of Patent Medicines, have, within the last few years, been immensely on the increase;

AND WHEREAS, Your committee do firmly believe that numbers of unscientific, ignorant, and unprincipled pretenders to the science of medicine, are engaged in the preparation and circulation of Patent Medicines, with no other view than that of filthy lucre; and believing as your committee does, that such extensive, unrestricted, and unlimited sale of these nostrums is injurious both to the morals, the health, and the pecuniary welfare of the citizens of this State—acting as your committee have cause to believe, detrimentally on the morals of the community, by fostering imposture and encouraging imposition—holding out to retailers the inducement of a large profit in per centage, without the employment of any capital, thus causing many persons to engage and participate in the sale of worthless articles, at prices very far exceeding the just selling price of such article, thereby practicing a foul imposition upon the public, injuring the health of the community by imposing on their credulity, inducing them by false and often forged certificates, to rely upon feeble and inert remedies, thus, in many cases, allowing a dangerous disease, (which if properly treated in time, could have been easily checked,) to make fatal inroads upon the health and lives of our citizens. Pecuniarily injuring our interests, by taking an immense amount of money out of our State, directly from the pockets of our citizens, to enrich the already well filled coffers of some eastern Patent Medicine vender, who pockets the money without having given to our citizens any adequate value therefor. In view of these and many similar facts, the committee beg leave to present the following bill, and recommend its passage:

No. 46. A bill to prevent imposition in the sale of secret or Patent Medicines.

Mr. Bird moved to indefinitely postpone the bill ;

Which motion did not prevail.

Mr. Simler moved to amend by inserting the following:

That when a Physician talks about Pacoon root, he shall not say Sanguinaria Canedensis; that when he means Thorawort, he shall not say Ecpatorium Pelfoliatim, then when he means May Apple root, he shall not be allowed to say Podophytum Peltatum; that when he means Poplar tree, he shall not be allowed to say Lireodendrom Tulipiphera; that when he means Calomel, he shall not be allowed to say Muriate Hydrargiri, and that he shall not use Dog latin under the penalty of fifty pukes, to be administered gratis.

Mr. Davis of Scott, moved to amend the amendment as follows:

Provided, there shall be a Physician employed in each county in this State, to examine all Patent Medicines, and set the price at which all such Medicines shall be sold.

Mr. Donaldson, from the committee on Corporations, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on Corporations, to whom was referred the petition of the stockholders of the Central Plank Road Company, have had the same under consideration, and directed me to report the following bill and respectfully recommend its passage;

No. 257. A bill to amend the charter of the Central Plank Road Company.

Was read a first time, and passed to a second reading.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended and,

Mr. Bird, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Allen county, asking that deeds may be made for a less number than eighty acres of canal land, where a certificate is issued for a larger quantity, have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report:

It has been the practice of the State, in making deeds for canal land, to demand the surrender of the original certificate, and though cases of hardship have arisen, no doubt, it is difficult to find a remedy in every case. A person purchases from the State a tract of eighty acres, and pays one-fourth of the purchase money, leaving a balance against the land certificate being issued to him therefor before he pays for the land. He sells forty acres to his neighbor, and one or the other of the parties neglects to pay his share of the purchase money, the State having given her certificate to the original purchaser can have no knowledge of the transaction between the other parties, the holder of the certificate being the only person known to the State. No law of Indiana has yet provided a remedy for the cases noticed in the petition, and while the State controlled these lands on her own account, we are not aware that it was ever attempted.

Your committee are of opinion that the Trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal are the persons to whom this application should be made, as the laws which governed the sales of these lands at the organization of the Trust, must continue to govern them, and that any legislation upon the subject would be inexpedient. The Trustees have the power and the undoubted right to meet cases of hardship of the nature referred to by the petitioners; and that they will do so, your committee have the strongest assurance and the utmost confidence. Believing that the petitioners will more readily accomplish all they desire in the mode proposed, the committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Which was concurred in.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Lewis, chairman of the committee on Education, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on Education, to whom has been referred sundry memorials on the subject of consolidation, revision, amendment and publishing the school laws now in operation in this State, have had the subject under consideration, and have directed me to report, that in view of the prospect of an entire modification of those laws contemplated by the Constitution soon to be submitted to the people for their acceptance, they deem any legislation at this time inexpedient, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Which was concurred in.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the Governor:

HON. E. DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

You will please lay before the House of Representatives, the enclosed communication from Carter D. Hathaway, on the subject of the swamp and wet lands granted to the State of Indiana. Mr. Hathaway selected a large amount of lands in the counties of Pulaski and Starke—about two hundred thousand acres, and his views upon their value and final disposition are worthy of your consideration.

JOS. A. WRIGHT.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., January 27, 1851.

To the committee on "Swamp Lands:"

GENTLEMEN:—At the request of several of the members of your honorable committee, I herewith submit the following facts, in relation to the selection, character, &c., of these lands, together with such suggestions as most forcibly present themselves to my mind as to the further management and sale thereof:

On the sixth day of November last, I received instructions from the Governor of the State of Indiana, to proceed as County Surveyor of Pulaski county, and make the necessary survey and selections under the instructions then forwarded—his language is,

"You are respectfully requested on the receipt of this circular, to enter upon and to make out and forward to me, under the forms herewith sent, a statement of these lands in your county."

The forms sent were:

STATE OF INDIANA, } ——— County } SS:

The undersigned, A. B., County Surveyor of the county aforesaid, do hereby certify that I have surveyed and examined the following tracts of land, situate, &c.

Also, on the 8th day of the same month, I received from the Commissioners of Starke county, the appointment for selecting the "wet lands" in that county—they having no County Surveyor.

By said instructions of the Governor, I was urged to have the work completed, if possible, by the 15th of December "at farthest," and for this purpose to obtain the assistance of my deputies; accordingly by the 14th of November, I had fitted up two full sets of hands with necessary camp equipage, &c., and on the morning of the 15th we were all in the field, prosecuting the work with the greatest possible despatch at all consistent with the necessary accuracy to be observed, nor did we relax our energies in the least until we had completed the work in both counties, to-wit: on the 4th day of January, 1851, working all the time ten, and a portion of the time eleven hands beside my two deputies and self. On the 25th of November I received a line from the Governor, acknowledging the appointment for Starke, and on the 10th of December I received some further general instructions including a circular from the Commissioners of the General Land office; these however merely confirmed the course already taken by the Governor, and required nothing new at my hands. The nature of the work in the two counties entrusted to my supervision was necessarily very tedious. It is an open prairie country, generally level, interspersed with small groves (oak or hickory barrens,) with occasional sand ridges, running in every possible direction; hence each individual section in almost every instance had to be subdivided, and the lines of the respective qr. quarter sections measured to ascertain the number of acres of dry land on the several forty acre lots constituting said sections, (for thus we had to report,) and in many instances owing to the manner in which the established lines would angle the ridges and groves, not a single "forty" (after the trouble of measuring) could be found with 20 acres of dry land thereon, nevertheless this could not be known without such measurement. The lands selected in Pulaski county, as just stated are principally prairie with a black sandy loam soil, and as has been fully tested by the farmers in this country, when drained are the most productive and valuable lands for agricultural purposes, to be found in North-western Indiana.

The lands in Starke are of much the same character as those in Pulaski; except that portion along Yellow river reported as "overflowed lands," these, generally speaking, are heavy timbered, the timber embracing all the varieties usually found along the borders of our Western rivers. In making the survey I found in Pulaski some of the richest deposits of iron ore that I have ever observed in the western country. The ore is the very best quality of that class usually denominated by the workers "bog ore." There are also smaller and less valuable fields of those deposits in different parts of Starke county. I have been particular to note and mark the location of the best beds, upon the township maps, a full set of which I have made out, showing the character of the lands selected, and of the work performed by me. That the State should take early measures, not only to protect but also to reclaim those lands so selected, must be apparent to every one who has given the subject a moment's reflection. Many farmers in the vicinity of them are anxious to purchase, so much so, that after I had commenced the selections, and notwithstanding I reported weekly to the Register of our Land Office, thousands of acres were purchased in advance of my work, and since I finished, applications have been almost daily made, to know if I could give any information as to when and how these lands would be sold. It occurs to me, that it would be good policy for the Legislature to authorize the land officers of the General Government in the several districts, to sell such of the lands as might be applied for, at the present price of Government land (or such prices as might be fixed by the Legislature,) until such time as the State should establish her own offices and effect the appraisement of the lands. I have been assured by Colonel Sigler, Register of the Land Office at Winamac, that in less than six months he could sell "wet lands" enough to more than re-imburse to the State all the expenses for surveying and selecting in his district. But by all means should the Legislature provide immediately for the protection of the lands, and unless some person is appointed, or some means taken for this purpose, much waste will be made of the timber on them, which, generally speaking, is very valuable. Situated as it is in the midst of the prairies—and especially is this true of the lands of the Kankakee, where the citizens of an adjoining State annually carry away and destroy thousands of dollars' worth of the very best timber in the country—the appointment of some competent person, it seems to me, should be provided for in each county where there is any considerable quantity of wet lands, entrusted with the general supervision thereof, whose duty it should be to prevent or report all wastes, to superintend the ditching, and such other matters as might be required of him. It may be said, the State herself has as yet no patent or title complete for these lands. This undoubtedly is true; nevertheless, the General Government, by act of Congress of September 28, 1850, has said the State should have them, and through her ministers and officers has prescribed the rules and action necessary on the part of the State to be observed and done in order to perfect the right of the State to the same. In reference hereto, the honorable Commissioner of the General Land Office, in a note addressed to his Excellency the Governor of Indiana, and dated November 21, 1850, says: "I have supposed it may be a matter of sufficient importance to induce you to call upon the county surveyors, or other respectable persons of your State, for a statement, under oath, of the swamp or overflowed lands in their respective counties." "Such testimony," he adds, "will be regarded as establishing the facts in the case, and on receipt of the reports of the land officers, a list of the lands will be prepared as required by the act submitted for the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, and plats and patents for the land thus approved, will at once be prepared and forwarded to you." Now, so soon as the surveyors report to their respective land offices, mark their plats accordingly, and virtually the interest in and to the lands so returned passes immediately to the State; so, at least, the officers of the General Government treat the matter in the northwest part of the State.

Again: the report of the several surveyors and registers, as contemplated in the instruction and circular of the Commissioner above referred to, will undoubtedly all be submitted, if not before at least in a very short time after the adjournment of the present session of the Legislature. And unless prospective measures be taken for the management of these lands, they will have to remain unimproved for at least one year.

In answer to the very frequent enquiry made of me, touching the practicability of draining the lands selected by me, I would merely say, that I observed with a great deal of interest, and as much care as circumstances and time would admit of, the relative positions of the various swamps or marshes by me surveyed, both as to their respective elevations and the position they occupied compared with the principal natural outlets of the country, from which it is clearly demonstrated, that if properly managed, not one-fourth part of the expenditure contemplated by many will be required to render these lands comparatively dry; at least so as to make them decidedly the choice lands of their district. Through the western part of Pulaski, for instance, there runs, from north to south, a large slough or creek, called the Metamonon creek, being simply a natural outlet to the large west prairies, and hereby marshes lying in the north and western part of said county. This slough or creek being frozen so as to carry us up safely at the time we were at work in that part of the country, enabled me to observe with a considerable degree of accuracy the true position of the natural channel, as compared with the "wet lands" adjacent thereto; the result of which observations and survey fully satisfied me, that cutting down some four quite narrow beaver dams, and simply removing the turf or sod where it is not now broken, a perfect channel would be formed, and from eighteen to twenty thousand acres of land be reclaimed. The length of the channel required to be cleared out or opened is about eleven miles, the cost of which would not exceed $3000, the mere fall or declension for this distance being twenty-seven inches to the mile; besides this there will be three or four other principal ditches to make in said county, the longest of which will not exceed four miles in length, and then the residue will be light, and readily accomplished with ordinary ditching machines. As to lands in Starke county, it is my opinion that much the larger portion of them cannot be drained without lowering the falls of the Kankakee river. This done, however, and the river cleared out, a large body of the very best lands, not only in Starke but also in the other counties bordering on said river, will be reclaimed.

With regard to the fees for surveying and selecting these lands, the committee have, in the fore part of this communication, the manner specified in which this work has been performed, the number of hands employed, the length of time actually engaged in surveying; and I may add, also, that I furnished the necessary provisions, teams, and boarded the hands; in short, footing all expenses incidental to the work except the fees of the Register. As to what would be a reasonable and fair compensation for the discharge of those duties in the manner aforesaid, is of course left with the magnanimity and better judgment of the Legislature.

I have been informed by one of the Trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal, that the cost of selecting the canal lands was estimated at something over three cents per acre, and the labor in that case (as I had ample means of witnessing,) was not one-fourth part what it has been to select the "wet lands." Yet, if the surveyors are allowed two cents, or even one and a half cents per acre, it will, perhaps, in most cases cover their expenses and give them a reasonable allowance for their time. Any thing less than one and a half cents, however, will not, I assure the committee, do this. We have frequently to pay the most extravagant prices for hands, or suspend the work, the weather being so extremely rough, and the hands invariably so much exposed. However, I most cheerfully submit the question to those whose province it is to say what allowance shall be made.

In conclusion, allow me to say that it is a very great mistake if any suppose these lands are, and will be comparatively worthless, owing to the scarcity of timber upon them. True, they are, as already stated, principally prairie, yet they are of such a quality of prairie as will, when once reclaimed, render them an object of most anxious interest to the farmer or the stock-grower, and are, in fact, generally sufficiently near the timber lands to render their barrenness rather preferable than otherwise.

Yours, with much respect,

CARTER D. HATHAWAY.

HON. MR. DAVIS,

Chairman of the committee on Swamp Lands.

P. S. Since closing the above, I have been informed that many were in favor of referring the allowances of the several surveyors to their respective counties, or the Commissioners thereof, rather. This unquestionably would work wrongs beyond measure. In the first place we were not employed by these County Commissioners, nor have they had any supervision of the matter; they know nothing of it, nor indeed can they, except what we may tell them. Our reports have gone to the Register of the several land offices, and thence to the Governor of the State of Indiana. The evidence of all our claims is, and will be here, and only here; in no other place except, indeed, Washington City, can the vouchers of our work be found.

In the second place, you have but to look at the canal reports of your State Auditor in connection with the fact already before you upon this subject, to know at once that in those counties where the principal part of the work has been performed, and the heaviest expense incurred, not a tithe of the expenses even is collected in the shape of State revenue.

And again: there is not a surveyor that has been engaged in this work, I presume, who wishes to subject himself to the charge of obtaining an allowance through favoritism from a County Board who have no direct interest in the matter, unless it be to favor one of their own citizens. For one I am sure I do not. It was for the State I worked, and to the State alone I look for my recompense.

Very Respectfully,

CARTER D. HATHAWAY.

Was taken from the table.

On motion by Mr. Pratt,

A call of the House was ordered.

After spending some time in a call,

On motion by Mr. Clark,

A further call of the house was dispensed with.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Chapman offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested to inform this House if he has refused to furnish any more paper for the use of the members, and if so his reasons for so doing ;

Which was adopted.

Mr. Coburn, chairman of the committee on Engrossed Bills made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on Engrossed Bills have examined bills numbered 146, 179, 180, 181, 186, 188, 208, 209, 215, 216, 225, 230, 235, 246, 256, 263, 45, 171, 213, 255, 211, 194 and 251, and report that they are correctly engrossed.

The question being on concurring in the following amendments reported by the committee of the whole House to bill No. 160 ;

The House decided to concur jointly.

Amendments to section 15 :

Strike out the 38th line and insert the following :

"The amount of all State and United States stocks or bonds, held or owned by such person or persons, body politic or corporate."

Add in the 8th line after the word "corporation" the following :

"State and United States," and make the word "stock" read "stocks."

Amend at the close of line 37th in the 15th section as follows :

"Provided however, That there shall be deducted from such lot of personal estate the amount of all liabilities of persons assessed."

Except the stocks in corporations in this State provided in this act to be assessed in the counties where said corporations are situated.

Amendments to section 16 :

Amend section 16, line two, as follows :

After the word "required," insert "or shall make out an incorrect statement."

Amend the 7th line: or "made" after "withheld."

Strike out the words "and require" in the 9th line.

In second line after the word "magistrate" add the words "or other officer authorized to administer oaths."

Add to section 28th the following :

And if any Railroad Company, shall not have in this State, its principal office for the transaction of financial business, it shall be the duty of the President, Cashier, Secretary, Treasurer, or Constructing Agent of such company, to furnish to the Auditor of the county, where the said road first enters this State, a statement under oath or affirmation, of the officer making it, specifying the amount and value, of all real estate owned by such company in this State, the amount expended in the construction of said road in the limit of this State, and the amount invested in machinery, and rolling stock of every kind, which said machinery and rolling stock, Shall be assessed for taxation in proportion as the length of the road in this State bears to the length of the line of said road completed.

In section 37, and line 2d, strike out "and" and insert "or."

In the 5th line of section 43, after the word "of" insert the words "not exceeding."

Strike out all of the sixth specification.

Add to the fourth specification,

"Also all lands granted for military bounty, by the United States for five years after the location."

In the 11th specification change the word "child" to "children."

On motion by Mr. Hicks,

The House refused to concur in the amendments.

Mr. Williamson offered the following amendment, to the 1st section of the bill:

Strike out from the enacting clause and insert the following:

That there shall be elected at the next general election, and biennially thereafter by the qualified voters in each of the townships of the several counties of this State, one assessor for each township, who shall hold his office for two years from the day of his election and until his successor shall be elected and qualified, and shall do and perform all such duties as now are or hereafter may be required of him by law.

Mr. Stone moved to amend the amendment by adding, "Provided, that assessors now elected shall serve out their respective terms."

Which was accepted by the mover.

Mr. Goodwin moved to amend the amendment by adding, that there shall be elected on the first Monday of April next one assessor for each township;

Which was accepted by the mover.

Mr. Thompson of Carroll moved to strike out "township" and insert "one assessor in each Commissioner's district;"

Which was not adopted.

The question being on the amendment as amended,

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Blue, Brown of Pike, Bulla, Campbell, Clark, Cowan, Crawford, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Elkins, Franklin, Gentry, Goodwin of Daviess, Hamilton, Harris, Haywood, Hicks, Humphreys, Isom, Jackson, Johnston, Lank, Lawrence, Lindsey, Marshall, Marvin, McClelland, McMakin, Mercer, Morgan, Nelson, Pancake, Peckenpough, Riley, Ross, Shook, Simler, Stone, Swihart of Wabash, Thompson of Delaware, Thorn, Watson, Watt of Union, Williamson, Wilson, Withers and Mr. Speaker—48.

So the amendment was not adopted.

Mr. Franklin moved to amend section 15 by striking out from the 7th line the words "real estate, personal property," and insert "merchandise, articles of manufactory."

Mr. Graff moved to recommit to the committee of Ways and Means, with instructions so to amend the bill that each person shall furnish only a list of his real estate, without appending thereto any valuation; and that the oath of the assessor shall require him to value all real estate in accordance with its cash value.

Which motion did not prevail.

Mr. Thorn moved to amend the amendment so that every taxpayer when called upon by the assessor, shall furnish a schedule of all his real estate and all his visible personal property, to which the assessor shall put a fair cash value, and the assessor shall require each tax-payer who is engaged in the business of commerce, manufactures, or merchandise; also to furnish a schedule under oath of all his personal, visible or invisible, which shall be construed to include all his property, rights, credits, moneys, and effects, and to which property, rights, credits, moneys, and effects said tax-payer shall himself attach the true amount and value thereof.

Mr. McClelland moved to lay the amendment and the amendment to the amendment on the table.

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Benson, Blue, Brown of Pike, Bulla, Campbell, Chapman, Clark, Cowan, Crawford, Crim, Davis of Dubois, Davis of Scott, Edwards, Fleece, Goodman, Graff, Hall, Hammond, Harrison, Haywood, Houghman, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Johnston, Jordan, Lawrence, Lindsey, Marquess, Marshall, Marvin, McClelland, McMakin, Mercer, Nelson, Painter, Pancake, Peckenpaugh, Phillips, Rice, Riley, Robbins, Ross, Shull, Stone, Swihart of Wabash, Usher, Walls, Willard, Withers, and Wittenmeyer—52.

No. 283. A bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in the town of Middletown, Henry county;

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Pratt introduced,

No. 284. A joint resolution requiring the Treasurer of State to pay over certain moneys to the Michigan Road Company;

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

On motion by Mr. Franklin,

House bill No. 160. A bill for the more effectual, just, and equal assessment and valuation of the real estate, personal property, moneys, rights, credits, effects, and corporation stock in the State of Indiana,

Was taken from the table.

Mr. Franklin moved to amend the amendment by striking out from the word "it," in the 3d line, to the word "and," in the 12th line.

Mr. Willard moved to lay the amendment to the amendment on the table.

On motion by Mr. Humphreys,

A call of the House was ordered.

After spending some time in the call,

Mr. Davis of Scott moved that a further call of the House be suspended;

Which motion did not prevail.

On motion,

Mr. Hosbrook was excused for the purpose of testifying as a witness before the Court of Common Pleas.

On motion by Mr. Goodwin,

The absentees were sent for, viz: Messrs. Bird, Blue, Caylor, and Conner.

Mr. Franklin moved to dispense with a further call of the House; Which was decided in the negative.

On motion by Mr. McClelland,

A further call of the House was dispensed with.

The question being to lay the amendment on the table,

The ayes noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Benson, Bird, Blue, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Campbell, Coburn, Cowan, Crawford, Davis of Dubois, Donaldson, Edwards, Goodwin of Vigo, Graff, Hall, Hammond, Harris, Harrison, Haywood, Houghman, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Johnson, Jones,

Add the following additional sections :

SEC. —. Each county assessor shall, annually, (except when the real estate is appraised,) at the time of taking a list of personal property, also take a list of all real estate situate in his county that shall have become subject to taxation since the last previous listing of property therein, with the value thereof, estimated agreeably to the rules prescribed by the law regulating the duties of appraisers of real estate, and all new improvements, buildings, or structures of any kind, the value of which shall not have been previously added to or included in the valuation of the land on which such improvements have been made or structures erected, and shall make return to the county auditor thereof, at the same time he is required by this act to make return of personal property; in which return he shall set forth the parcel of real property on which each of said improvements shall have been made or said structures erected, and the true value added to such parcel of real estate by the making of said improvement and the erection of such structure; and the additional sum which it is believed the land on which the improvement was made or structure erected will sell for at private sale, in consequence thereof, shall be considered the value of such new improvement or structure; and in case of destruction by fire, flood or otherwise, of any improvement, building or structure of any kind, which shall have been made or erected previous to the last valuation of the land on which the same shall have been, or the value of which may have been added to any former valuation of such land, the assessor shall determine, as nearly as practicable, how much less such land would sell for, at private sale, in consequence of such destruction, and make return thereof to the county auditor, as in this section before provided.

SEC. —. That each county auditor shall correct the valuation of any parcel of real property on which any new improvement may have been made or new structure erected, or on which any new improvement or structure shall have been destroyed, as specified in the preceding section, agreeably to the return thereof, made in accordance with the provisions of said section by the assessor, and assess taxes for that and for each succeeding year, upon such corrected valuation.

Mr. Brown of Shelby moved a call of the House.

Which motion did not prevail.

The amendments were adopted.

The question then being, Shall the bill be engrossed?

Was decided in the affirmative.

Mr. Edwards from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred a resolution of the House, instructing them to enquire into the expediency of revising and simplifying the Probate laws, and if deemed advisable to dispense with complete records where estates are insolvent, and where there is no real estate belonging to the same; and also to reduce the fees of Clerks of the Probate Courts, and as far as practicable reduce the expenses of administering upon estates, have considered the same, and instructed me to report that the first branch of the resolution, relative to revising and simplifying the Probate laws, is inexpedient at this time, as the new Constitution will require a reorganization of the entire judicial system, and the appointment of a committee by the first Legislature held under the same, to revise the laws of the State generally.

The committee believe the Probate system to be greatly defective, and if they could possibly agree upon a substitute, the expense of putting the same into operation, when there is more than a probability that all the laws of the State will soon be revised, that any revision that can now be made, could be of no practical benefit, before a new revision would be made, thereby causing an unnecessary draught upon the Treasury of the State.

In compliance with the second and third branches of said resolution, relative to abolishing complete records, where estates are insolvent, and where there is no real estate, and in relation to the reduction of the fees of clerks and the expenses of administering upon estates, in Probate Courts, have instructed me to report the following bill and recommend its passage:

No. 327. A bill dispensing with complete records, and regulating the fees of Clerks in Probate Courts, in certain cases;

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

Mr. Franklin from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred House bill No. 68, have had the same under consideration, and directed me to report the following amendment thereto:

Amend section 1st, by adding at the close of said section, "and that the mortgage executed by the said Elder, upon said premises, bearing even date with said deed and executed for the purpose of securing the payment of the purchase money of said premises, be also declared a good and valid mortgage, and shall hold a lien upon said premises in said deed mentioned, until full payment of the purchase money thereof;

Which was adopted.

The bill as amended was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Chapman, chairman of the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred the several matters connected with the sale of the Northern Division of the Central Canal, have had the subject under consideration and have directed me to report the following joint resolution and recommend its passage:

No. 328. A joint resolution concerning the sale of the Northern Division of the Central Canal;

Which was read a first time and passed to a second reading.

Mr. Edwards from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The Judiciary committee, to whom was referred a bill of the House, No. 187, entitled "a bill to enable the voters of Orange township, in the county of Fayette, to elect an additional Justice of the Peace," have considered the same and directed me to report it back to the House with an amendment, and when so amended, to recommend its passage.

Strike out of the first section, the following:

"Who shall be and continue a resident of the south part thereof, during the period he holds said office."

Which was concurred in and the bill ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. Lewis, chairman of the committee on Education, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on Education, to whom was referred Senate bill No. 19, have had the same under consideration and have directed me to report favorable and recommend its passage:

No. 19. A bill to amend an act entitled "an act to increase and extend the benefits of common schools, approved January 17, 1849;

And the bill was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Donaldson from the committee on Claims, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The standing committee on Claims, to whom was referred the claim of A. P. Carrel of Howard county, against the State of Indiana, for one hundred and ten dollars, have had the same under consideration and have directed me to report that it is inexpedient to allow said claim or any part thereof, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

On motion by Mr. Pratt,

The report was laid upon the table.

Mr. Watt, chairman of the committee on Roads, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on roads to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of Clay and Owen counties, praying for the location of a State road therein named, have had the same under consideration, and directed me to make the following report, viz :

That, whereas, the 3d section of an act entitled an act to revise and consolidate the several acts of the General Assembly for laying out, opening, repairing, &c., changing and vacating public highways, and bridges, and the repair of the same, &c., to amend the same approved January 16, 1849, requires that notice of such intended application to the Legislature shall be given by written or printed notices, posted in three public places in each county in the vicinity of the highway proposed to be located, at least twenty days before such petition is presented; and, whereas, your committee have not sufficient evidence before them that such notice has been given, your committee therefore recommend said petition to be laid on the table, and ask to be discharged from its further consideration.

Which was concurred in.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from his Excellency, the Governor:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

In pursuance of a resolution of your body, I send you herewith, the original correspondence and papers on file in my office, on the subject of the Georgia Lands. This correspondence came to my knowledge and possession since the adjournment of the last session of the Legislature, as you will perceive by the communication of Mr. Collins to me, of the 4th of March, 1850.

There is on the Executive Journal, a copy of a contract between Mr. Green and Governor Dunning, dated March 5th, 1849, relative to these lands, a copy of which will be sent you by the Secretary of State. This agreement was placed on the Executive Journal during the fall of 1850. It is proper that I should state in connection with this, that the officers of State, in re-offering these lands for sale, were not only governed by the evidence herewith enclosed, but by the testimony of one of their number, (Gen. James P. Drake, Treasurer of State,) and John D. Defrees.

Yours respectfully,

JOS. A. WRIGHT.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

House bill No. 277. A bill confirming the sale of the Georgia Lands to Martin R. Green;

Was taken from the table and placed upon the files of the House.

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication from the Secretary of State:

SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE, }
INDIANAPOLIS, January 31, 1851. }

HON. E. DUMONT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR:—Please to lay the enclosed communication before the House, over which you preside.

Respectfully,

CHARLES H. TEST;

Secretary of State.

SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE, }
INDIANAPOLIS, January 30, 1851. }

To the Honorable House of Representatives:

In answer to a resolution of your honorable body, requesting the Secretary of State to say "whether he has refused any more paper for the use of the members, and if so, his reasons for so doing," the undersigned would respectfully inform you that in no instance, has he refused to furnish paper either to the members of the Legislature, or the door-keeper, when called upon for that purpose. On the contrary, it has afforded the undersigned pleasure to supply every member with any reasonable quantity, either when applied to by them personally, or by the door-keeper; and it will give him equal satisfaction to comply with their future demands, in this particular, so long as it shall remain in his power.

It is true that the undersigned, finding the quantity of paper left in his care was rapidly diminishing, from the frequent demands made upon him, and finding that he should not long be able to supply such requisitions, admonished the door-keeper of each branch of the General Assembly, as well as the door-keeper of the Convention of the fact, that the previous rates of supply, he would soon be without paper, and expressed this apprehension, that the proper care was not taken to prevent waste. He recommended that it might be kept in a safe place and given out so as to afford each member a reasonable supply. Not desiring to cast censure anywhere, or to discriminate between these different officers, he made the same remarks and recommendations to each, either to them personally, or to those whom they sent for paper.

In making these observations, he had no wish to withhold a proper supply of paper, either from the Legislature or the Convention, nor does he think that reasonably, any such inference could have been drawn from what he said. Individually, he had no interest in the matter, nor could it have affected him, if ten times the quantity of paper had been demanded. Yet, as a public officer, having charge of the paper at the time, he desired to guard against prodigality, or unjust discriminations in the distribution of the public stationery.

There has been applied to the Convention, and the present General Assembly, 168 reams of paper by Mr. Sheets, 70 reams by Messrs. Ross & Ray, and ten by Mr. Austin H. Brown—in all, 248 reams. Besides this amount, a considerable quantity was left over in the State Library, not used by the last Legislature, and some obtained from book stores. The whole amount will very near, if not quite, average one ream to every member, including both bodies. Of this quantity, there are but 22 reams left with which to supply the two Houses of the General Assembly and the Convention, until the close of their session.

With this statement, the undersigned leaves it with your honorable body to determine how far his apprehensions and admonitions were well grounded. During the past week, the undersigned furnished to the door-keepers of the General Assembly and the Convention, 24 reams of paper—9 to the Convention, 9 to the Senate, and 6 to the House of Representatives, and the principal part of this quantity was delivered after the conversation to which reference was before made. This matter is only mentioned as an evidence that the Secretary of State did not intend to “refuse any more paper for the use of the members,” and he takes it as pretty strong proof of the fact.

The undersigned does not know that every portion of paper so delivered, was not strictly needed, nor has he pretended to censure any one in regard to the matter. It was in fact a subject of no great importance, yet he supposed that the public stationery, amounting within the last year, to near $2000, independent of the public printing, should be justly appropriated to the objects contemplated by law.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES H. TEST,
Secretary of State.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The communication was laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor, by Mr. Noel, Executive Messenger:

The Speaker laid before the House the following address, from the Mutes of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of the State of Indiana:

To the Hon. Members of the Legislature of Indiana:

It is with feelings of the greatest pleasure that we again present ourselves before the Legislature of our State, to give utterance to our gratitude for their continued kindness toward us; though we feel that words are inadequate to express the emotions that swell our hearts, when we contemplate the blessings which surround us; blessings which, under God, we owe to you.

Before the rays of knowledge illuminated our minds, we pursued a silent way, solitary pilgrims on life's desert waste, aliens from our race, joyless and alone.

But now, how changed the scene! brought here by the hand of friendship and benevolence, have found companions to whom we are bound by the ties of a common affliction, and in whose society we enjoy the pleasures of friendly communion, and the happiness of social life. Here we have also found those who devote all their talents to our benefit; who have, in their generous labors, bestowed upon us as it were, a new existence; their cheering words have encouraged our trembling steps to tread the paths of wisdom, imparting to us knowledge that elevate man to be but a little lower than the angels, and a language in which to express thoughts, feelings, and desires which would otherwise have been unknown and unrevealed. To every teacher in the Institution we feel we owe a debt of the warmest gratitude, for benefits more valuable than all the riches of earth could repay. Since we last came before you, we have been called upon to rejoice in the possession of a home, erected for us by the liberality of the people and the Legislature of this State, which, in the beauty of its exterior and comfort of its accommodations, far exceeds our utmost expectations.

These blessings have filled our hearts with joy, and we now appear before you a happy throng—chastened, but not cast down, afflicted, but not forsaken. And when in the course of years, we shall leave these pleasing scenes, when, bidding farewell to teachers and friends, we go forth to encounter the trials and duties of life, the benefits we have received will ever be remembered with the warmest gratitude, and the instructions of our teachers will remain to guide us through this world and all its sorrows.

In view of these things, we feel that, in founding and sustaining the institutions of benevolence, no State in the Union surpasses Indiana; for here the world witnessed for the first time, a government levying a tax on the people, not to support the pride and pomp of royalty, not to send forth hosts of armed men to lay the fair earth desolate; but to raise the feeble from the dust, to pour the light of knowledge on the darkened mind, and cheer and bless the troubled spirit. It is in Indiana alone that we see the rich and the poor meet together to share alike, without money and without price, in the unspeakable blessings of education. In the number of those whom her noble beneficence has aided, Indiana also stands pre-eminent. In this Institution there are 136 pupils, being more, in proportion to the population, than are supported by any other State.

And, in conclusion, permit us to say that when the hour shall come which summons the spirit to an unseen world, the thought may fall like balm upon the soul, that in the hour of strength and power, ye had not forgotten the children of sorrow, that the one talent had increased to ten, and happiness descended to many a heart, that else had remained desolate and forsaken. Such thoughts as these will impart joy, when all earth's pleasures have passed away. And in that happier world, where the fetters that bind us here shall be burst asunder, where, in songs of praise, no lip shall be mute, no voice shall be silent, your joy shall be full when ye meet those whom on earth you have aided, freed from all sorrow rejoicing forever in the presence of God.

The address was read by the Clerk,

After which the Speaker delivered the following address :

ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives :

I have the honor to lay before you, the Address of the Pupils of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb. The Address was presented at the close of an exhibition of the Scholars, by Miss MARGARET E. HOLDEN, an interesting and accomplished young Lady, with the request that I should lay it before you. It is signed by ninety-one of the Students, and was written by Miss MARY ST. C. BELCHES, whose name heads the list.

The exhibition preceding the presentation of the Address, was one of thrilling interest. The scholars were examined in those branches of education taught in this school,—being all the useful and substantial branches of an English education, such as Arithmetic, Geography, History, &c. They showed a proficiency to tax the credulity of any man, not an eye witness to the fact. Deprived of the use of ear and speech, the quickness of their other perceptions seemed almost to atone for these misfortunes. It has been said that words were made to conceal ideas;—whether this be true or not, certain it is that thoughts, impulses and emotions were conveyed by these Mutes, as clearly, distinctly and unmistakeably as they could have been by the most eloquent tongue—thoughts, too, involving propositions of the most complex character—poetic fancies and mischievous conceits. The exhibition was one to inspire mingled emotions of joy and grief;—grief for the misfortunes of a stricken group—grief for those on whom we have been taught to look, as children of sorrow and outcasts from the world; and joy, that our State has been successful in bringing forward and developing a flower that seemed to have been born “to blush unseen”—that she has been successful in depriving a calamity of its bitterest pangs,—giving cheerfulness for sorrow;—for gloom giving gladness: and strewing with pleasures, that which has hitherto been a cheerless pathway. Bad, indeed, must be the man that could do less than rejoice at the success of these philanthropic efforts;—efforts that have plucked the thorn from the bleeding heart;—efforts that have caused the rose to bloom on the blanched and pallid cheek;—efforts that have lessened the parents’ agony assuaged the sister’s pangs and dispelled the brother’s gloom. Who will doubt that there is a rich harvest stored up in the garner of grateful hearts for those engaged in a service fraught with such results?

Man is said to be God’s noblest work; and it follows as a necessary result, that creations of art and works of genius, sink into nothing when compared to improvements in man’s physical and intellectual machinery. To speak after the manner of men, many a son of genius has won a deathless name, by giving the human form to marble, and delineating it upon canvass, though impelled to action by no motive other than pelf or unchastened ambition. Though the philanthropist seldom wins the patronage of kings or the homage of men, still as he is actuated by purer motives, I would prefer his humble name and his reward; for he who shall dry up the tear of affliction, who shall allay the pangs of misfortune, who shall transform a calamity into a blessing, who shall make life cheerful and soften death's pillow, shall rear a monument in the hearts of the good more enduring than marble, and shall finally reap a reward worth all the gold of Ophir. Time gnaws down the statues and monuments of earth; her honors, like shadows, are evanescent; but the works of the good are eternal. The good man's life is a life of peace, and when called upon to surrender it up, he can do it as trustingly, and confidingly, as an infant can repose on the bosom of its mother. Happy is he whose sympathies encircle his fellow men; but miserable is he whose sympathies are pent up and confined within the narrow limits of self. Happy is he who weeps for others' woes; but miserable and wretched, indeed, is he who has no heart for pity, and no eye for tears. "Cast thy bread upon the waters," is a heavenly mandate; and to devote one's life to the service of others, is to obey it. He who lives to do good to others casts his bread upon the waters, and "shall find it after many days." Flowers shall be strown in his pathway, and blessings shall cluster around him.

"The quality of mercy is not strained,
It droppeth as the gentle rains from heaven,
Upon the place beneath; it is twice bless'd,
It blesseth him that gives, and him that takes;
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown;
It is enthroned in the hearts of kings;
It is an attribute to God himself,
And earthly power doth shew itself the most like God's,
When mercy seasons justice."

I heard, have read, and now present this interesting address, with the liveliest emotions of pleasure. It is couched in language chaste and beautiful, and breathes sentiments calculated to touch the tenderest chord. It is an emanation from gratified hearts; and what is gratitude but a flower expanding to a vernal sun, a bud opening to the gentle shower, a breeze that has played with the rose, the pink, and the violet, and stolen their perfume? Without the use of metaphor for further illustration, it is the disposition to be just, the willingness to render "value received," for benefits conferred. It belongs to the honest man; it is a redeeming quality worthy of being cherished wherever found. Those who are strangers to its influences are sunk in the deepest pit of moral depravity. We must, however, be careful that the sentiment is not a servile one; for, then, its tendency is to degrade and not to elevate. It should partake of that feeling which the child manifests for a kind and indulgent parent.

A fund has been raised in Indiana for the support of this Institution. The people pay the tax most promptly and cheerfully. No one has been found so destitute of principle as to murmur. The Governor of the State, and the Judges, rest under just as deep an obligation as those receiving an education at this Institution; for the labor of the latter is as great as that of the former, and the expenses of all are borne by taxing the people; and as taxes fall equally upon all, the parents of these children are not exempt. It is a perpetual fund, and no parent knows but that in time he may reap its immediate benefits in the person of his own child. It is a sinking fund, sinking misfortune, and elevating happiness, and its benefits are free and open to all. Those who now reap them will soon "wheel into the line" in the accomplishment of man's destiny; and entering upon life's stern realities, will in turn contribute to its support. They stand, then, I contend, upon the same footing with the proudest of the land; their condition is not one of dependence, in a sense to mortify, for what institution is there in the land whose endowment cannot be traced to National, State, or individual benevolence? Have not the proudest defenders of our country—the magnates of the land—been educated in an institution founded and sustained by the Nation? Are we not indebted to national liberality for the fund that now sustains our State University? What is our common school fund but a magnificent bequest, the benefits of which the rich and the poor are willing to embrace? There is nothing to mortify the pride or dampen the ardor, but every thing to cheer and encourage. Their institution rests upon a firm and enduring basis; their teachers have proven themselves abundantly worthy; they have performed labor and displayed a solicitude equalled only by the success with which those labors have been crowned. These young men and young ladies will soon quit those peaceful haunts and enter the busy throng. They will take a position in society corresponding with their moral worth and intellectual culture. To the time spent in this Institution they will recur with pleasure in their riper years. It was the opening to them of a sealed book. Here it was that the store houses of knowledge were unlocked, and the cheering hopes of religion revealed. Here it was that they were first admitted into the full communion of their fellow men, and taught the eventful story of the past. Here it was that doors were opened, that would otherwise have remained forever closed. For these things they owe a debt of gratitude which time will never efface. That debt is due to the superintendent and teachers, whose solicitude and toil have wrought such happy results. That gratitude is expressed in the address which I now present, so far as words can express such an obligation. That those who control this Institution are equal to its responsibilities and worthy of the confidence of the people, the improvements of which I have spoken abundantly demonstrate. Nothing but rare qualifications and infinite pains could produce such fruit. Let us the representatives of the people aid them in cherishing and sustaining so interesting, so commendable, so praiseworthy an enterprize. All that we shall do for such an Institution as this within the bounds of reason, will, I know, meet the approbation of our constituents.

It is the pride and glory of our happy land that she has never yet turned a deaf ear to the calls of humanity; that she has never yet refused to put forth her arm of strength in behalf of the down-trodden, the oppressed, and the unfortunate, that by her the arts and sciences have been fostered; she has been foremost in all enterprises of benevolence; she has educated and given intelligence to the masses, and vindicated triumphantly the liberty of the press. The liberty of the press! That is a word that ought not to be lightly spoken. It is a word, when understood, of potent meaning; for, prostituted and subsidized as it sometimes is, (and God has made no good thing that cannot be made an instrument of harm) the press has been a messenger of glad tidings, bearing light and truth to the inhabitants of all lands, civilizing and christianizing earth's darkest corners. Intelligent, free, and uncorrupted, it is a friend to freedom, a scourge to tyrants, the palladium of liberty, and the bulwark of truth. While the press is left free, error of opinion may be tolerated, for it will be speedily vanquished by the triumph of sound principles. The influence of the press upon this broad land is not seen at a glance. It is best seen by those whose vision is the most comprehensive. The dews of heaven fall upon the earth unseen and unfelt, still they cover the earth with verdure, the fields with fragrance and beauty, make the woods redolent with music, replenish the sparkling fountain, the murmuring brook, and the rushing river, and impart to all nature freshness and vigor.

The newspaper press is, in my opinion, doing good service in the country. It accommodates itself to every condition of life, and places the elements of knowledge within the reach of every citizen of the republic; for, like the wind, there is no spot to which it cannot travel. It reaches the humble cabin in the wilderness. We find it in the seminary of learning, in the halls of legislation, in the consecrated sanctuary, in the savage's wigwam, and the soldier's tent, in the palace, and in the prison. At home and abroad, upon the ocean and upon the land; it confers its benefits upon the rich and the poor, the bond and the free. Of the printing press it has been fancifully said—

“that if a star
Were stricken from the dome of night,
A printing press, if stationed there,
Would fill the vacuum to a hair,
And shed a broader light.”

None have derived greater benefits from the press, especially the Newspaper press, than that unfortunate class of whom I speak. I care not what a man's intellect may be, it must have food upon which to feed, even to enable him to commune with himself. There must be a basis for thought, if not, the world is, to man, a dreary, joyless prison house, and death a welcome messenger.

By the aid of science, the tongue of the Mute has been loosened, and his ear unstopped. He has been taught to read, and that is now to him a perennial blessing, a pure fountain of joy, welling up its sparkling waters to gladden his journey through life. It enables him to commune with the past and the present, and to look forward to the cheering hopes of the future. This group who have signed and presented this Address, seem a joyous family of children gathered around the parental threshold. We look upon them and behold brilliant eyes and happy faces; for science has discovered a way to make the crushed heart glad, and the dim eye to sparkle. The parents of these Mutes may rejoice in their distant homes. The tear of grief may be dried up; for that God that touched Isaiah's hallowed lips with fire,—that God that holds the destiny of man in the hollow of his hand,—that God that marketh the sparrow's fall, hath watched over your children, and hath tempered the winds to the shorn lamb. You parted with your beloved offspring with a bleeding heart, but joyous, indeed, will be the greeting on their return. The child of misfortune shall be a solace to your declining years, and ultimately an honored and useful member of society.

Barbarism displays itself in an utter disregard of the rights of women, in crushing her under the weight of heavy burdens, in putting to death infants that do not promise to be vigorous, and generally, in contemning the calls of humanity. The reverse of all this follows in the wake of Christianity and civilization. These cruelties are unknown in this country, where the mass of the people are intelligent and virtuous. Woman is respected, and in her sphere becomes a peerless queen, where the benign precepts of religion prevail. Her offspring, though weak, feeble, deaf, blind, or deformed, is neither put to death, nor suffered to perish from cold, from hunger, or in the burning sun. All of which only prove that which has been written a thousand years or less, that as virtue advances vice recedes. There are plants that flourish only under the protecting hand of the philanthropist, and when watered by his tears. They grow best in Christian soil. They flourish in the soil of Indiana; and I cannot refrain, upon the present occasion, from saying: honor to Indiana, and honor to her people! for she has proved her devotion to humanity's cause. No State in the Union has so flourishing a school for the deaf and dumb; no school in the land so substantial a basis. It is now as steadfast as a rock; for it rests upon the broad, firm basis of the constitution. Indiana's philanthropy, thank God! is in the hearts of her people. It is evidenced now by her organic law. It is not to be wondered that application for admission into this Institution come now from abroad; nor is the rapid growth of our State generally a matter of surprise. Multitudes are flocking to our borders, it is true, for ours is a peaceful, fruitful, happy land.

The Roman matron, when asked for her jewels, pointed to her children;—an American mother would emulate her example and do the same. In such a country as ours, a parent should look upon his children as unspeakable blessings—as treasures committed to his keeping—as sweet and tender plants confided to his charge for culture and perfection; but he should never, no, never forget that they also belong to God; that He holds a lien upon them as hostages for the faith, the fealty, the fidelity, “the good behavior” of the parent.

To err is human, and a childless man may be forgiven for a departure from the path of rectitude; but the parent who tarnishes the reputation of his own offspring, by being false to himself, forfeits his recognizance to society, proves himself unfaithful to his sacred trust, perfidious to nature, a defalter to God and country.

In conclusion, I will say, (and thereby subject myself to the charge of having but one idea, for I have said it before,) that truth is at the foundation of all that is good. It is the basis of every moral virtue, and that element alone, in the character of any man, is worth all the false accomplishments of earth. It is a quality worthy of being idolized, and worthy of being sought. Inquiry after truth is a pleasing task, a delightful employment; for the reward is always worthy of the labor. It is a thing of which a man should never be ashamed, wherever found. To a young man starting in the world, better advice could not be given than this: “Be true, and seek after truth.”

“This, above all, to thy own self be true;
And then it follows, as the night the day,
Thou canst not well be false to any man.”

Thus spoke the poet and philosopher. The following is equally appropriate, and equally beautiful:

“Embrace the truth, wherever found,
On heathen or on Christian ground;
Among your friends, among your foes,
The plant’s divine, wher’er it grows.”

I am but a poor adviser, for my whole life has been spent in regretting to-day the errors of yesterday. I speak, therefore, with trembling lips and faltering tongue. I hope those to whom shall be communicated what I have said, in response to their address, will believe me when I say that I have spoken sincerely. I have said some things because I would impress upon the young and unsuspecting, upon the pure and the spotless, (who, in buffeting the rough billows of the world, have many things yet to learn,) that the way of the transgressor is hard, but that the paths of virtue are both pleasant and peaceful. These are the paths that they now pursue, and from which I trust they will never deviate.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The address of the Mutes, as also the address of the Speaker, was laid upon the table and 5000 copies ordered to be printed; 4000 copies for the use of the House, and 1000 copies for the use of the Institution.

On motion by Mr. Davis of Scott,

Bill No. 289 was laid upon the table.

On motion by Mr. Davis of Scott,

A message from the Senate was taken up, for the purpose of considering bill No. 172

MR. SPEAKER :

I am directed by the Senate to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate have passed the following engrossed bills thereof:

No. 108. An act to constitute a school district from a portion of territory in the counties of Grant and Blackford.

No. 136. An act for the relief of Ann Blythstone, of Allen county.

No. 146. A joint resolution on the subject of the sale of the northern division of the Central canal.

No. 147. An act for the relief of the lessee of the State's Prison.

No. 164. An act to incorporate the Indiana Life and Marine Insurance Company.

No. 166. An act to incorporate the Indiana Monumental Association.

No. 172. An act to apportion Senators and Representatives for the next five years.

No. 174. An act relative to the Western Plank Road Company in Tippecanoe county.

No. 214. An act in relation to the County Surveyor of Putnam county.

No. 219. An act to amend the general road laws, so far as the county of Putnam is concerned.

In which the concurrence of the House is respectfully requested.

Mr. Willard moved to lay No. 172, in the foregoing message, on the table.

On counting the votes, the ayes were 37 and the nays 37.

The Speaker being called upon, voted in the affirmative.

So the bill was laid on the table.

On motion by Mr. Davis of Scott,

The orders of the day were taken up.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, &C.

By Mr. Crawford;

The petition of the citizens of the town of Milford, Decatur county, praying for a city charter for the same;

Which,

On motion,

Was referred to a select committee consisting of Messrs. Crawford, Brown of Shelby, and Shook.

By Mr. Moore;

A petition from certain citizens of Bartholomew county, concerning the sale of a school section therein named;

Which,

On motion,

Was referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Moore, Hicks and Phillips.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred bill of the House, No. 110, have had the same under consideration, and have made some amendments thereto, upon the adoption of which they recommend the passage of the bill:

No. 110. A bill to amend article 4 of chapter 45 of the Revised Code of 1843, on the subject of partition.

Amend by adding the following as the 4th section:

SEC. 4. The provisions of this act shall extend to all lands held by certificate of purchase, known as the "Wabash and Erie Canal Lands," whether purchased of the State or of the board of trustees of the Wabash and Erie canal, where a part only of the purchase money has been paid; and where such certificates are held by two or more persons as joint tenants, or tenants in common, whether they be original purchasers or their assignees, or the heirs or devisees of such original purchasers or their assigns, and like remedy shall be had for partition as above in this act provided; and when such partition is made, if the owners of the several tracts as partitioned and set off, shall any of them fail or refuse to pay the said board of trustees his proper share of the interest, in advance, on the residue of the purchase money, as said interest shall fall due, or his proper share of the principal as it shall fall due, as it shall be lawful for any other person interested in preventing the forfeiture of such tract held by said certificate of purchase to pay such share, and for every such advance of money, the person making the same shall have a lien on the share for which the advance may be made, and may enforce such lien, or proceed by action at law to recover back the money advanced, with interest.

Amend by making the 4th section of the bill the 5th.

On motion by Mr. Franklin,

The bill and pending amendments were laid upon the table.

Mr. Edwards from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred bill of the Senate, No. 127, a bill to amend chapter 4 of the Revised Code of 1843, have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the same back without amendment, recommend its passage, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

Mr. Franklin, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred bill of the House, No. 189, entitled an act to regulate the summoning of minor heirs in all cases in courts of Chancery and in courts of Probate in this State, have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the same back and recommend the indefinite postponement thereof.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Williamson, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred bill of the Senate No. 98, "an act for the protection of persons and property on railroads," have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the same back with a recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed, and said committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The Judiciary committee, to whom was referred bill of the House No. 302, entitled "a bill to require non-residents to give security for costs," have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the same back, and recommend the indefinite postponement thereof.

Which was concurred in.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Bradley, chairman of the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, who were instructed by a resolution "to inquire into the expediency of abolishing the present action of ejectment with its nominal parties, &c., and substitute therefor the action of trespass," after duly considering the subject embraced in said resolution, have directed me to report that in the opinion of said committee, it would be inexpedient to make any change in the existing law of ejectment. Said committee, therefore, ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Williamson dissents from the foregoing report.

Which report was concurred in.

Mr. Franklin, from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred No. 79, "a joint resolution to authorize the Secretary of State to subscribe for a certain number of copies of the Indiana reports," have had the same under consideration and have directed me to report the same back and recommend that it be indefinitely postponed, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

On motion by Mr. Bradley,

The report was laid upon the table.

Mr. Bradley from the committee on the Judiciary, made the following minority report:

The undersigned, a minority of the committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred a joint resolution entitled "a joint resolution," [title not given,] have had the same under consideration, and dissenting from the report of the majority of said committee, respectfully report:

That in the opinion of the undersigned, the chief object in procuring a publication of the decisions of the Supreme Court is, to have the questions of law decided by said court made known to the inferior courts and to litigant parties, in order that they may govern themselves accordingly, when similar cases occur, or similar points arise. Much litigation is thereby prevented, because if the decisions so made are known, it is scarcely probable that parties would prosecute similar cases by appeal or writ of error to the Supreme Court. It is therefore of the utmost importance that law points thus settled should be made known without delay.

The reports of cases thus decided consist simply of the opinions of the judges as written out and delivered by them severally, and copied upon the order book of the court, the reporter merely superintending the printing of the opinions as thus written out, and making a syllabus or analysis of the points decided in each case, which serves as an index. This requires no peculiar ability, and can be done by any careful person who is capable of understanding the points decided in the opinions. The intrinsic value of the reports consists in the opinions themselves, which are printed, as the undersigned believe, verbatim as they were delivered.

The reports of Judge Blackford are well and accurately printed, but there is no reason, in the opinion of the undersigned, why the decisions should not be equally as valuable when published by any other person capable of comprehending them.

The 8th and last volume of Blackford's Reports was published about the 1st of May, 1850, and contains the opinions delivered by the Supreme Court up to the close of the year 1847, leaving the decisions of four terms of the court, during the years 1848 and 1849, comprising upwards of two hundred cases, unpublished. As it was not probable that these opinions would otherwise be published within at least two or three years from that period, the volume called the Indiana Reports, containing those unpublished opinions given during the years 1848 and 1849, was published about the same time that the eighth volume of Blackford's Reports was published.

The undersigned are informed that the volume of Indiana Reports was published merely with the view of removing the great inconvenience occasion to the Supreme Court itself, the inferior courts, the bar, and the litigant parties, by the large number of opinions unpublished, and the want of any convenient means of referring to them, and without any intention of continuing the publication of subsequent decisions. The opinions contained in it are, however, published in a sufficiently full and accurate manner to answer all the purposes of those who are interested in knowing the points of law decided by them, and the undersigned can perceive no necessity for their being again published in another form.

The undersigned are also informed that at about the same time that the volume of Indiana Reports appeared, it was announced that the ninth volume of Blackford's reports intended to include the same cases, was in press, and that a proof sheet of about eight pages was struck off, but that nothing further has since been done toward the progress of the work.

Since the publication of the Indiana Reports, two additional terms of the Supreme Court have been held, and a large number of opinions have been given, many of them deciding points of great practical importance, and it is of the utmost importance that they should be published without delay. But for the publication of the Indiana Reports, there would now be three years of the decisions of the Supreme Court entirely unreported, and probably two or three years more would expire before they would be made known to the public.

The undersigned are clearly of opinion that none of the judges of the Supreme Court can, consistently with the duties appertaining to their office, devote any considerable portion of their time to reporting. There are now from six to seven hundred cases on the docket of that court, and about two hundred cases submitted to the court for examination and adjudication remain on their hands undecided. Some of these have been submitted one, two, three and four years, and in justice to the parties concerned, to many of whom the delay may be ruinous, and to the high and responsible offices they hold, the whole of their time should be devoted to the examination and decision of these cases, until they are all disposed of. As all the judges must necessarily consult and examine these cases together, if one is occupied with business foreign to his office, it is not merely his own time which is lost, but that of the others also, who are hindered and impeded in the performance of their duties, by being obliged to wait until he is at leisure to co-operate with them.

The undersigned are further advised that under the provisions of the new Constitution, should the same be ratified by the people in August or prior thereto, no one of the judges of the Supreme Court can act as Reporter, and it is not probable that any further reports can be made by Judge Blackford prior to that time, as all his time will necessarily be employed in the discharge of the duties of his office, hence no injustice can be done to him, nor will any inroad be made in the series of Blackford's Reports by the passage of the accompanying joint resolution.

The undersigned are, therefore, of opinion that the public interest will be greatly promoted by the passage of the said joint resolution, as the decisions of the court will thereby be procured in a form that will answer all necessary purposes, without delay, at a very considerable reduction of expense to the State, and the judges of the Supreme Court will be enabled to devote themselves exclusively to the legitimate duties of their office.

The following estimate of the difference in expense to the State, and the amount which will be saved in the publication of the same quantity of printed matter, the number of copies taken by the State being about four hundred, is respectfully submitted :

The eight volumes of Blackford's Reports average 580 pages each, and cost the State four dollars per copy. The Indiana Reports contain 425 pages, which are about one-ninth larger than the pages of Blackford's Reports, and are equal to 475 pages of the same.

400 copies of Blackford's Reports, at $4,	-	-	-	$1600
400 copies of Indiana Reports, at $2,	-	-	-	$800
105 additional pages, to make the same quantity as in Blackford's Reports,	-	-	-	170

Total cost,	-	-	-	-	-	-	$970
-------------	---	---	---	---	---	---	-------

Showing a saving to the State of six hundred and thirty dollars.

The undersigned therefore would respectfully recommend the passage of the said joint resolution.

JAMES BRADLEY,
D. D. PRATT.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,

The report of the majority of the committee on joint resolution, No. 79, was taken from the table.

The question being on concurring in the report of the committee
Was decided in the negative.

Mr. Chapman offered the following amendment:

Strike out of the first section the following:

And said joint resolutions of 1836 and 1837, so far as they authorize a subscription for reports of cases decided by the Supreme Court, during the period comprised in the reports herein authorized to be subscribed for, are hereby repealed.

Also, strike out the 2d section.

Which was adopted.

Mr. Franklin moved to indefinitely postpone the joint resolution.

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Bird, Bradley, Chapman, Clark, Davis of Dubois, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Graff, Hicks, Mercer, Morrow, Patterson of Marshall, Pratt, Usher, and Willard—15.

So the joint resolution was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Ross, from the committee on Corporations, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on Corporations, to whom was referred Senate bill No. 66, entitled an act to incorporate the Winchester and Greenville Railroad Company, have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the same back without amendment and recommend its passage.

On motion by Mr. Chapman,
The bill was laid upon the table.

Mr. Williamson, from the committee on Corporations, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on Corporations, to whom was referred House bill No. 278, entitled a bill for the relief of the Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad Company, and the Indiana Central Railway Company, have directed me to report the same back with an amendment, and when so amended to recommend its passage:

Amend by adding after the word "length," in the first section the following words:

Provided, That the said Indiana Central Railway Company shall not construct any lateral branch at or east of Indianapolis, from the south side of their road, except from the county of Wayne.

Mr. Chapman moved to strike out the report of the committee and substitute the following:

Provided, No such lateral branch shall be constructed by either of said companies to connect at any point west of the west line of the county of Wayne, with any other railroad leading to or in the direction of Cincinnati, Ohio.

A division of the question was called.

The question was then put on striking out, and,

Was decided in the affirmative.

The question then being on the adoption of the amendment of Mr. Chapman,

Was decided in the affirmative.

On motion by Mr. Usher,

The rule was suspended, and the bill read a third time.

The question being, Shall the bill pass?

The ayes and noes being demanded by Messrs. Caylor and Riley,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Benson, Bird, Blue, Bradley, Brown of Pike, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Carr, Chapman, Clark, Coburn, Conner, Cowan, Cox, Crawford, Crim, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Edwards, Elkins, Essex, Fleece, Franklin, Gentry, Goodwin, Graff, Hall, Hamilton, Hammond, Harris, Hicks, Hosbrook, Houghman, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Isom, Jackson, Johnston, Jordan, Lank, Lawrence, Lewis, Lindsey, Marshall, Marvin, McCarty, McClelland, McMakin, Mercer, Moore, Morrow, Morgan, Nelson, Pancake, Patterson of Tippecanoe, Peckenpaugh, Phillips, Pratt, Reynolds, Robbins, Ross, Simler, Stayner, Stone, Schwartz, Swihart of Wabash, Swihart of Huntington, Thompson of Carroll, Thompson of Delaware, Thorn, Usher, Watson, Watt, Watts, Willard, Williamson, Wilson, Withers and Wittenmeyer—78.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Caylor, McKim, Painter, Patterson of Marshall, Riley, Shook, and Shull—8.

So the bill passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

Was read a first time.

On motion by Mr. Ross,

The rule was suspended, the bill read a second time.

Mr. Coburn offered the following amendment:

That upon the surrendering of all the leases entered into by the State with persons leasing water power on the northern division of the Central canal, within the county of Marion, and the execution by such lessees, their assignees, heirs or legal representatives, of a full and final discharge from all liabilities, damages, claim, and demand on account of the construction of such canal, any deficiency in the supply of water power, or in any other way whatever; and upon the said lessees also paying and securing to the State the sum of $2425 in the manner following: one-fourth in hand, and the remainder secured in a manner approved by the Governor, to be paid in three equal annual installments thereafter, the Governor shall be and he is hereby authorized and empowered, in the name and under the seal of the State of Indiana, to execute and declare to the said lessees, their assigns, heirs, or legal representatives, a conveyance by deed of the bed of the said northern division of the Central canal within the county of Marion, including its banks, margin, tow-paths, sidecuts, feeders, basins, right of way, dams, water power, structure and all appurtenances thereunto belonging.

SEC. 2. That if said lessees, their heirs, assigns, or legal representatives, fail to comply with the provisions of this act, required of them in this behalf, within ten days from the passage of this joint resolution, the offer made by George G. Shoup, James Rariden, and John S. Newman, for the interest of the State in said part of the Central canal, subject to the confirmation of the Legislature, shall be accepted finally by the Governor, and upon their compliance with the same, and their execution of a bond, with security approved by the Governor, a conveyance as above of the said interest of the State in such part of such canal shall be made to them by the Governor in the name and under the seal of the State of Indiana.

Mr. Marvin offered the following amendment to the amendment:

Insert after the word "whatever," in the 11th line, "and giving such bond or bonds, joint and severally, as the Governor may require to secure the State against any damages that may accrue from the overflow of said canal, or otherwise,"

Which was accepted by the mover.

Mr. Carr moved to lay the amendment on the table.

SENATE BILLS ON SECOND READING.

No. 126. A bill to amend an act entitled "an act to incorporate the Rushville and Muncietown Railroad Company," approved January 26, 1850,

Was read a second time.

Mr. Riley moved to indefinitely postpone the bill.

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

The gentleman from Marion (Mr. Coburn) being called to vote, arose and was making some remarks in explanation, when,

The gentleman from Shelby (Mr. Brown) called the gentleman from Marion to order.

The Speaker having decided "that on a motion to indefinitely postpone a bill, the ayes and noes having been moved and seconded, and the clerk proceeded with the call by calling several members, any member had a right, when his name was called, to discuss the general merits of the bill, and in that case the clerk should commence the call anew,"

The member from Jefferson (Mr. Chapman) appealed from this decision of the Chair.

The question being, "Shall the decision of the Chair be the decision of the House?"

Was decided in the affirmative.

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Coburn, Conner, Cox, Fleece, Hall, Hammond, Haywood, Hicks, Hosbrook, Houghman, Jackson, Johnston, Lindsey, Marquess, Marvin, McCarty, McClelland, Nelson, Pratt, Reynolds, Riley, Robbins, Stayner, Stone, Swihart of Huntington, Thompson of Carroll, Watt, Williamson, and Withers—29.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Bird, Blue, Bradley, Brown of Pike, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Carr, Chapman, Clark, Cowan, Crawford, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Edwards, Elkins, Essex, Franklin, Gentry, Goodwin of Daviess, Graff, Hamilton, Harris, Harrison, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Jordan, Lank, Lawrence, Lewis, Marshall, McKim, McMakin, Mercer, Millikan, Moore, Morgan, Morrow, Painter, Pancake, Patterson of Marshall, Patterson of Tippecanoe, Peckenpaugh, Ross, Shook, Shull, Simler, Schwartz, Swihart of Wabash, Thorn, Usher, Walls, Watson, Watts, Willard, and Mr. Speaker—56.

So the bill was not indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Usher moved to commit the bill to the committee on the Judiciary, with instructions to inquire into the power of repealing the law contemplated to be repealed by the bill.

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Clark, Coburn, Conner, Cox, Edwards, Fleece, Harris, Haywood, Hicks, Hosbrook, Houghman, Johnston, Lank, Lawrence, Lindsey, Marquess, Marshall, Marvin, McCarty, McClelland, McMakin, Morrow, Nelson, Peckenpaugh, Pratt, Riley, Robbins, Stayner, Stone, Swihart of Huntington, Thompson of Carroll, Usher, Watt, Wilson, and Withers—35.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Benson, Bird, Blue, Bradley, Brown of Pike, Brown of Shelby, Bulla, Carr, Chapman, Cowan, Crawford, Davis of Scott, Donaldson, Elkins, Essex, Franklin, Gentry, Goodwin, Graff, Hall, Hamilton, Harrison, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Isom, Jones, Jordan, McKim, Mercer, Moore, Morgan, Painter, Pancake, Patterson of Marshall, Patterson of Tippecanoe, Shook, Shull, Simler, Schwartz, Swihart of Wabash, Thorn, Walls, Watson, Watts, Willard, and Mr. Speaker—47.

So the bill was not so committed.

The question then recurring upon ordering the bill to a third reading, was decided in the affirmative.

On motion by Mr. Edwards,

The vote on the passage of Senate bill

No. 177. A bill authorizing the Western Plank Road Company to issue and sell bonds,

Was reconsidered.

The question then being, shall the bill pass?

On motion,

Provided, That all persons going to or returning from funerals, public worship. or militia musters, shall pass said bridge free of toll.

Provided, also, That the county commissioners of Dearborn county, at any regular session thereof, may change said rates of toll as they may deem just and proper, having reference to the usual rates charged by similar toll bridges.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That unless the said Andrew Morgan shall, within three months from the 1st day of March, 1851, begin the construction of said bridge, and proceed with the same with all reasonable despatch, so as to have said bridge completed in a good, safe, durable, convenient, and substantial manner by the 1st day of March, 1852, then, and in that case, all rights conferred upon the said Andrew Morgan by this act shall cease and be forfeited; in which case, William S. Speakman, Thomas W. Pate, Levi E. Stevens, George W. Lane, John J. French, Jonah Chambers, and Benjamin Sylvester and their successors in office, are hereby declared to be a body politic and corporate, by the name of the "Laughery Bridge Company," and by that name shall have power to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered unto, in all courts of justice of this State, and also to contract and be contracted with.

SEC. 10. At any time after the first day of March, 1852, said directors may have books to be opened for the subscription of stock in said company. The stock of said company shall not be less than five nor to exceed twelve thousand dollars, and shall be divided in shares of fifty dollars each, and shall be paid in such installments as the board of directors of said company shall direct, but at least four-fifths of the amount subscribed by any stockholder shall be paid within twelve months from the time the stock is subscribed.

SEC. 11. As soon as $5000 of stock is subscribed, an election shall take place for seven directors of said company, and each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote for each share of stock by him owned; but no one stockholder shall be entitled to more than twenty votes, and the directors shall be elected from the stockholders.

SEC. 12. Said directors shall appoint from their own number when elected, a President, and shall also appoint a Treasurer and Secretary, and require of them such bonds as they may see proper, and may appoint such other agents and servants as may be necessary to enable them to carry out the purposes of this charter.

SEC. 13. The officers of said company shall serve for one year after their appointment, and until their successors are elected and qualified, and it shall be the duty of the directors of said company annually to fill the vacancies that occur in the office of President, Treasurer, and Secretary, and also from time to time to fill all vacancies that may occur by death, resignation, or otherwise. When an appointment shall be made to fill a vacancy occasioned by death or resignation, it shall be for the residue of the time of the predecessor. The directors first elected shall serve a year, and until their successors are elected and qualified, and an election for directors shall take place each year, at some time in the same month that the first election for directors took place.

SEC. 14. A month's notice of the time and place of electing directors shall be given immediately preceding each election, in some newspaper printed in Dearborn or Ohio county.

SEC. 15. Should Andrew Morgan perfect the rights conferred upon him by this act, as above provided for, all the rights, privileges, and immunities conferred upon him by this act shall enure to and be conferred upon and enjoyed by the said Laughey Bridge Company, and the said company shall possess all the rights and be subject to all the obligations that the said Andrew Morgan would have possessed, and shall do all things that the said Andrew Morgan is requested to do by the provisions of this act, and be subject to all the liabilities and penalties that said Morgan is subject to, except as hereinafter stated.

SEC. 16. As soon as the franchises granted by this act accrued to said company, or within three months after said company shall commence the erection of said Bridge, and shall progress with the same, with reasonable despatch, and shall complete the same within one year after commencing the same.

SEC. 17. Should said company fail to comply with the last preceding section of this act they shall forfeit all right under this act.

Which were adopted.

Which motion did not prevail.

On motion by Mr. Marvin,

The House adjourned until to-morrow morning $\frac{1}{2}$ past 8 o'clock.

TUESDAY MORNING, February 11, 1851.

House met.

On motion by Mr. Clark,

The reading of the Journal was dispensed with.

On motion by Mr. Hicks,

The order of business was suspended, and,

Mr. Hicks, chairman of the committee on Benevolent and Scientific Institutions, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER :

The committee on Benevolent and Scientific Institutions, to which was referred that part of the Governor's message relating to Benevolent Institutions, have had the same under consideration, and directed me to make the following report :

Your committee would remark that they have visited the Insane, Deaf and Dumb, and Blind Asylums, and made such investigation relating to each, and the management, regulations, and progress through, as time and opportunity would allow ; that the result is, the pleasing conviction that all are managed with ability, and realizing to the benevolent public who sustain them, all that was expected of them ; of the prudence and economy of the Commissioners and Trustees, the ability and faithfulness of the Superintendents, officers, and assistants, the fact that not a single fault, worthy any attention, has come to the knowledge of the committee, is satisfactory proof.

In regard to the changes in the laws governing these institutions, and the additional regulations suggested by his excellency, the committee entertain the opinion that the sums placed in the hands of the Superintendents by order of the Commissioners or Trustees at one time, will never be sufficient to tempt the cupidity of any man whose character and standing will secure to him that station.

That although it is believed to be right and proper to provide by law for a uniform mode of electing or appointing Trustees, and prohibiting any Board of Trustees from filling vacancies in its own body, as a permanent arrangement, yet the present is not deemed the proper time for that change.

The propriety of prohibiting a Superintendent from holding the office of Trustee is questionable; there are potent considerations for and against the proposition.

It is not perceived that any greater degree of safety in the disbursement of the funds is to be attained by requiring the Treasurer to pay money only upon the warrant of the Auditor, in place of payment upon the authenticated order of the proper Board, since the same evidence on which the money is procured, would procure the warrant first, and then the money; and as money must, in most cases, necessarily be paid in small sums, it is doubted whether any better mode than that now practiced can be devised.

On the subject of insurance, the committee are not sufficiently advised to venture any recommendation.

Under the present laws, organizations and regulations of these institutions, large, commodious, neat, and substantial buildings have been commenced, two erected and nearly completed, at a cost, considering the superior character of the work, of which no well-founded complaints are known to have been made; and since better results could not be expected to follow a change, prudence would seem to dictate adherence to the present, rather than new and untried regulations.

The committee, nor the House, were in possession of the reports of the Commissioners, Trustees, and Superintendents of all these institutions until about a week since, and near the close of the session. This delay arose from the fact, that there is no authority of law for printing, except as ordered by resolution of the House. The result has been a corresponding delay in making this report, and a less searching and perfect examination of the subjects referred to than was desirable. To remedy this evil in future, the following bill is reported herewith, and its passage recommended, and the committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subjects above referred to.

No. 458. A bill to authorize the printing of the reports of the benevolent institutions therein named.

Which was read three several times, the rule being suspended therefor, and passed.

Ordered that the Clerk inform the Senate thereof.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

The order of business was suspended,

Mr. Coburn introduced

No. 463. A Joint Resolution relative to the State Library.

Which was read a first time;

On motion,

The rule was suspended, and the bill read a second time.

Mr. Chapman moved to amend the bill by adding all the Recorders and Auditors in the State,

Which was adopted.

On motion by Mr. Willard,

The bill was laid upon the table.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Jackson, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. SPEAKER:

The select committee to whom was referred a bill defining the boundaries of Tipton county, have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report the bill back and recommend its passage.

Mr. Conner moved to indefinitely postpone the bill.

On motion,

The resolution of Mr. Davis of Dubois, offered on yesterday, was considered, to wit:

Resolved, That after this day no member shall be permitted to speak more than once on the same subject, and shall only be permitted to speak five minutes at any one time.

Mr. Chapman moved to lay the resolution on the table,

Strike out section 6, and insert the following :

Sec. 6. This act shall not take effect in any county, until a majority of voters voting at some general election in such county, shall endorse on their tickets the words "no license."

Provided, That it shall be lawful for each of the qualified voters of the several counties to endorse on their respective tickets the words "license," or "no license," at the next general election after the passage of this act, and at each general election thereafter, until it is adopted by a majority of the voters thus voting in such county.

Strike out section 7, and insert the following :

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the inspectors and judges of elections, to certify the number of votes given against license, to the Clerk of the proper Circuit Court, whose duty it shall be to make out the number of votes thus cast against license, under his certificate, and if a majority of all the votes cast shall be against license, then the Clerk shall cause such certificate to be published in some public newspaper in such county, or adjacent county, and this act shall be in force from and after the date of such publication in such county thus voting.

Mr. Gentry, chairman of the committee on Military Affairs, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee on Military Affairs, to whom a resolution was referred in regard to obtaining the consent of Congress for the diversion of the University Fund to the use of common schools, have directed me to make the following report :

1. That such diversion, even with the consent of Congress, would be in plain violation not only of the spirit, but of the direct provisions of the existing Constitution of the State. The Constitution provides that the moneys arising out of the sale of lands granted for the use of schools, or Seminaries, shall be and remain a fund for the exclusive purpose of promoting literature and the sciences, and for the support of Seminaries and public schools. The University Fund originated in a grant of lands from Congress for the use of a Seminary, which according to the terms of the grant, vested in the Legislature, to be appropriated solely to the use of such Seminary. By the Constitution of the State, the lands granted for the use of the Seminary, must be applied for that exclusive purpose, in the same manner that the lands granted for the use of schools must be applied exclusively to the support of schools.

2. Legislation with a view to a change in the existing Constitution, would not be proper ; but were it so, the subject is equally foreclosed by a section in the Constitution, which is about to be proposed to the people. It is in the words following: "All trust funds held by the State, shall remain inviolate, and be faithfully applied to the exclusive purposes for which the trust was created." This section was adopted in the Convention, after full debate upon the question of diverting the University Fund, with the consent of Congress, to the use of common schools.

3. The diversion of the fund would be in violation of that good faith toward a portion of our own citizens which it is one of the highest duties of a government to observe. The site of the Seminary, now known as the Indiana University, was established on one of the townships of land granted for its support, and with the express views of enhancing the price of the land, and thereby increasing the endowment. The lands were, in consequence of this inducement held out to purchasers, sold at greatly enhanced prices. The diversion of the fund, involving the destruction of the Institution as a consequence, would seem to inflict a great injury upon individuals without any corresponding public advantages.

4. The diversion, as proposed, would be impolitic. Funds have been invested in buildings, the different departments of instruction used in such institutions have been organized, the Institution is in full operation with an annual number of one hundred and eighty students. Sixty young men from different counties in the State are educated without charge for tuition. Were the whole annual income of the University dispersed among the common schools of the State, the proportion to each scholar, with our present population, would be but about a cent annually to each scholar.

Finally, it may be observed, that the policy of the general government in the donation of public lands to the new States has been settled and uniform for the period of more than half a century. This policy has been to reserve a large quantity of the public lands for the use of common schools, and to make comparatively a small reservation for the use of a higher seminary of learning. No single State has yet complained of this policy on the part of the general government, or asked a change in that policy. On the contrary, California, upon her recent admission, through her distinguished Senator, Mr. Fremont, asked and obtained four townships of land for the endowment of a University in that State.

The committee, believing the diversion of the University Fund in the manner proposed, to be contrary to the Constitution of our State, contrary to the settled policy of Congress, in violation of good faith to our own citizens, and impolitic, recommend the indefinite postponement of the subject, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration thereof.

Which was concurred in.

On motion by Mr. Armstrong,

The vote on the passage of Senate bill No. 14, a bill abolishing the office of County Auditor in the county of Ohio, was reconsidered.

On motion,

The order of business was suspended, and

Mr. Graff from the joint select committee on the Affairs of the Hospital for the Insane, made the following report :

MR. PRESIDENT:

The joint committee, appointed to investigate charges against the Superintendent and officers of the "Indiana Hospital for the Insane," beg leave to submit their report :

The serious nature of the charges, coupled with the respectable character of the individual making them, induced the committee to institute a thorough investigation.

To effect this, they have examined patiently every witness within their reach, whose evidence could be supposed to develop or elucidate any facts necessary to enable them to arrive at a correct conclusion.

If charges against the Institution, of "Extravagance, Corruption and Cruelty to the Inmates" be true, the public have a right to know it, with a view to their correction; if untrue, the standing of those implicated, no less than the credit of our State, demands a prompt exposition of the slanders.

The committee unite in expressing their conviction, from the evidence adduced, that the Board of Commissioners have, in the discharge of their official duties, been guided by a commendable zeal for the welfare of the Institution, and the benefit of the unfortunate class of society who constitute its inmates. During the erection or furnishing the building, no case has been presented leading even to the suspicion, that any member of the Board has directly or indirectly engaged with any of the contracts. A By-Law of the Institution requires that "no resident officer, attendant or assistant, shall be directly or indirectly, interested in the purchase of any article for the use of the Hospital." The committee have abundant evidence to convince them that instructions in accordance with the spirit of this law, have been repeatedly delivered to the Steward. If any violation did occur, it was in the fact adduced on this investigation, that an account of an inconsiderable amount for articles of supplies was made by the Steward, and settled by the Board, (but not without a remark of its impropriety) with a mercantile house of this city, one member of which firm is likewise a member of the Board of Commissioners. This was done by the Steward without instructions to do so, and because he alleged he could procure these articles at a lower price and better quality than elsewhere.

The charge of extravagance in the purchase of the carriage alluded to, the committee are of opinion is unfounded, and they would report the selection as entirely proper and economical under the circumstances. Their examinations in relation to alleged abuses of patients extended back to the earliest period of the existence of the Institution. Facts were elicited clearly, proving to all, that instances of severity of treatment towards inmates had occurred, and their frequency at the early period of its history, resulted from the want of a sufficient number of attendants present, their inexperience and the fact that every class and grade of patients were then crowded together in the same ward.

No case was proved to have been so treated under the eye of the Superintendent, without receiving his prompt and unqualified disapprobation; nor could we learn of an instance of any abuse perpetrated by attendants, coming to his knowledge without meeting from him with severe rebuke. Another cause of the more frequent occurrence of these abuses at that period was attributable to the fact proved, that the subordinates (in the neglect of their duty,) failed to report the same to the Superintendent, who we are well assured was ignorant of their occurrence, until developed in an examination held before the Board of Commissioners in the fall of 1849.

Since that time, a period of seventeen months, not a single case of abuse or maltreatment is even alleged to have occurred, if we except the case of the individual who lost his eye. If for this, any blame be attached to Doctor Patterson, it can be but an error of judgment, to justify which, it may be said he was following a practice pursued under like circumstances in other institutions. The unfortunate sequel was no less the result of accident, than the favorable condition of the patient at the time to the development of that inflammation which destroyed his eye. Added to this the patient himself introduced into the already highly inflamed organ, lime, sand and like irritants calculated to effect its destruction, and at the same time violently opposed the application of proper remedial means for its relief. The evidence moreover shows clearly that neither the patient himself, or any of his friends, attached any blame to the Superintendent for any intentional injury. This is the only case among those alleged in which even the most trifling injury was inflicted.

Without an exception, the testimony of every one proves that the demeanor and conduct of the Superintendent, Dr. Patterson, has been universally kind, courteous and polite. The manner in which the duties of Assistant Physician, Matron and Steward [are discharged,] is worthy of all praise and commendation. Kindness to patients and watchful carefulness are strenuously enjoined on and observed by the attendants.

The committee, in the discharge of the duty assigned them, visited the Hospital, and were fully admitted into and inspected every portion of the building. From a thorough examination, they report that the order, cleanliness and apparent comfort of every part calls forth their warmest approbation.

Among the charges was an implied censure of the course of treatment of the patients by the Superintendent. The committee would reply by saying, that they are assured the selection of Doctor Patterson was made by the Board solely from the recommendations of competent persons abroad, and as a proof of the wisdom of their choice, they simply state the fact that the proportions of cures in this Institution has been really greater, in comparison with the admissions, than in any asylum in the country.

Nor will the committee close without giving expression to an assurance to every citizen of Indiana who may now have, or may hereafter commit, a friend to the care of the Institution, that with its present officers, and under its recent organization, they have a guaranty of the utmost kindness for their comfort, and correct treatment for their relief.

And the joint committee ask, respectfully, to be discharged from any further consideration of the subject.

JAMES S. ATHON, Chairman.

disagreement of the two houses on the amendment of the Senate to bill No. 481, entitled an act making specific appropriations for the year 1851, have conferred together, and agree to allow J. W. Townsleys & Co. thirty-nine dollars and twenty-seven cents; also, amend section 24 so as to read, "ten dollars and fifty cents be allowed," &c., and ask that the House concur in said agreement.

Which was concurred in.

Mr. Willard, chairman of the committee on Ways and Means, made the following report :

MR. SPEAKER:

The committee of Ways and Means, whose duty it is to examine the books of the offices of the Auditor and Treasurer of State, and compare the books, vouchers, and warrants in said offices, prepare a statement of the receipts and expenditures at the Treasury; to examine the report of the Trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal, and compare the vouchers and warrants with said report, and to examine into the financial affairs of the State generally, submit the following report:

The committee have made a thorough examination of the books of said officers, and found the vouchers of receipts at the treasury, and warrants on the treasury correctly audited and properly filed.

All warrants upon the treasury have been punctually paid when presented. The committee would remark that during their examinations, aforesaid, every facility was afforded them by the incumbents of those offices for a speedy and faithful discharge of their duty.

From the examination of the committee into the condition of the treasury, it appears that there was a deficiency in the treasury on the 31st day of October, 1850, of $78,621 07. A statement of the receipts and expenditures showing said deficiency is herewith submitted as a part of this report, and marked statement A.

It became the duty of the committee to count, mutilate and destroy a considerable amount of scrip of various kinds, which had been redeemed at the treasury, and cancelled during the year. This duty they discharged, and now show the following abstract of the scrip so destroyed :

Of six per cent. Treasury Notes;

Principal,	$64,755 00
Interest,	35,414 76

$100,169 76

Of Bank Scrip, five per cent.;

Principal,	$72,335 00
Interest,	27,142 18

$99,477 18

Of quarter per cent. Treasury Notes;
Principal,.....	$3,400 00
Interest,.....	61 92
	$3,461 92
Of Wabash and Erie Canal Scrip, east ;
Principal,.....	$13,000 27
Interest,.....	3,611 03
	$16,611 30
Of Wabash and Erie Canal Scrip, west ;
Principal,	$22,490 00

Making of State liabilities counted and destroyed by the committee, the sum of $242,210 16.

The committee deem it necessary to suggest that in their opinion the present mode of assessing is very imperfect, and the duties devolving on the assessors are scarcely ever executed with that diligence, care and impartiality which the law and the people have a right to expect and demand. A large amount of the invisible wealth of the State has for years entirely escaped taxation, thereby making the burdens of taxation rest the heavier upon the farming interest. The valuation of the land is unjust and unequal. To remedy which, so far as the time of the committee, and pressure of the business of the session would allow, a bill has been drawn up and submitted to the House, for the more effectual, just and equal assessment of the personal property, and also another bill for the reappraisement of the real estate, and to make the value thereof equal and uniform throughout the State, has been presented.

The committee rejoice that they have it in their power to say to the country that both of those bills have received the approval of both branches of the General Assembly, and are now the laws of the land.

The committee are of the opinion that if the said laws are enforced, there will be added to the list of taxables in the State from fifty to seventy millions of property.

The committee, in view of the increased amount of taxable property that will be placed upon the tax list, have reduced the rate of taxes for State purposes proper to twenty-five cents on each one hundred dollars' worth in value of all property in the State, and a poll tax of fifty cents upon each poll.

Upon the recommendation of the Chairman of the committee on the Benevolent and Scientific Institutions, the committee have increased the tax for the Institute for the education of the Blind one half cent; and the bill to raise revenue for 1851 was reported accordingly to the House of Representatives.

To enable the people to understand the true condition of the for-sign State debt and the domestic State debt of Indiana, the committee submit the statement marked B, and made a part hereof.

In pursuance of the provisions of law, the committee have examined the report of the Trustees of the Wabash and Erie Canal, and compared the vouchers and warrants with the report, and submit the following report:

They find the vouchers to be correct, with the following exceptions: There are no vouchers for the last year's salary of Thomas H. Blake, the resident trustee on the part of the bondholders. The committee are of the opinion that he received the money as stated in the report, but died without filing the proper vouchers. The trustees obtained a credit for two hundred dollars for money paid to _____, when the voucher is only for one hundred dollars. The amount claimed in the report as money paid to _____ is $—— more than the voucher is. It is presumed these mistakes are purely accidental.

The committee feel constrained, from a sense of duty, to express their decided and strong disapprobation of the loose and careless manner the trustees have adopted in paying out money. The only voucher that is produced for about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, is the certificate of the clerk of the board of trustees, an officer appointed by the trustees, and responsible only to them.

The committee cannot regard his certificate in any other light than as the certificate of the trustees themselves.

When money is paid to superintendents or constructing agents, their voucher should be taken.

The statement herewith submitted and marked C, will fully exhibit the condition of the said canal.

In accordance with the suggestions of the Auditor of State, and in compliance with a resolution of the House, the committee have made such examination of the alleged over-issue of quarter per cent. treasury notes as their limited time and numerous duties would permit, and have concluded to submit the following statement of facts:

Under the provisions of an act approved January 31, 1842, page 152, general laws of 1842, the Auditor and Treasurer of State were authorized to prepare an amount of treasury notes bearing one quarter of one per cent. interest not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, the object of which issue was the redemption of fifty dollar six per cents. The amount prepared for circulation in accordance with this act and receipted for by the Treasurer of State, George H. Dunn, Esq., was seventy thousand dollars, numbering from 1 to 14,000, and was receipted for by him as such treasurer receipts, No. 906, dated March 3, 1842, for $50,000, and No. 1080, dated October 31, 1842, for $20,000. In the report of the Treasurer of November 22, 1842, he mentions the receipt of the seventy thousand dollars, and states that he had used of these funds in the redemption of 50s, the sum of $41,250, leaving in his hands the sum of $28,750, which was kept in original packages, transferred by Mr. Dunn to Mr. Mayhew, and by Mr. Mayhew to Mr. Hannah, and was finally destroyed by the committee of Ways and Means in January 1848.

The whole sum redeemed and destroyed of these treasury notes is as follows:

In January, 1848,	$28,750 00
In January, 1849,	31,565 00
In January, 1850,	12,165 00
Destroyed by present committee,	3,361 92

Making in all the sum of, $75,941 92

or $5,941 92 more than the amount reported as issued. The committee also find on examination of the register, that about the amount of this excess has been received of duplicate numbers, several of these duplicate bills were in the hands of the Treasurer, and all had every appearance of being genuine.

So long a time has elapsed since the issue of these notes and the transactions therewith connected, that the committee deem it impossible to throw any more light upon the subject, than simply to report a loss to the State of some six thousand dollars, in addition to the amount yet to be redeemed; but the committee have no means either of fixing the transaction, or a shadow of suspicion upon any particular individual.

RECAPITULATION.

Balance in the treasury October 31, 1849,	$428,941 19
Receipts for the year 1850,	1,432,442 78
	1,861,383 97
Deduct warrants as above,	1,513,534 04
	347,849 93
Balance in the treasury October 31, 1851,

This however is but an apparent balance, there being really a small deficiency at the end of the financial year.

The receipts and expenditures of the Wabash and Erie Canal Trustees, under the act for the adjustment of the State debt, are semi-annually reported to the office of the Auditor of State, and the receipts credited and expenditures charged, in the general financial account, as if actually paid into the treasury. The account is rendered to the 1st October, 1850, at which time there was an excess of receipts to the credit of the trustees, amounting to $194,910 09, and which is to be deducted from the balance stated above. The amount of treasury notes, and Wabash and Erie Canal scrip, in the treasury for cancellation, and the indebtedness of the State to the State Bank to meet the July interest and the expense of the Constitutional Convention, are also to be charged against the treasury.

The true condition of the treasury at the period named will be found not to vary materially from the following statement:

Balance in the treasury to credit of Wabash and Erie Canal Trustees,	$194,910 09
Treasury notes on hand for cancellation,	192,460 00
Wabash and Erie Canal scrip for cancellation,	39,100 91
	426,471 00
Total charges on treasury,	426,471 00
Deduct balance above stated;	347,849 93

Leaving a deficiency in the treasury at the close of the fiscal year of about, 78,621 07

Resolved, That the Senate be informed that the House have gone through with the legislative business of the present session, and are now ready to adjourn sine die.

The Speaker then delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I shall detain you but for a few moments. At an hour like this, I could hardly expect to win your ears had I a flood of eloquence to pour upon them. The pressure of public responsibilities which has for weeks forced back the feelings and interests connected with your hearths and homes, is at last removed, and these feelings like the fountains just breaking from the thrall of winter, will now have way. A power mightier and fleetier than steam has already borne you far from the present scene.

It is the active and tangible around you, however imposing the array may have seemed a short time since, that is now to you the shadowy and indistinct. Your thoughts are all busy with the dearer visions of the home sanctuary. Let no man deem it necessary to his manhood to disclaim the soft impeachment. We all know it is round strong and manly hearts that the tender affections are most prone to fling their clasping and clustering tendrils. While we laugh at the sickly sentimentalists of romance, we rejoice to know that domestic love and trust, and all the sweet fireside influences that have found a name, are no poetic dreams. However the trail of the serpent has desecrated the plants of Eden in general, these have certainly escaped, and having been transplanted hither by some kind hand, still flourish among us from the Tropics to the Poles. They brighten and sanctify our humblest homes, making them a holy place; and I feel that at this moment to call back the thoughts and feelings which have flown thither, is something like hurrying the weary caravan from the green Oasis of the sandy desert. Nor would I now attempt it, had I no other impulse than that of a mere formal precedent. But blent with the pleasant anticipations which I have with yourselves, there are feelings associated with the past and present, that I may not wholly suppress. We are about to separate, and although many of us met as strangers, yet having been for weeks associated in a fellowship of earnest and anxious labor, our farewells cannot be those of utter indifference. What though our action has been that of conflict with each other, as well as co-operation; the combatants in the lists of olden chivalry, the spirit of which I hope still lingers among us, were often united by the closest bonds of friendship. Ruled as we necessarily have been by the one principle of fidelity to those we serve, surely nothing of bitterness ought at any time to have mingled with the tide of feeling that has borne us on. And if such in any instance has been unhappily the case, we trust some wayside leaf will yet be thrown upon the stream in a spirit that will give it the healing power of that which sweetened the waters of Marah. On life's shifting arena, all that have met here will meet no more. 'Tis a thought touching upon the sombre, but I have no intention of following out the train: I eschew all poetry but the bright and cheering.

I turn now from the idea of our impending separation, to the far more pleasant recollection of all those kindly offices which have been to the dusty atmosphere of legislative strife, as "the silver lining to the cloud." Those are remembrances that we shall all treasure up. The excitement of conflict, its brief triumphs and petty humiliations will soon have passed away, but the pleasant social intercourse, the friendly offices, the ready support—these we shall bear long in our memory. Of these daily evidences of disinterested kindness, I feel, perhaps because I have been most in need, I have been more than an equal sharer. I am not apt at thanks, and I can only say that but for the sustaining friendship and considerate forbearance which have been extended towards me, I must have frequently faltered in that fulfillment of my official duties you have so richly guerdoned by your approval.

To what we have accomplished or left undone, I will not attempt to advert. Would we could say in looking back upon our labors—and I speak it not irreverently—would we could say as has been said of the Divine Architect, when he closed his six days' labor—"He saw it and it was good." It is enough for us, however, to know that we have aimed at the right, that we have toiled honestly and earnestly, though we have been able to touch upon but a few of the prominent points in the great chart of legislative action, and may have erred in these, in giving direction to the high interests that like our rivers shall roll on, carrying their results into far future; human ken is all too short to determine how far that course may be free from shoals and breakers.

The issue, to use an expression that has lost nothing of its solemnity by repetition, is with Him in whose hands is the fate of nations, and though the approbation of those for whom we labor, can never be a matter of indifference to a rightly constituted mind, yet the peace of an approving conscience is a bosom guest that no extraneous reprehension can dislodge. With this sustaining reflection, return we to our homes, to find I trust, that the incense of the altar flame has been kept there burning in our absence, as religiously as the fire of the Persian Magi.

I entered upon the discharge of my duties, under the most fearful apprehensions—grateful it is true, for the honor, but fully conscious of the responsibilities of my station. I knew it would not do to rely upon "my own worth and merit," for I was totally without experience, having never before presided over a deliberative body for a single instant. I knew I must occasionally mingle in fierce conflict, for I had constituents to represent, who had confided to me important trusts. I knew that I could not suffer my own elevation to work injury to them, that I must not remain in the Chair, when their interests required me to be upon the floor; and I knew that these things might engender strife and result in unkind feelings. Considerations like these pressed themselves on my mind. I have now weathered the storm—can see the beginning of the end. In a moment the shackles that have bound us will be broken forever. My course has been commended by a resolution unanimously adopted—a resolution filling my heart with the most grateful emotions, and now the best item in the catalogue, is that there is no time left me to forfeit your good opinion before we separate. I feel no remorse in recurring to the past, for in the discharge of my official duties, I have intentionally wronged no man upon this floor, and my conscience will not upbraid me for unintentional errors I may have committed. Though I have committed many blunders, still I have been a fortunate man, for if there was enough of human frailty in me to err, there has been enough of divinity in you to forgive. I forgive too; though in doing so, I make no great manifestation of magnanimity. Few, indeed, is the number that have given me the slightest cause of complaint, and I take this occasion to declare that in my bosom there is neither hatred nor malice towards any gentleman upon this floor. Friendship is a jewel of too much value to be surrendered for a trifling consideration, for it makes the rugged path of life a pleasant one. I have shared largely its advantages during the present session, and trust that I shall never forget or be forgotten by those who have laid me under so many obligations. Need I promise to cherish those grateful recollections to the remotest period of my life; I could not do otherwise if I would, and would not if I could. And now, gentlemen, to bring this short speech to a close, be pleased to accept with a final farewell, my warmest wishes, that the choicest blessings may attend you through life, and that you may be ever found earnestly laboring to build up the tower of Indiana's greatness and glory; not like the tower of Babel, to commemorate the wickedness and divisions of our race, and to call down the malediction of Heaven upon its builders, but to remain to all generations, a temple of liberty and concord. Where the children of men may meet in freedom and love, and on whose star-capped dome, the smile of divine favor may rest forever. I declare this House adjourned "sine die."

WILLIAM R. BOWES,

Principal Clerk H. of Representatives.

Assistant Clerk H. of Representatives.

QUESTION OF ORDER.

DECIDED AT THE THIRTY-FIFTH SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF INDIANA,

By E. DUMONT, of Dearborn, Speaker.

Feb. 5, 1851.—Senate bill No. 126 was under consideration.

Mr. Riley moved to indefinitely postpone the bill.

The ayes and noes being demanded by two members, the gentleman from Marion (Mr. Coburn) being called to vote, arose and was making some remarks in explanation, when the gentleman from Shelby (Mr. Brown) called the gentleman from Marion to order.

The Speaker having decided that on a motion to indefinitely postpone a bill, the ayes and noes having been moved and seconded, and the Clerk proceeded with the call by calling several members, any member had a right, when his name was called, to discuss the general merits of the bill, and in that case that the Clerk should commence the call anew; the member from Jefferson (Mr. Chapman) appealed from the decision of the chair.

The question being put, Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the House? it was decided in the affirmative.

APPENDIX

TABLE I. The following table gives the results of the experiments made with the apparatus described in the text.

The first column gives the number of the experiment, the second column the time taken for the reaction to take place, the third column the volume of gas evolved, and the fourth column the pressure of the gas.

The fifth column gives the weight of the substance used, and the sixth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The seventh column gives the density of the gas, and the eighth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The ninth column gives the temperature of the gas, and the tenth column the pressure of the gas.

The eleventh column gives the volume of the gas, and the twelfth column the weight of the gas.

The thirteenth column gives the weight of the substance used, and the fourteenth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The fifteenth column gives the density of the gas, and the sixteenth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The seventeenth column gives the temperature of the gas, and the eighteenth column the pressure of the gas.

The nineteenth column gives the volume of the gas, and the twentieth column the weight of the gas.

The twenty-first column gives the weight of the substance used, and the twenty-second column the weight of the gas evolved.

The twenty-third column gives the density of the gas, and the twenty-fourth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The twenty-fifth column gives the temperature of the gas, and the twenty-sixth column the pressure of the gas.

The twenty-seventh column gives the volume of the gas, and the twenty-eighth column the weight of the gas.

The twenty-ninth column gives the weight of the substance used, and the thirtieth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The thirty-first column gives the density of the gas, and the thirty-second column the specific gravity of the gas.

The thirty-third column gives the temperature of the gas, and the thirty-fourth column the pressure of the gas.

The thirty-fifth column gives the volume of the gas, and the thirty-sixth column the weight of the gas.

The thirty-seventh column gives the weight of the substance used, and the thirty-eighth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The thirty-ninth column gives the density of the gas, and the fortieth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The forty-first column gives the temperature of the gas, and the forty-second column the pressure of the gas.

The forty-third column gives the volume of the gas, and the forty-fourth column the weight of the gas.

The forty-fifth column gives the weight of the substance used, and the forty-sixth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The forty-seventh column gives the density of the gas, and the forty-eighth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The forty-ninth column gives the temperature of the gas, and the fiftieth column the pressure of the gas.

The fifty-first column gives the volume of the gas, and the fifty-second column the weight of the gas.

The fifty-third column gives the weight of the substance used, and the fifty-fourth column the weight of the gas evolved.

The fifty-fifth column gives the density of the gas, and the fifty-sixth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The fifty-seventh column gives the temperature of the gas, and the fifty-eighth column the pressure of the gas.

The fifty-ninth column gives the volume of the gas, and the sixtyth column the weight of the gas.

The sixty-first column gives the weight of the substance used, and the sixty-second column the weight of the gas evolved.

The sixty-third column gives the density of the gas, and the sixty-fourth column the specific gravity of the gas.

The sixty-fifth column gives the temperature of the gas, and the sixty-sixth column the pressure of the gas.

The sixty-seventh column gives the volume of the gas, and the sixty-eighth column the weight of the gas.
